WARNING SENT AMERICANS IN CHINA RIOTING

URGES WITHDRAWAL FROM REMOTE SPOTS

KANSAN, CAROLINIAN STAY IN BANDIT ZONE

Looting, Burning Continues in Changsha, With Loss Going Into Millions.

(Associated Press.)

Increased activity of bandits and Communists in the provinces of Hupeh, Hunan, Honan and Kiangsi yesterday caused the American Legation at Peiping to act for the second time yesterday morning to protect American citizens.

Richard P. Butrick, at Hankow, circularized 419 Americans on July 11, warning them of the inadvisability of remaining in remote provinces because of the extreme danger. The legation at Peiping yesterday urged consular officials to warn Americans again of the necessity of withdrawing from remote spots to places where they could be adequately protected.

Meantime it became known that the Navy at present does not contemplate increasing its Asiatic force of 6,000 sailors and 2,400 Marines in China.

U. S. Forces in Zone.

Secretary Adams yesterday indorsed the decision of officers that the present force was sufficient to handle the situation. Other officers, however, said that should the Communists threaten more thickly populated regions an increase in the forces could be expected.

The Navy now has its 6,000 men on ships in the Yangtse and South China patrols and other vessels in the Asiatic Fleet, based on the Philippine Islands. The largest ship on duty is the obsolete cruiser Pittsburgh, which carries 969 men. It now is at Tsingtao.

In addition, the Navy has 19 destroyers, 12 submarines, 5 tenders, 3 aircraft tenders, a tanker and several mine sweepers in the Asiatic in addition to its gunboats. It operates 24 airplanes in this region, while the Marine Corps has four planes at its base in Guam.

Two Choose to Stay.

There are 1,200 marines in Shanghai, 500 at Peiping, and 650 at Guam. The latter could be convoyed to China on short notice.

Butrick reported to the State Department from Hankow last night that all Americans were safely evacuated from Changsha by navy vessels except William Lingle, of Salisbury, N. C., and Allen Cameron, of Lawrence, Kans., who refused to leave. Father Brajman, an Italian priest, was captured by Communists and is the only foreigner known to be in their hands.

The consul estimated there was $865,000 of American owned real estate in Changsha and $1,550,000 of goods. The property includes that of the Standard Oil Co. of New York, Liggett & Myers, Singer Sewing Machine Co., L. E. Gale, Yale in China, the Presbyterian Church and the Seventh Day Adventists.

Forty-eight Americans Safe.

Shanghai, July 30 (A.P.).—In the most serious devastation of foreign property in China for many years, Communists yesterday and today looted and burned all or nearly all foreign holdings at Changsha, capital of Hunan Province.

Foreigners, including 48 Americans, generally were safe aboard American, British and Japanese gunboats, 5 miles down the Siang River. Four missionaries, who elected to remain in the city were unaccounted for.

Courageous and efficient action by foreign naval men was credited with the rescue of their countrymen. Aroused by Communist placards offering $200 reward for the capture of each foreigner, Chinese official or Chinese employed by foreigners, the Bluejackets swept through Changsha's streets and rescued their compatriots from the city of a million excited natives. Ransom was to have been demanded by the Communists for every foreigner captured.

City Set Afire.

The sudden fall of the Siang River level, however, forced the foreign gunboats to go a few miles downstream, leaving property of their nationals to Communist destruction.

Changsha was given the torch by the Reds and most of it was reported burned. Virtually all foreign property, including that of American oil companies, said peiping dispatches, was destroyed. Of Nationalist government buildings, only the post-

LICENSE WRITS CITE GREEK ENVOY'S WIFE

Mrs. Koundouriotis Drove With District Plates in Maryland, Charge.

SLURS ON U. S. ALLEGED

Warrants have been issued charging Mrs. Catherine Koundouriotis, wife of Stephen Koundouriotis, chancellor of the Greek legation, with driving an automobile equipped with District of Columbia license tags while she is a resident of Maryland, and failure to secure a Maryland operator's permit.

The warrants are in the hands of Commissioner of Motor Vehicles E. Austin Baughman for service. A Maryland State policeman has been detailed to make an investigation of the charges. The warrants were issued by Justice of the Peace Herbert J. Moffat, of Hyattsville, on the complaint of Town Officer W. C. Proctor, it was learned last night.

Judge Moffat also plans to make a formal complaint to the State Department concerning remarks made by Mr. Koundouriotis in his office while discussing the charges against his wife. The judge alleges that the Greek attache told him that he was not bound by American laws, that he was "bettter than Americans" and could run down and kill them without any action being possible by the American Government.

Judge Moffat said last night that the attache cited his ability to have liquor in his home as a proof that he was better than Americans.

Mrs. Doundouriotis was halted July 23 by Officer Proctor for alleged failure to halt at a "stop" sign in Hyattsville. While he was examining her driver's permit and registration card, she started her car and drove off, the policeman told the judge. Later her husband came to the office of Judge Moffet to find out the reason for the arrest.

He informed Judge Moffat that he was an attache at the Greek Legation and that he was entitled to diplomatic immunity. Maryland police, however, claim that Mrs. Koundouriotis is an American citizen, although she is married to the Greek attache. Their contention is based upon statements made by the chancellor to Judge Moffat.

Mr. Koundouriotis told the judge that his wife had regained her citizenship status about two years ago in Baltimore following the passage of the act which made American wom-

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The administration's increasing determination to get the Federal Government out of State prohibition enforcement and at the same time to remove the wet and dry controversy from the national forum was reflected in the meeting yesterday of the enforcement administrators with the new prohibition head, Amos W. W. Woodcock.

At the close of an all-day conference at which the policy of the new administration was laid down, Mr. Woodcock made known that the country would be safe for home brewers in so far as he was concerned.

"I will not have our agencies following the course of least resistance and wasting their time upon pitiful, picayunish, noncommercial cases," he said. "I think the prohibition laws can be successfully enforced against commercial operations. I propose to make that our objective and not to dissipate our energies in other fields.

No Sensational Methods.

"I shall insist that a steady pressure be maintained against these commercial violations. I disapprove sensational methods."

Although Mr. Woodcock was not more specific and while no administration official wants to provoke a controversy by saying so publicly, it is the understanding that the Federal enforcement in the future is to be aimed more at the higher-ups, the "big shots" and the sources of supply than at spectacular night club raids.

It is to be impressed upon the States that they should do their own police work and to the extent to which they do do it will they have local law enforcement.

This is believed to be what Mr. Woodcock has in mind when he says: "I think the prohibition laws can be successfully enforced against commercial operations."

The new administration is believed to be strongly of the conviction that not only can it serve the prohibition laws better by confining itself to the sources of supply and violations that ordinarily come within the Federal Government's scope but that the cause of prohibition itself will be better served.

Club Raids Aid Wets.

It is the spectacular night club raids and similar activities that give the wets their ammunition and keep prohibition in the raging controversial stage.

President Hoover is known to have long held to the belief that conditions would be better all around if the Federal enforcemnet organization "kept off the front page."

By gradually effacing itself and carrying on a "steady pressure" without attendant hullabaloo it is not unlikely that in time the public would return to the weather as its uppermost subject of conversation. It will never do this as long as it picks up the paper and reads where a whisky

Calvin Coolidge

Says: In Canada the Liberal party has lost control of the government in the recent election and the Conservative party will have a clear working majority in the incoming parliament.

Two elements contributed to this result. The first was business depression, which usually works against the party in power. Many wage earners were out of work. The price of agricultural products was low. Therefore both the laborers and the farmers turned to the opposition party. The second was a resurgence of the national spirit. The Canadians voted to put Canada above the empire. They are for a tariff that will protect their own domestic interests. While their economic ties with the empire are weakened probably their political ties are unimpaired.

Our investments in Canada run into billions of dollars. Whatever will make the Dominion prosperous would be welcomed by us. We have never directed our tariff policy at the Canadians and do not expect they will direct theirs at us, but any general policy of protection to build up the country would in the end make them better customers for our goods. We can best deal with a country that maintains our standards of living.

EXPERT TO EXAMINE BAKER PISTOL TODAY

LEGAL FIGHT IS DELAYED

Maj. Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert, of Chicago, today will begin a series of tests on the gun which Herbert M. Campbell turned over to authorities and which two experts say is the weapon used in the murder of Mary E. Baker.

The outcome of the tests is eagerly awaited by authorities who spent yesterday in trying to establish an acquaintanceship between the slain girl and Campbell, who is accused of the murder. They were unsuccessful.

Little weight was attached to testimony by Campbell's 11-year-old stepdaughter, Lenora Callahan, after Lieut. Edward J. Kelly and Commonwealth's Attorney Gloth had interviewed two persons in whose presence the girl is said to have remarked, "Daddy killed Mary Baker." Augustus Walker, who runs a Rosslyn garage, and who was present when Lenora is said to have made the statement, confirmed the report, and said that Mary Baker was well known in his home at 137 Quincy place northeast. Miss Baker attended a party at the Walker home in 1917 with Miss Mildred Sperry and Miss Olga Skinner, he said, and had visited there several times afterward.

So far as he knew, Mr. Walker said, Miss Baker had never met Campbell.

Lovetou E. Wiltberger, Campbell's father-in-law, with whom Lenora Callahan lives, said that the child had said, "Daddy killed Mary Baker," during a discussion in which Mrs. Campbell had mentioned the possibility of taking the child away from the Wiltberger home.

When she was asked about the statement, Mr. Wiltberger said, Lenora said, "Any man mean enough to take me away from my grandparents is mean enough to kill Miss Baker."

Defense Counsel Charles H. Smith will withhold legal action to secure the release of his client by habeas corpus proceedings until Maj. Goddard's report is received.

JOHNSON HITS PACT ADOPTION IN LONDON

"OPPOSITION" HELD RUSE

(Associated Press.)

Approval of the London Naval Treaty by the British Parliament was described as the "first exposure of part of the bunk used to obtain ratification" by the United States Senate in a statement yesterday by Senator Johnson (Republican), California, leader of treaty opponents in the Senate.

"Only a short time ago," Mr. Johnson said, "the State Department, and every little man echoing what he was told to say, were harping upon British opposition, and the internationalist press again and again repeated that a treaty so violently opposed by like parties in Great Britain and America must be an inspired and holy document.

"There never was any truth in the statement that like parties in each country were in opposition. The British Admiralty, the official British body in charge of naval affairs, has always favored the treaty. The American General Board of the Navy, by overwhelming preponderance, has opposed it.

"Our Government and our internationalists have embraced the British Admiralty's demand, and have repudiated American naval advice. But now the hollowness and sham of the argument concerning similar opposition in both nations, so elaborately made, has been clearly demonstrated, for the British Parliament, practically without opposition, has approved the treaty.

"This is the beginning of the debunking of that of which we heard so much during the past weeks. The debunking will go on until, with the years, we'll find ourselves viewing the London Treaty just as we viewed the Washington Treaty of 1922 after time taught us what had been done to us.

"Of course the British approved. They, with an enthusiasm almost as great as ours, indorsed their own handiwork."

Oddie Asks Embargo Against Russian Ore

(Associated Press.)

A demand for an immediate embargo against importations of Russian manganese ore, made by Chairman Oddie of the Senate mines committee, was added yesterday to the growing heap of communications regarding Russian-American trade relations.

The Nevadan, in a letter to Seymour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, charged the Soviet government was "dumping" manganese ore produced with convict, indentured, conscript, or forced labor on American markets at a price below the cost of production. He said an embargo was necessary to relieve the crisis this "dumping" already has caused in the American manganese industry.

Meanwhile, Lowman continued to study protests made by the Amtorg Trading Corporation, which handles Russian trade affairs in this country, and American paper manufacturers and ship operators, against the Government order barring importation of Russian pulpwood. That product was barred on the ground that convict labor entered into its production. Goods produced in that manner are banned under the 1930 tariff act.

Senator Oddie said in his letter: "It would be indefensible to allow the domestic manganese industry to be shut down because of the unfair and artificial trade practices of the Soviet government even in times of exceptional national prosperity and under the fullest employment of American labor.

"To permit this unfair trade practice to exist now, when this Nation is struggling to regain its economic equilibrium and to insure more employment to the American working man, would be a national economic error of the first magnitude.

"The declaration of an immediate embargo on Russian manganese ore will not only protect the large amount of capital invested in the American manganese industry but will result in greatly improved conditions for thousands of American miners. Since there are manganese deposits in 34 States of the Union, the benefits of increased labor employment from an expanding manganese industry would be generally well distributed throughout the Nation."

While agitation continued for wholesale prohibition of imports from Russia, authoritative word came that the American Government would not take such action and would not let the question of its diplomatic nonrecognition of Russia affect the trade relations of the two countries.

In the protests from the Amtorg

RADIO WINS PRAISE FOR PROVIDING WORK

Presence of Communism in Land, He Thinks, Shows It Is Needed.

West Orange, N. J., July 30 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Henry Ford, lean, friendly and looking 55, spent one hour of his sixty-seventh birthday anniversary today talking in homely language to reporters on what he believed to be right with this "machine age" which, he says, has increased man's opportunity for development 1,000 to 1 during the past 50 years.

Mr. Ford came here today to pass the day with his close friends, Harvey S. Firestone and Thomas A. Edison, and to welcome the 49 boys who are competing for the inventor's four-year scholarship.

To the boys Henry Ford said, "In my mind I am sure there is no such thing as no chance."

Explains Brief Sentence.

Following the welcoming exercises at the Edison laboratory, Mr. Ford explained his brief sentence and gave an unusual interview, mellow, philosophical and touching on many subjects, from communism to poetry.

Dressed nattily in a gray suit, lavendar striped shirt and lavendar tie, he sat on a long table in the laboratory yard swinging his legs and talking as Harvey Firestone seated himself quietly beside him. A group of reporters stood around in a semicircle firing questions at him and being questioned occasionally by him.

First of all, he said, his cars were selling as well as ever, and without prophesying immediate prosperity he refused to take present business depression as anything but a phase.

"We've heard that you are retiring," said one questioner.

"Somebody did say I was," he said with the laughter which he shows in a slight smile of his mouth and an unexpected gray light in his blue-gray eyes. "I start to retire in the morning and get over it by night. That is liable to continue indefinitely."

Public Needs Leaders.

"What do you see as the future of the present unemployment situation and business depression, Mr. Ford?"

"It took a long time to get people sufficiently interested in stock jobbing for the market to reach the peak and crash as it did. Now it will take a long time to get back the confidence of the people," he answered.

He refused to make a guess of when the market or the unemployment situation would take a definite turn for the better.

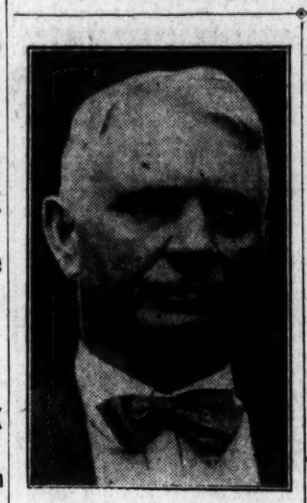

"What the public needs now is industrial leaders who sense what the public needs and will give it to them cheap. In my particular case it is motor cars," he said.

"There is no doubt that unemployment is due to the present system of things. People starting in industry want to go too fast. They get tied up quickly. Everything has got to evolve. Perhaps bankers have too much control. I have always managed to keep our business out of their control.

"Everybody has a right to live and

GORE HELD CERTAIN OF PLACE IN RUN-OFF

SENATOR PINE WINNER

Oklahoma City, July 30 (A.P.).—Thomas P. Gore, blind, former senator, recently emerged from a decade of political retirement, tonight seemed assured of a place in the Democratic primary run-off for nomination for United States senator from Oklahoma.

Charles J. Wrightsman, wealthy Tulsa, Okla., oil operator, was expected to be Mr. Gore's run-off opponent August 12. Three former Oklahoma Governors, one of whom was ousted from office, ran behind Messrs. Gore and Wrightsman in tabulation of yesterday's returns.

Mr. Gore, with 44,002 votes, had a lead of 1,169 over Mr. Wrightsman when 2,913 of the State's 3,338 precincts had been reported. Of the former governors, Henry S. Johnston, the ousted one, was running third with 33,007; Lee Cruce, fourth, with 25,060, and J. B. A. Robertson, avowed wet, fifth with 8,907. J. C. Walton, a fourth former governor, also ousted from office, will be in the general election in November as an independent candidate.

Senator W. B. Pine, Republican incumbent, had a lead that apparently relieved him of the necessity of entering the run-off.

William H. Murray, self-labeled commoner, who carried a pledge of tax reform and relief to drought-shriveled farming communities, had widened his lead in the contest for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to 48,000 votes over Frank Buttram, his nearest rival in the field of nine. In 2,374 precincts, Mr. Murray had 100,389 votes and Mr. Buttram, 52,370.

E. B. Howard, former First District representative, maintained a slight lead through the day over M. E. Trapp, still another former governor, in the consolation race for third place. On the 2,374 precincts compilation, Mr. Howard had 31,690 votes and Mr. Trapp 28,885.

Mr. Murray predicted during the day that his majority would swell to more than 50 per cent of the total vote, giving him the nomination without a run-off contest. His prediction, however, was not supported by additional returns which gave him slightly less than 40 per cent.

In 906 precincts, Ira A. Hill, State Senate party leader, had 17,766 votes

World's Greatest Airship Almost Above Coast of Canada.

ARRIVAL TIME FIXED FOR LATE AFTERNOON

CRAFT'S ROUTE LIES DOWN ST. LAWRENCE

Rosendahl Arrives From Washington to See Dirigible Land.

Montreal, Quebec, July 30 (A.P.).—With the greatest airship the skies have ever known bearing down on Canada on its first long flight from England, St. Hubert's Airport outside this city teemed tonight with preparations for its reception.

Out beyond the great mast where the R-100 will swing tomorrow night, long rows of tents were raised to house the 600 soldiers and police who will handle the huge crowds expected to gather from all over the province.

In teh hangar itself provisions were made to take care of the 44 men who are sailing the ocean air in Britain's latest bid for aerial supremacy. Throughout the day the wireless station at St. Hubert's was in intermittent touch with the mighty dirigible, which is larger thna either the Los Angeles of the United States Navy or the raf Zeppelin of Germany.

Trip Goes Smoothly.

From ships at sea and from the R-100 itself it was learned that the airship was sailing smoothly over the aerial highways of the Atlantic and from late afternoon reports the R-100 was then off Belle Isle Straight. It could be estimated with fair accuracy that the time of arrival here would be late tomorrow, probably between 4 and 6 o'clock.

So far as could be told from messages from the airship there were no mishaps such as endangered the success of the first ocean voyage of the Graf Zeppelin, when wind tore the fabric from one of the rear fins and exposed the great bag to the fury of the elements.

Messages from the R-100 were marked by such expressions as "Alll O. K.," "Uneventful trip," and the like.

Lights Visible Long Way.

The R-100's course lay along Belle Isle straight between Labrador and Newfoundland and down the St. Lawrence to the airport outside Montreal, so that for several hundred miles her lights skimming across the darkened skies should be visible to those willing to forego sleep.

There were plenty of evidences today that interest in the arrival of the R-100 was not confined within national boundaries. Newspaper reporters and cameramen by the dozen from the United States gathered here today, and from the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics at Washington came Commander Charles R. Rosendahl, chief of American dirigible activities, who has himself flown the Atlantic in both the Los Angeles and the Graf Zeppelin.

The R-100 will be moored at a mast more than 100 feet high, in a general way similar to the original high mast at Lakehurst, N. J., used prior to construction of the mobile stub mast now employed there.

Whereas it used to take about 200 men to handle the Los Angeles in a grounding operation before the stub mast was invented, officials here believe that the landing of the R-100 can be effected with the help of not more than a score of men.

St. Hubert, Quebec, July 30 (A.P.).—The R-100 reported by wireless at 5 p. m., Eastern standard time, her position was 100 miles east of Belle

Philander C. Knox Seized On Bogus Check Complaint

Son of Late Statesman Told by His Lawyer Not to Talk.

Philander C. Knox, son of one of the most distinguished families of Pennsylvania, was arrested yesterday on charge of passing a bad check. The 40-year-old son of the late senator from Pennsylvania, gave his address as Wild Rose Shores, Md. He is said to have given a check for $279 to P. N. Childs, of 812 Ninth street northwest, in payment for a motorboat engine.

The check was given to Childs on July 15, and the engine was to be delivered to Knox at the Maryland watering place, which is near Annapolis, Md. When the check came back, Childs swore out a warrant, and Knox was arrested by Headquarters Detective Eugene Davis.

Knox was released after several hours when he posted bond of $500.

Isle, off the north coast of Newfoundland.

The message read: "10 p. m. Greenwich mean time, position 53.30 west, 53 north, 100 miles northeast of Belle Isle." Belle Isle is a tiny island off the northern tip of Newfoundland and approximately 700 miles from the R-100's destination.

Calculations based on her position at 5 p. m. and the assumption that she would follow a route through Belle Isle Straits and down the St. Lawrence River gave her whole traveling distance then as something like 1,000 miles.

Ottawa, Ont., July 30 (A.P.).—The department of marine here at 6:25 p. m., Eastern standard time, received a wireless report that the British dirigible R-100 was then 78 miles east of Belle Isle.

(Associated Press.)

Upon the invitation of the Canadian government, four officers left Bolling Field by airplane yesterday for Montreal to inspect the air field there and witness the landing of the dirigible R-100.

The group, including four officers and one noncommissioned officer, who are experts in lighter-than-air craft, included Maj. William H. Hale, Capt. Karl S. Axtater, Capt. W. E. Kepner, Capt. William J. Flood and Sergt. Leo Hukill.

Lieut. Comdr. C. E. Rosendahl, a former commander of the Navy dirigible Los Angeles, already has reached Montreal to welcome the British airship.

Julius H. Barnes, head of the National Building Survey, formed by President Hoover after the market crash last fall, was named head of a committee chosen to perfect details of organization. The new group will be called the National Conference on Construction. Mr. Barnes left for the East tonight to enlist governmental cooperation in the work.

Wholesale Shoe Men Victimized, Is Charge

Three charges of false pretenses were placed against Sidney Glaser, 27 years old, of Wisconsin avenue, near Chesapeake street northwest, yesterday. He is said to have ordered shoes from manufacturers, to be delivered to a fictitious retail store.

Glaser was arrested by Headquarters Detectives D. W. Thompson, Clement P. Cox and Thomas Sullivan at his home. It is alleged he would order the shoes sent to "Brown's Department Store," and send a man to call for them at the express office. He was traced through the men who acted as messengers for him.

Bennett Prepares For Premiership

Conservatives Gain Another Seat in Returns From Saskatchewan.

Ottawa, Ontario, July 30 (A.P.).—Premier-elect R. B. Bennett today prepared to take over control of the Canadian government from the Liberal ministry of MacKenzie King, and carry out the campaign promise he made to deal with unemployment "immediately after July 28."

Several prospective ministers in Premier Bennett's conservative cabinet are not members of Parliament or were defeated in th last election and h is anxious to announce their selection so that those not already members can stand for election. It appeared probable today that September 2 would be set as by-election day, with results polled seven days later and an extra session of Parliament called into session September 11 to deal with the unemployment problem.

Probable cabinent elections, which will not be announced until Mr. Bennett formally takes over the premier's portfolio, were the chief topic of discussion among political observers today. Dr. R. J. Manion, former postmaster general; J. D. Chaplin, E. D. Ryckman, Premier E. S. Rhodes, of Nova Scotia; W. G. Ernest, J. A. MacDonald, J. H. Meyers, Sir George Perley, former high commissioner to London, and Maurice Dupre have been prominently mentioned for posts in the new cabinet.

The Conservatives gained one more seat today in official announcement of the election in Long Lake, Sask., of Dr. W. D. Cowan. J. F. Johnson, Liberal, had been conceded the seat on the basis of early returns. With two districts in Quebec still missing, the standing tonight was: Conservatives, 138; Liverals, 85; United Farmers, 10; Liberal-Progressives and Labor, 3 each, and Progressives and Independents, 2 each.

FOSTER FLED LINGLE SLAYING, TESTIMONY

Policeman Makes Surprise Identification, Taking Defense Aback.

SEPTEMBER TRIAL IS SET

Chicago, July 30 (A.P.).—The policeman who pursued a fleeing gunman from the Randolph street pedestrian subway where Jake Lingle was assassinated on June 9 identified the fugitive in court today.

Pointing to Frank Foster, said to be a Capone gangster, Policeman Anthony Ruthy asserted positively: "That's the man!" The police had asserted that the man whom Officer Ruthy tried to catch was the slayer.

His testimony was an unpleasant shock to Foster's defending counsel, who had called the traffic officer as their final witness in an effort to free the gangster from the county jail, where he has been held ten days since extradition from Los Angeles.

Policeman Takes Stand.

The revolver found beside the Tribune reporter's body had been sold by a sporting goods dealer to Foster, but it had not been charged that Foster fired the fatal shot, even when he was indicted for the murder. Foster had protested he had an alibi and, further, that he had long since disposed of the weapon.

His attorneys wanted Foster freed under bond.

Ruthy took the stand, as the final witness. He described the man who had eluded him in traffic at Michigan avenue and Randolph street after Lingle was shot. Had he seen the man since?

"I have seen the man that resembles him since," Ruthy testified.

Harold Levy, counsel for Foster, asked where. Ruthy pointed to Foster. Both State and defense attorneys appeared surprised. At Levy's direction, Ruthy looked at the gangster from every angle. Admitting he had not seen the fugitive's face, the policeman said he was certain of the identification. He could not say whether the fugitive he chased was the man who shot Lingle, as he did not see the slaying.

September Trial Ordered.

The witness was excused, the defense ended its presentation and Judge Daniel P. Trude ordered the State to bring Foster to trial for the murder on September 9 or to admit him to $25,000 bail.

The State has yet another ace up its sleeve—an unnamed woman who has told the State's attorney she saw the assassin steal up behind Lingle and kill him. The investigators have not revealed whether they plan to prosecute Foster as the slayer or whether they are holding him as an associate of the actual killer. He was brought back ostensibly to be questioned concerning ownership of the revolver.

Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the State's attorney, and Charles F. Rathbun, Tribune attorney and special prosecutor of the Lingle murder case, related their progress today to the grand jury whose term expires tomorrow. They offered no public statement afterward nor had they any comment on the unexpected identification of Foster.

(Associated Press.)

The geographical section designated as "the West" by the Census Bureau, comprising Pacific and Rocky Mountain States, increased by 2,911,200 in the decade just past, a 32.7 per cent population gain. The 1930 total was 11,814,172 as against 8,902,972 in 1920.

This jump, greater in percentage than the growth of "the North" or "the South," was due to the coastal influx, particularly in California.

The Rocky Mountain States, numbering eight, which showed a 26.7 per cent growth in 1920 to compare with the coastal 32.8 per cent, had slowed down to a 9.8 per cent increase in 1930. But Washington, Oregon and California had jumped to a 46.4 per cent gain over the 1920 figure. In 1920 the Census Bureau figures showed 8.4 per cent of the total population living in "the West." The 1930 percentage has not been figured.

Montana, decreasing by 2.8 per cent, was the only State showing loss. Colorado was the first Mountain State ever to number more than 1,000,000 inhabitants, with a 1930 total of 1,033,156.

Total of Jobless Increased in July

Statement by Green Cites Rise as Compared With June.

(Associated Press.)

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said yesterday that unemployment increased by 1 per cent in July over June.

A statement issued by Mr. Green said that reports from trade unions in 24 cities showed 21 per cent out of work as compared with 20 per cent last month.

"An increase in unemployment in July is not unusual," the statement added. "Our figures for 1928 showed more out of work in July than June, but this year the increase is particularly unfortunate, for wage earners already have a long period of lowered income and privation behind them. Also, their buying power is important at this time when stimulation of trade and production are especially needed."

Eight of the 24 cities reported better conditions during this month than last. These included Boston and San Antonio. The others were not named.

Bayard Seeks Senate As Hastings' Opponent

Wilmington, Del., July 30 (A.P.).—Former United States Senator Thomas F. Bayard, of Wilmington, today announced himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for senator. The State convention will be held in September.

Bayard will try to succeed Daniel O. Hastings, Republican, who has announced his candidacy for another term and who so far is the only Republican in the field. Mr. Bayard said today he favored repeal of the eighteenth amendment and repeal of the tariff act recently passed.

HOOVER AGAIN ASKS EXPENSE TRIMMING

Cabinet Members Told to Cut Costs for Possible Slump in Revenues.

SHARP DECREASE URGED

(Associated Press.)

Dissatisfied with the progress made in cutting down governmental expenditures for the year, President Hoover yesterday called upon Cabinet members and heads of independent establishments to speed up their plans for economies.

The Chief Executive was said at the White House to believe sufficient progress had not been made since he discussed with the Cabinet on July 18 methods for decreasing expenses to meet a possible reduction in revenues arising from slack times. As a result he requested that special emphasis be given these efforts and yesterday conferred with Secretaries Lamon and Davis and Postmaster General Brown upon the matter.

The economies are to be planned without interfering with the program to relieve unemployment, but it is proposed that they shall reach every department and pave the way for avoiding a deficit next July.

An increase of about $209,000,000 in expenditures this year over last is now provided for, attributed largely by Mr. Hoover to increases for speeding up buildings, inland waterways and public work to assist unemployment, together with increased relief for veterans.

The Chief Executive believes this increase can be trimmed sharply below the amounts appropriated.

Secretary Mellon has informed him present indications are the Government will close the fiscal year of 1931 with a deficit of more than $100,000,000. If the reduced income tax rate applicable this year is again applied to 1930 incomes, Mr. Mellon estimated a deficit of approximately $180,000,000.

Mrs. Hoover to Name New Vessel Excalibur

(Associated Press.)

Mrs. Herbert Hoover will go to Camden, N. J., next Tuesday to name the new steamship Excalibur, of the American Export Steamship Co.

The President's wife will be accompanied by Capt. Russell Train, chief naval aid to the President. She will return to Washington the same day.

Shippers Called To Capital Parley

Intercoastal Trade Lines Will Discuss Problems of Commerce Slump.

(Associated Press.)

Decreased commerce has led Chairman T. V. O'Connor, of the Shipping Board, to call a "friendly conference" of shippers engaged in the intercoastal trade.

Two lines have suggested that because of fewer cargoes now available each line should withdraw some of its vessels so the remainder could operate at a profit. Other operators have objected to this proposal, and it will be considered at the conference.

While the date for the conference has not been set, O'Connor said it was called so the board might "lend its sympathetic cooperation in some practical way which such a conference might develop." Nineteen domestic lines now are engaged in intercoastal shipping.

Youth's Heroism Saves Child From Runaway

New York, July 30 (N.Y.W.N.S.). A 16-year-old boy leaped to the shafts of a runaway wagon in Brooklyn today in an attempt to turn the frightened horse from James Briggs, 4, playing in the gutter straight ahead, unconscious of the danger.

The heroic boy was tossed back off the shafts to the road before he could completely succeed, but the deflected wheels of the wagon saved the child from possible death, confining his injuries to a broken collar bone and bruises. Joseph Spatford, the hero, was bruised by the fall, but went home after treatment by an ambulance surgeon.

DISCREPANCY AIRED IN MERGER BATTLE

AUDITORS LOCK HORNS

Youngstown, Ohio, July 30 (A.P.). A discrepancy of $6,915,305.65 between two maintenance and repair statements of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. in 1929 drew the attention of attorneys for the Cyrus S. Eaton interests today in their suit to enjoin merger of the Sheet & Tube Co. with Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

William N. McDonald, comptroller of the Sheet & Tube Co. testified on cross-examination that maintenance and repairs were listed at $9,972,336.54 in the annual report of the company and at $16,887,642.19 in a statement sent to Bethlehem corporation for purposes of comparison with five other steel firms.

In the cases other than Bethlehem and Youngstown, the firms participating in the annual comparison of manufacturing costs were not named.

McDonald explained the discrepancy occurred because Bethlehem and the other firms included items in their maintenance and repair costs which are not included by the Youngstown company. The latter, he said, added these items to the statistical statement to make the figures more comparable.

The concern of the antimerger attorneys over the statements grew out of their charge that Price, Waterhouse & Co., auditors, made a "grievous error" when they compared the conditions of Youngstown and Bethlehem preparatory for the merger contract. The auditing firm, they charged, gave Bethlehem credit for too large a maintenant and repair account and Youngstown for too little. The testimony of McDonald was brought out to support that charge.

The Eaton forces also attempted to show that the Youngstown Co. deducted a large sum from its 1929 earnings and placed it in operating expense.

Officials of both Bethlehem and Youngstown have testified the merger contract, calling for an exchange of one and one-third Bethlehem shares to one of Youngstown, was based on earnings of the two firms. The Eaton forces, bringing the injunction suit as Youngstown Co. stockholders, charge the terms were unfair to the Youngstown Co. Attorneys for both sides were seconded by expert auditors during the examination of McDonald.

Hospital Faces $100,000 Damage Suit in Baby Mixup

Mother Claims She Has Been Denied "Joy of Rearing Own Flesh and Blood;" Father Denies Illegal Divorce.

Chicago, July 30 (A.P.).—The baby imbroglio over who's who in the Watkins-Bamberger families was the basis for a $100,000 damage suit filed today against the Englewood Hospital by Mrs. Margaret Watkins, mother of one of the infants which she alleges were exchanged at the time the two mothers left the hospital.

Mrs. Watkins charged that the hospital forced her to accept a child marked with the name of another mother, and has deprived her "of the joy of loving, rearing and educating a child of her own flesh and blood."

After returning home, the Watkinses found the name Bamberger on the adhesive tape on the back of the baby they thought was theirs, and the Charles Bambergers found Watkins' name on the back of the infant they had taken home. The Bamberges, however, have said they were satisfied they had their own child.

Meanwhile, William R. Watkins, one of the fathers, denied he had been illegally divorced from his first wife, Mrs. Ann Van Stan Watkins, of Philadelphia, and denied his present marriage was illegal. The present Mrs. Watkins said she knew "all about" her husband's first marriage and was not concerned about the first wife's charges that she never had been legally notified of a divorce. "That doesn't interest me," she said. "All I want is my own baby."

HOOVER TO GREET POLISH ENGINEERS

Group of 16 in This County Making Study of Methods of Production.

RECEPTION IS PLANNED

Twelve Polish mechanical engineers and mechanical engineering students, who arrived in Washington yesterday on a tour of America, will be received at the White House today before attending a luncheon to be given at the Cosmos Club by the School of Foreign Service of Georgetown University.

The Polish group, the first of its kind to visit America, will make an intensive study of production methods before returning home. Arrangements have been made for them to inspect various engineering and technical plants in Pittsburgh, Dayton, Detroit, New York and other cities. They will spend four days in Washington.

Tonight a special reception for the students will be given at the Polish Embassy. One of the special guests will be Dr. James Brown Scott, professor of international law at Georgetown, who last fall received an honorary degree from the University of Warsaw. The only other degrees conferred on Americans by the Polish institution went to Woodrow Wilson and President Hoover.

The group was met at the station yesterday by Jan Tomaszewski, attache of the Polish Embassy. This afternoon the visitors will be taken on sightseeing trips about the city, and before they leave the Bureau of Standards and a number of other Government departments will be thrown open for inspection.

At the luncheon in the Cosmos Club today the Georgetown School of Foreign Service will present the group with a bronze shield of the university, to be hung on the walls of the Politechnic Institute at Warsaw.

Hoover Receives Papers of Lincoln

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday received a complete set of the essays, state papers and speeches of one of his favorite characters of American history—Abraham Lincoln.

The twelve volumes, a gift of Lincoln Memorial University at Cumberland Gap, Tenn., were presented by Paris Houston, a student at the university. He told the President the new university in the midst of the mountain people is striving to make a practical application of Lincoln't principles in its educational program.

Mr. Houston, who is a lineal descendant of Sam Houston, Tennessee pioneer, was accompanied to the White House by Dr. John Wesley Hill, chancellor of the university, and members of the board.

Many Drown in Flood Of Asiatic Russian River

Khiva, Uzbekistan, U. S. S. R., July 30 (A.P.).—Many persons were drowned, numerous villages submerged and 300 houses carried away by a disastrous flood of the Amudara River, the largest stream in Asiatic Russia.

In the Kipchak region a number of dams were destroyed, large numbers of cattle were killed and nearly 1,000 acres of rich sown land were inundated.

Two Women Arrested After Fire Kills Baby

El Paso, Tex., July 30 (A.P.).—Josefina Aguarre, 24, and Rosilisa Roja, 23, were arrested in connection with the burning to death early today of Mrs. Roja's 18-months-old baby.

The charred remains of the infant were found in a kerosene-soaked quilt in the tenement house in South El Paso occupied by the women. Neither would discuss the infant's death.

Representative Thinks Three at Least Are Here in Violation of Law.

RED INQUIRY HELD UP

New York, July 30 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Representative Hamilton Fish, chairman of the House of Representatives committee investigating Communist activities, arrived here today from Chicago, where the committee held two hearings which wound up its activities for the summer. No further hearings will be held, Mr. Fish said, until the latter part of September, when the committee will resume sessions in New York.

In the meantime, the Western Union Telegraph Co., which has been subpenaed by the committee to produce all the cablegrams to and from the Amtorg Trading Corporation, is searching its files for the messages. The search alone will be a matter of two weeks or so, and after that the messages must be recorded. It will depend in part on the contents of the messages must be recorded. It will depend in part on the contents of the messages, Mr. Fish revealed, whether the committee will recommend immediate cancellation of the visas of several of the high offices of Arttorg.

Admit Radical Leanings.

During the hearings, Mr. Fish made it plain that he thought at least three of the officers, including Mr. Bogdanov, were in this country illegally. Under the immigration laws, Communists are forbidden entry to the United States. Mr. Bogdanov, Feodor M. Zlavkin, general manager, and several others admitted they had been members of the Communist party until just before applying for visas to come to the United States, and Mr. Bogdanov admitted he "probably would join up" again when he went back. In addition, Mr. Fish believes that under section 3 of the Immigration law, providing that aliens may not come here for purposes of trade unless there is a commercial treaty between their country and the United States, all of the Amtorg officials may be sent back home.

Mr. Fish would not comment on the situation growing out of the embargoes, saying the committee thought it unwise to make statements until it had completed its hearings and presented its report to Congress.

Italy Defends Labor.

The declaration of Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and head of labor forces fighting for an embargo of all Soviet products, that his Wage Earners Protective Conference was also looking into the question of convict labor in goods from Italy, brought a rejoinder today from Luigi Profumo, vice president of the Italian Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Profumo wrote to the labor official that "the reference in (your) statement to dumping of merchandise and the importation of convict-made goods from Italy and the employment of forced labor in Italy is absolutely erroneous, and we shall be at all times glad to submit proof to this effect."

NEW ITALIAN CITIES RISING FROM RUINS

Stricken Centers Are to Be Moved From Perilous Crater Ruins to Safety.

ALL SURVIVORS HOUSED

Rome, July 30 (A.P.).—New cities today began to show their modern outlines among the ruins of last week's stricken earthquake area.

Supported by government and other funds running into the millions, thousands of workers today began digging the trenches in which will rest the foundations of a reconstructed and, it is planned, virtually shockproof group of Apennine towns, in most cases removed from the perilous mountain peaks and crater rims upon which they formerly sat.

Cities to Be Moved.

Melfi, Canosa, Villanova, Accadia, Montecalvo, Ariano, Lacedonia, Aquilonia and many other centers saw the beginning of the ambitious program by which the government will attempt to insure so far as possible the lives of these Italian subjects who cling to their beloved vineclad hills in which in all modern times has lurked the menace of destruction.

Searchers in the ruins also have ceased to find bodies of dead. Five only were today's total, three at Accadia and two at Montecalvo. It has become apparent that the extent of the disaster now has been related.

A portion of today's task was the searching out of orphans and children whose parents have been scattered far from their homes.

All Are Housed.

With the urgent work of temporary housing completed by the arrival of a sufficient number of tents, a serious problem today had been solved and the hands of the officials were free to go ahead with the more serious business of clearing ruins and removing the menace of half-demolished walls.

Undersecretary of Public Works Leoni announced that the government, by its decisive activities, has secured the faith and support of the stricken populace, which was proving a greatly helpful factor in the reconstruction program.

SIX YEARS IN PRISON IS VAUSE SENTENCE

Brooklyn Judge, Noted for Severity on Bench, Given Term for Fraud.

OTHERS ALSO PUNISHED

New York, July 30 (A.P.).—W. Bernard Vause, who, as a county judge in Brooklyn, was noted for the severity of his sentences and who once recommended the whipping post for criminals, was sentenced today to six years in Federal prison.

Judge Vause was convicted, with Harry Cruso and Samuel Schuchman, of using the mails to defraud in the conduct of the defunct Columbia Finance Corporation. Three others pleaded guilty and four were acquitted.

Federal Judge Coxe today sentenced Vause to five years each on twelve counts of fraud and one year on a conspiracy count. The fraud sentences are to run concurrently.

The former jurist, whose counsel had frequently asked adjournment of his trial because of his physical condition, walked unaided into the courtroom today and heard the sentence quietly.

Schuchman, pictured with Vause by the Government as the brains of the Columbia Corporation, was given a sentence of two to six years on six fraud counts and two years on the conspiracy charge. He will serve a total term of about five years.

Solomon Cruso, who, with Abraham Rayman and Joseph P. Barmak, pleaded guilty before trial and testified for the Government, was sentenced to two years on thirteen counts. Barmak and Rayman were sentenced to a year and a day on thirteen counts.

Harry Cruso, who was found guilty only on the conspiracy charge, escaped a prison term, but was placed on probation for two years.

Columbia Finance, which carried on the functions of a bank, although without State charter, failed for $400,000 last December, only $600 in assets remaining. Most of its investors were East Side residents.

Nothing BURNS but GAS! —By John Hix

Reproduced from The Washington Post of July 30.

Wood, coal, oil—none of the substances which we customarily speak of as "burning" actually do. It is only the gases thrown off by them when subjected to heat which produce flame. Your gas pipes bring to you a concentrated fuel which produces a maximum of heat with a minimum of waste. That is why gas fuel is more efficient, more economical and most easy to employ for domestic or industrial purposes.

HOSPITAL'S PATIENT HELD IN DEATH PLOT

BUNDLED OFF TO PRISON

Columbia, S. C., July 30 (A.P.).—Developments came swiftly today in the investigation of Senator E. J. Dennis' assassination last week in Berkeley County.

Glenn L. McKnight, picturesque character of the Hell Hole area of Berkeley County, was arrested in a Charleston hospital after he had been named by W. L. Thornley as the instigator of the murder, to which Thornley confessed, according to a statement given out by Gov. Richards.

Over the protest of McKnight's physician, who said his patient was in no condition to stand the trip, the chief executive ordered the former king of the Hell Hole bootleggers and later a Federal prohibition agent, brought to the State prison for safekeeping. The accused man was bundled into an ambulance and started from Charleston late today under a heavy guard of State constables.

Inquest Is Ordered.

Resumption of the inquest into Senator Dennis' death, adjourned Saturday pending a report on Thornley's sanity, was ordered for tonight in Columbia.

Three other Berkeley County men, said by Gov. Richards to have been implicated in Thornley's confession, were lodged in State prison early today. They are Fred Artis, Clarence Woodward, a former deputy sheriff, and Curtiss Thornley, brother of the alleged assassin.

In colorful language, McKnight branded Thornley's reported confession implicating himself as a "lie" while he lay in the hospital awaiting Gov. Richard's decision as to his removal.

Senator Dennis was shot down on a street of Moncks Corner, the county seat, last Thursday, while conversing with two friends. He died the next day in a Charleston hospital. He was the fourth recent victim of ambush in Berkely County, scene of intense political and liquor feuds in recent years.

McKnight was the last previous victim, having been shot down in the yard of his Moncks Corner home two months ago by a charge of buckshot fired from the darkness. He was critically wounded.

Thornley was arrested immediately after the shooting of Dennis but denied his guilt until yesterday when he made a statement in the presence of the government, W. C. Wolfe, law associate of the slain senator, and Solicitor A. J. Hydrick, who is in charge of the investigation.

Confession Outlines Plans.

In his confession made to Solicitor Hydrick yesterday, released to newspapers tonight, Thornley said on Saturday before the assassination took place his brother told him McKnight wanted him to do the shooting.

"And he said he wanted me to kill Mr. Dennis and if I would do it, he would sell the shirt off his back; that he was worth around a couple of hundred thousand dollars and he would sell the shirt off his back to get me out of the toruble, and anything in the world I wanted I could have it if I would shoot Mr. Dennis.

"I said to Mr. McKnight, 'Mr. McKnight, I hate to do anything like that; my mind is kind of weak, but I got some sympathy about myself,' and he crowded me and crowded me. I said, 'I can try it, if you are going to do such a big pile as that for me I ca ntry it.'"

The prisoner said McKnight told him, if he were caught, "I will prove in the Senate that you was crazy, and leave them to me and I will attend to it."

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

IF it were happening in New York there would be reams of stuff in the papers about it, but the chamber of commerce of the nearby Virginia counties are apparently not on the job.

The fact is that nowhere in the country is a more intense wet and dry fight waging than over there across the Highway Bridge, in the shadow of the Nation's Capital, so to speak.

There are five candidates seeking the Democratic nomination to succeed Representative Walter Moore. Prohibition is the sole issue. Two of them, State Senator Frank Ball and former Judge Howard W. Smith, of Alexandria, have the dry side, and Thomas R. Keith, of Fairfax; Crandal Mackey and E. H. DeJarnette are carrying the wet banner

• • • •

OBSERVERS are inclined to give Keith an outside chance. He is a very high-calibered man and admittedly he will draw some support from drys who will not under the circumstances accept Keith's prohibition views as the test of his fitness.

Walton Moore, himself, is, in fact, supporting Keith not because he is a wet but in spite of it. Moore is a dry personally as well as politically.

• • • •

IF Keith should win his victory would most certainly be heralded as a wet victory.

The candidates are all giving the tariff and the Republicans down the country but on this they are in perfect accord.

Prohibition is the only question on which they differ.

The fight, or rather the wet and dry issue, is most closely drawn between State Senator Ball and Mr. Keith. Judge Smith, who has looked out upon the world from the bench for a long time, is inclined to give an ear to this reported changing sentiment and is keeping quiet on prohibition.

The only utterance he has made on anything during the campaign, in fact, was his answer to the Anti-Saloon League's questionnaire and about the only definite statement in it was that the law must be enforced. He is, however, listed as a dry.

• • • •

THE wets think it is too bad that their strength is to be split by three candidates whereas the dry vote will only go two ways, but they are nevertheless pinning a lot of faith in Keith. He is one of the most outstanding lawyers in the district.

DeJarnette is advocating a quart a month system, the plan which Bishop Cannon espoused back in the days when the drys did not think they could ever get such a thing as national prohibition.

There are 10 counties and the city of Alexandria in the district. Keith has apparently gotten into several of the county organizations and taken some of Ball's strength which means something, of course. The primary is Tuesday.

HENRY FORD, 67, DISCUSSES BUSINESS, RADIO, BOOKS

have a job; but, Great Scott, don't you know there are lots of people looking for Santa Claus?"

Overproduction Is Denied.

Mr. Ford denied that there could be "overproduction," saying that "if you can't sell a thing, it's not good enough and not cheap enough."

"What about wheat?" asked a reporter.

"They can make more use of it," he said. "I am trying to develop a new use for surplus wheat. The laboratory that we have been using for the experiments had its still burned down last Sunday."

Of the "machine age," to which he has given such an impetus, Henry Ford argued mathematically that it did not stamp out individuality or culture.

"More machines are needed, and for these are required men who are skilled enough to make them. These machines have developed a higher class of labor," he declared.

"There are many more chances for full development and variety of experience than before. Industry has given new experiences and these have developed character, which, after all, is the only thing we can take with us.

"Everyone now wants to work and it is a very healthy state of mind. Almost every industry now takes in almost every art."

Goes Back to Figures.

When Mr. Ford was pinned down to what the radio gave to culture, his mind jumped back to figures, and he said that it made a lot of money for the radio people and thus employed more people and gave them work and experience. More people ought to be taught more about more things, he said.

Asked if he didn't think that the fields of business were preempted, and that if he were starting all over again he would find it difficult to ffind a l ine comparable to the automobile business in which he could make a sensational success, Mr. Ford answered:

"People have always thought that fields were preempted. There are now a thousand chances to the one chance that we had. I think there is a great field for the distribution of a pure water that people will like and that astill had a little kick to it. It would be pure water, probably that of New York. I was making notes on that thought only yesterday."

A reporter then said to Mr. Ford, "I have always been curious about what your favorite book is.

"What's yours?" asked Mr. Ford.

Likes Maud Muller.

"I think Tolstoi's 'Anna Karenina,'" answered the reporter.

"Well, I liked 'Maud Muller,'" said Mr. Ford.

Asked what he thought about the Communist investigations, Mr. Ford said, "Gosh, the committee was in to inspect my place. They told me that I was treating them so well I probably would have no trouble. I don't want to criticize the committee, but if communism gets into a country it shows the country needs it."

Before Mr. Ford left his seat on the table and went to Edison's home for luncheon he was asked how he felt.

"You must judge for yourself," he looked hard as nails.

Mr. Ford and his wife will leave for their home tomorrow he said.

PARENTS LOATH TO BELIEVE GIRL IS MISSING DAUGHTER

Missing Persons Bureau of the New York Police Department that a girl there might be the missing Frances.

A picture of the girl, who was said to have used the name of Jane Smith among others and to answer the general description of Frances St. John Smith, was sent on here along with specimens of her handwriting by the Cincinnati police.

But Mrs. A. W. Gramm, aunt of Miss St. John Smith, said tonight she was positive the girl was not Frances. She was shown copies of "Jane Smith's" handwriting tonight by a policewoman who called at the Smith home and said this was in a "schoolgirl copybook style," if genuine.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are at their home outside Amherst, Mass. Mr. Smith said tonight that he was "interested," but saw no reason to doubt the original identification of Dr. Carleton W. Woods, the New York dentist, as made by him sixteen months ago. There was no means then of identifying the body, which apparently had been in the Connecticut for more than a year.

The Cincinnati police gave no reason for their opinion that "Jane Smith" was the daughter of the St. John Smiths, except that the young woman was of the same height and age and seemed to bear a similarity to printed pictures of Frances.

According to reports from Cincinnati, "Jane Smith," then using the name Mary Wilson, was found wandering about the Central Union Railroad Station in that city, June 12. Travelers Aid Society officials sent her to the General Hospital, where it was thought she was suffering from amnesia. The girl, about 22 and 5 feet, 4 or 5 inches in height, was held for observation for a time, but was released June 25.

Manwhile, Mrs. Cecil Woodberry, probation officer of the Municipal Court, became interested in the case and called on the young woman at the hospital. She told Mrs. Woodberry she had come from Clarksburg, W. Va., and that on occasions she had used the name of Jane Smith. The girl refused absolutely to discuss her family affairs or identify herself.

Mrs. Woodberry, however, thought she detected a striking resemblance between the Jane Smith-Wilson girl and Frances St. John Smith. She questioned the mysterious patient, but received no enlightenment. The probation officer had the young woman cared for at a shelter institution in Cincinnati, where she now is. The young woman is free to come and go at will, it is said.

Pay Raise for Premier Of Britain Is Favored

London, July 30 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—An increase in the salary of the British prime minister from 5,000 pounds ($24,300) to 7,000 pounds ($34,020) a year was recommended today by the select committee recently appointed by the House of Commons to investigate the question of ministerial salaries.

The committee concluded that the present would be an inopportune time to make any changes in the salaries of other ministers or law officers of the government.

NEW AGE IMPROVED IN EDISON'S BELIEF

SLUMP LAID TO SCARE

West Orange, N. J., July 30 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Thomas Alva Edison, who after a lifetime devoted to discoveries in science has turned his intelligence to uncovering talent in a group of young boys brought from all the States and the District of Columbia, today allowed himself to be questioned as he will question the 49 candidates for his scholarship tomorrow.

Mr. Edison, a heavy, white-haired figure in a gray suit, wearing a pink rose in his buttonhole, formally welcomed the boys in the yard of his laboratory today. He told them not to count too heavily on their "mental attainments," but to remember that there's no substitute for hard work.

He talked from a covered platform which he shared with members of the advisory board who helped him compose the tests that will determine which of the "brightest" boys of the States is the "brightest boy" of the country. American flags were draped on the platform and the laboratory buildings.

Edison Writes Answers.

After facing the 49 boys, sitting as stiff as ramrods, Mr. Edison changed his position from master to questioned student and answered ten queres of reporters.

Perhaps knowing that 49 bright boys, but young boys, are going to read what he said, Mr. Edison explained that the "machine age" allowed an increase of development and leisure for men, but that his leisure would be only beneficial if the man "shuns whisky."

In another answer Mr. Edison said that prohibition if only "reasonably enforced" would be an enormous benefit.

The 83-year-old inventor considered that there is no real business depression, but that the workers are "scared and will not buy." Depressions are bound to happen, anyway, he said.

Today the candidates made a tour of the Edison industries. They dined and danced at the Rock Spring Country Club last night. Tomorrow morning they will have their quiz.

The advisory board welcoming them today were Lewis Perry, chairman, principal of Phillips Exeter Academy; William Lowe Bryan, president of Indiana University; Harvey S. Firestone, Henry Ford and Dr. Hubert S. Howe.

The questions and answers of Mr. Edison's private examination follow:

More Youths Improved.

Question 1—How in your opinion will the further development of the machine age affect the average individual? (a) Will it limit his opportunity for full development? (b) Will it increase his leisure? (c) If so, is he likely to use this leisure wisely or wastefully?

Answer—(a) No, increase. (b) Yes. (c) Yes, if he shuns whisky.

Question 2—Is modern youth better, worse or about on a par with the youth of the two preceding generations in character and intelligence?

Answer—Many more are improved.

Question 3—What scientific problem on which you are now working (a) interests you most? (b) will be of most far-reaching value to the race?

Answer—(a) Rubber from American weeds. (b) Yes.

Question 4.—How should the average person divide his time among (a) Sleep. (b) Work. (c) Eating. (d) Recreation.

Answer—(a) Six hours without any injury. (b) Eight hours for manual worker, ten to twelve hours for mental worker. (c) Only to keep normal rate constant. (d) When sun goes down.

Question 5—Is the present relative moral and economic freedom of women a good thing? (a) For women. (b) For the race and general. Answer to both (a) and (b) Yes.

Work Key to Success.

Question 6.—In what proportion do you think success is generally due (a) To hard work, (b) To talent, (c) to luck?

Answer—(a) 90 per cent, namely mental work. (b) Ten per cent. (c) Rare.

Question 7—Do you believe that public consumption will be able indefinitely to absorb the continually increasing output of mass production, or will it eventually glut its own market and defeat its own ends?

Answer—Of course, there is a limit with the former. It's the seize of the consumer's stomach.

Question 8.—Do you think prohibition, as it has worked out in practice, is on the whole beneficial or harmful.

Answer—They have started enforcing the law. If reasonably enforced it will be an enormous benefit.

Question 9.—Do you feel the country is suffering from a business depression?

Answer—No; the workers are scared and will not buy.

Question 10—What is the future of the nuemployment situation?

Answer—We are bound to have these depressions, no matter how perfect is our financial standing. Men are natural born gamblers and will always overdo things.

1,000 Garment Workers At Work as Strike Ends

Baltimore, July 30 (A.P.).—More than 1,000 garment workers returned to their benches today after being out on strike for a week. Of the 24 firms affected by the strike, called by the local branch of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union in a dispute over a three-year contract, twelve signed an agreement with union representatives yesterday and two previously had signed.

Four of the remaining firms and union representatives are to confer, it was said today. About 2,000 of the 3,000 employed in the needle trades here went out.

as compared to 10,902 for James Harris, of Waggoner, former national committeeman, in their contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. The ratio of Mr. Hill's lead indicated his nomination in the first primary.

All congressional incumbents apparently had weathered the first threats against their continued tenure.

The closest race was waged in the Fifth District between A. S. Stone, Republican incumbent, and E. E. Blake. Mr. Stone drew away, however, in later returns and in 199 of the district's 447 precincts has 3,146 votes to Mr. Blake's 1,889.

Wesley Disney, Tulsa attorney, with a vote of 2,754, was leading in 74 of the First District's 848 precincts in the Democratic congressional race, and Henry Craig, of Picher, was second with 1,729. Charles O'Connor, Republican incumbent, was unopposed.

office and a hospital escaped the flames.

Looting of foreign buildings was premeditated and systematic. From the camp near by, 8,000 Reds poured killing those who opposed them.

Damage Runs Into Millions.

Changsha was divided into 50 districts for pillaging. Directed by leaders, the despoilers carried foreign effects into the streets as plunder before firing the buildings. Coolies looking on were harangued by the Red leaders, and many were persuaded to join the Communist army to seize a share of the property "wrongfully possessed by the upper classes."

Dispatches said foreign consulates, residences and large office buildings on Shuiliu Island opposite the city probably would be destroyed.

Value of foreign property already burned amounted to millions of dollars. The total could not be estimated.

Natives Are Defenseless.

The Communist torch was applied when the city returned no answer to demands for $420,000 gold. Thrusting aside the few government troops that had not left for the northern civil war zone, the Reds flung themselves upon the defenseless inhabitants.

Other Reds descended upon Hwayuan, Hupeh Province, 50 miles north. They devastated the town and vicinity.

The latest phase of the Reds' depredations was a culmination of many months of banditry in several provinces of China, drained of troops by the government to fight widespread rebellion.

suing theories of his own in connection with the murder Sheriff Fields has maintained all along that there is a woman in the case.

Interest in Inspection Wide.

Widespread interest in Maj. Goddard's conclusions is evident in police circles throughout the country. Should the Chicago expert, after examination of the bullets and gun, issue a negative verdict, high police authorities concede that the science of ballistics will be dealt a severe blow.

Dr. Wilmer Souder, of the Bureau of Standards, who named Campbell's gun as the one which fired the fatal shots, is viewed as a court of last resort in scientific police work. Maj. Goddard, in a letter received yesterday by Mr. Gloth, expressed utmost confidence in Dr. Souder's ability in identification of bullets and guns.

Scientists claim ballistics is as exact a science as fingerprint and handwriting identification. Through a series of tests, scientists say, they can establish unerringly whether a bullet was fired from a certain gun. Further, they assert, if they are given a gun and an empty cartridge, they can prove whether the cartridge was used in the gun.

Can Determine Make of Gun.

Other feats they claim they can accomplish is to take a bullet and f examination of the bullet determine the caliber, make, type and the approximate date of manufacture of the gun which fired the bullet. They also contend that they are able discover the make and caliber of a pistol by examining a shell used in the gun.

When the slugs taken from Miss Baker's body were microscopically examined by Dr. Souder he told authorities that they were fired from a Spanish made gun of .32 caliber. The gun given to authorities by Campbell is of this type.

Scientists have proved on many occasions that no two guns, even of the finest make, leave exactly the same imprint on bullets passing through the barrels. The means of identification lies in scratches and abrasions received by the bullet.

BUCKLEY HELD SHOT TO PREVENT EXPOSE

REWARDS TOTAL $13,500

Detroit, July 30 (A.P.).—The theory that Radio Announcer Jerry Buckley was slain because of his promise to expose law violators in the suburb of Hamtramck formed the basis of a new police investigation tonight.

Ever since early last Wednesday morning when three gunmen fired eleven bullets nto Buckley's body as he sat in the lobby of the LaSalle Hotel, friends of the announcer have maintained that he was killed because of his avowed enmity for the underworld. The police have inclined toward the theory that he was slain because of some obscure dealings with the same characters whom he publicly denounced.

The new theory of Buckley's assassination was based on the radio announcer's statement that he would take up the Hamtramck situation in the near future. Hamtramck, completely surrounded by Detroit, has reproduced in miniature the political and criminal upheavals of the metropolis. At the time of the recall of Mayor Charles Bowles a similar movement was afoot in Hamtramck against Mayor Rudolph C. Tenerowicz. It is claimed that Hamtramck gangsters, impressed with the success of the Detroit recall in which Buckley was active, killed the announcer to prevent him casting his lot with the movement in the suburb.

Meanwhile, the reward for the capture and conviction of Buckley's slayers reached $13,500. Those offering the reward include the City of Detroit, an afternoon newspaper, Wayne County and a private citizen.

Police Commissioner Thomas C. Wilcox today issued a reiteration of his statement that Detroit was destined for an epochal cleanup. He said that his men were continuing raids against "blind pigs," gambling places and disorderly houses so as to cut off the revenue of racketeers and gangsters and make it possible for them to hire gunmen for more killings. He said that their campaign had been so successful thus far that Federal prohibition officers had told him there was practically nothing for their men to do.

PHILANDER C. KNOX FACES CHECK COUNT

The arrested man is the son of Philander C. Knox, former senator and Secretary of State. Senator Knox was mentioned for the presidential nomination at one time.

Knox has been in trouble before, having appeared to answer a reckless driving charge in 1928. At this time, he walked out of the courtroom before his case was called and forfeited his bond. He was later excused for his error by the Court, after he had been sept to the District Jail for a short time.

When the man appeared at Police Headquarters last night to be booked on the check charge, he was accompanied by his lawyer, who refused to allow him to talk to newspapermen.

St. Marks, Long Refuge Of Poor, Closes Doors

New York, July 30 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—St. Marks Hospital, for 30 years the refuge of the ill of a large section of New York's East Side, closed its doors today and discontinued operation.

Lack of funds due to the falling off of voluntary contributions, the absence of an endowment and changes in the character of the section which has caused fewer paying and more free patients are given by Edward Reynolds, jr., a member of the hospital board, as the cause of the financial collapse of the institution.

Shikarpur Looted When Flood Rises

Sokkur Evacuates 30,000 of Refugees; Waters Cover 100 Villages.

Karachi, India, July 30 (A.P.).—Flood waters from the Indus River steadily advanced on the city of Shikarpur today while thousands of peasants fled in terror and looters added to the confusion of pillaging.

The breaking of the Indus River dams and the overflowing of neighboring streams and canals submerged 100 villages and sent the peasants of the Upper Sind racing for higher ground. An area of 150 square miles between the Sind River and Shikarpur is one sheet of water. Cattle losses, the ruin of houses and injury of agriculture have reached an enormour total. About 30,000 refugees have been evacuated from Sokkur. Advices from Khanpur said a band of 500 outlaws had plundered houses vacated by wealthy merchants. In a fight near Sikarpur yesterday several persons were injured.

Quetta has been cut off by serious breaks in the railway. Refugees have been arriving through the day. day.

2,200 END TRAINING AT NEARBY CAMPS

Maj. Gen. Brown Addresses Boys During Review at Fort Myer.

PRIZES ARE ANNOUNCED

About 2,200 young men who have been in training at the Citizens Military Training Camps at Fort Myer and Fort Eustis, Va., will return to their homes today at the close of their 30-day encampment.

Of these, 1,900 are boys from Maryland, Washington, Virginia and Pennsylvania who have been training at Fort Eustis, while 280 have been at Fort Myer, where they came from New York, New Jersey, Washington and other Eastern points. Graduation exercises including a review and presentations of medals and trophies brought to a close the training period at Fort Myer.

The review was held before Maj. Gen. Preston Brown, deputy chief of staff of the Army, who addressed the boys briefly, tracing the history of the C. M. T. C. from its inception with 150 students who paid their own way at Gettysburg seventeen years ago, when he was first commander of the C. M. T. C. Now, he pointed out, the Government pays all expenses for 40,000 students annually.

Washingtonians Are Present.

In the reviewing stand with Gen. Brown were Col. Harry M. Cootes, camp commander, and officers of Washington patriotic organizations, including Mrs. George Gordon Siebold, national commander of the Association of Gold Star Mothers; Dr. Joseph Beattie, past commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars, District area; Mrs. David D. Caldwell, vice president general, and Mrs. Helen Harman, State regent of the D. A. R.; Commander Charles H. Strobel, United Spanish War Veterans; Col. W. M. McKelsey, commander of the Army and Navy Union; Capt. Fred Kolchi, past commander, Disabled American War Veterans, and officers of the American Legion, Reserve Officers Association and others.

The athletic streamer was won by F Troop. The D. F. W. medal for the outstanding blue student went to Edward S. Deichler, of Harrisburg, Pa. Five medals given by the Military Training Camps Association went to William M. Arehart, Fairfield, Va.; David D. Schell, Old Forge, Pa.; Stewart D. Kennedy, San Diego; Curtis W. Warmer, Phillipsburg, Pa. Young Arehart also won the scholarship offered by the Temple School of Washington.

Young Warner was named as the member to represent the Third Corps Area, C. M. T. C., on the rifle team. A medal for excelence in citizenship offered by the New York Civitans Club went to Joseph F. Murphy, of New York, while a baseball and bat autographed by Babe Ruth, went to John P. Plum, of Cumberland, Md., as outstanding athlete of the camp.

Pistol Qualification Course.

Students representing nineteen colleges yesterday completed firing the R. O. T. C. pistol qualification course at the Advanced Infantry Camp at Fort George G. Meade, Md.

The highest percentage was 90.3, made by William W. Farrall, of Larchmont, N. Y., a student at Georgetown University. Second honors went to Richard G. Clapp, of Rutledge, Pa., a student at the University of Pennsylvania, with a score of 88.8, while Gratian B. Brice, of Titusville, Pa., a student at the Fishburne Military School, took third place with 88 of a possible 100.

There are ten Washington boys in the camp who have qualified as sharpshooters or marksmen. They are Charles W. Pimper, 1140 Fifteenth street northwest; Luther L. Gray, 1419 Foxall road; Walter Bonnet, 22 Adams street northwest; Willis T. Frazier, 6629 First street northwest; Candler H. Hoffman, 6 Ralston avenue, Hyattsville, Md.; Frederick H. Marshall, 4221 Seventh street northwest; Davis S. Miller, 29 U street northwest; Henry J. Whiting, 55 Adams street northwest; John L. Bischoff, 1426 Crittenden street northwest, and Conrad E. Grohs, 319 Fifteenth street northeast.

Twelve boys from Georgetown University, including young Gray, have qualified. William W. Ferrall, of Larchmont, N. Y., and Peter J. Collins, jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y., are expert marksmen, while the following ten are sharpshooters or marksmen: George G. Stout, Erie, Pa.; Henry J. Colavita, Newark, N. J.; Laurence O'Toole, Gary, W. Va.; Charles E. Lieberman, Allentown, Pa.; Leo J. Owens, Plainfield, N. J.; Edward A. Murphy, Philadelphia; James D. Prior, Bayonne, N. J.; Donald J. Kissinger, Clifton, N. J., and Joseph F. Beger, Newark, N. J.

Trading Corporation, and from American paper manufacturers, ship owners and charterers as well as an organization of stevedores, the appellants asked that if the order were not canceled its application be postponed 90 days to prevent serious loss to the manufacturers, shipping interests and the laborers deriving their livelihood from unloading the vessels.

A decision on these appeals was promised within two days. Lowman said, however, no one had shown convict labor had not entered into production of the pulp. He gave the Russians leave to submit any evidence on this point later.

Under the tariff law convict-made goods are barred from entry, whatever the country of origin. The act also includes provision for raising duties to prevent dumping, or sale in this country of manufactured products at prices lower than those obtaining in the exporting nation. The latter phase of the law recently has been invoked against Russian matches.

Soviet Pulpwood Aids U. S. Workers, Is Claim

New York, July 30 (A.P.).—The International Paper Co., in a statement issued tonight, said the use of Russian pulp wood in this country was "in the interests of American workmen rather than competitive with them."

American newsprint mills are obliged to import a substantial part of their pulpwood either from Canada or Russia, the statement said, and "from the point of view of the American workmen what is desirable is not the elimination of the Russian supply but rather assurance of its continuance.

"This pulpwood thus gives additional assurance of life to the company's mills in the United States and of employment to their men."

The company said it contracted recently with Russian mills for a part of its 1930 supply of pulpwood on the assurance that convict labor was not employed in its manufacture and that without knowledge to the contrary it favored the admission of such imports.

Auto Wreck Injuries Are Fatal to Virginian

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., July 30.—Dyer Harman, 24, of East Radford, died at Lynchburg Hospital this morning at 8 o'clock from hurts sustained half an hour earlier in an automobile accident at an overhead crossing on the Norfolk & Western Railway a short distance west of Lynchburg.

Fellow passengers, William Vaughan, 19, East Radford, and Fred Vaughan, Pulaski, were brought to the hospital suffering from cuts and bruises, but not seriously hurt. William Vaughan, driver of the car, said he did not notice a curve on the approach to the bridge until too late to avoid striking the guard rail. His car was badly wrecked.

Veteran Circus Man Is Dead at Bedford

Special to The Washington Post.

Bedford, Va., July 30.—Al Langford, a veteran circus man, died at Elks National Home here yesterday morning. He was well known among the circus fraternity and was for years connected with the Hagenbeck-Wallace and other widely known circuses. He was at one time custodian at the Elks Temple, in Peru, Ind., and was also manager, for a time, of the Baress Hotel in that city.

It is expected that the funeral service will be conducted at the Elks National Home tomorrow afternoon.

West Virginia Woman, 72, Dies Standing Up

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., July 30.—Mrs. Sarah J. Nutter, 72, died standing up last night at Quiet Dell. Unable to breathe while lying down because of asthma and an acute heart attack she was in an upright position in the arms of a son, Guy D. Nutter, when she expired.

Mrs. Nutter was the widow of Edward S. Nutter, a Grasselli farmer. Two other sons and a daughter survive.

HOME BREWERS SAFE IN NEW DRY REGIME

violator has been killed or of a spectacular raid on a night club by agents attired in dinner clothes.

Rigid discipline and courtesy are also to be credit marks of the new regime.

Schools for Agents.

Schools are to be set up in each of the twelve administrative districts for the training of agents and a system of daily reports is to be inaugurated. At the outset 24 agents are to be put through a training course here and they in turn will be sent out to conduct the schools in the districts. The agents are to be instructed in the law and rules of evidence, with a view to keeping down enforcement outrages.

Mr. Woodcock plans to put in considerable time on the road visiting one district and another.

An effort is also to be made to get more uniform sentences. Various judges give different sentences for the same type of offense, it was explained, and it is not believed this course makes for law enforcement.

Melvin Joins Race For State Senate

Anne Arundel Stirred as Annapolis Lawyer Files as Democrat.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., July 30.—The outstanding development thus far in Anne Arundel County political circles came today with the announcement by Ridgly P. Melvin of his candidacy for the State senatorship. Mr. Melvin is a well-known lawyer of Annapolis and vice president of the Annapolis Banking & Trust Co. Soon after the announcement he filed certificate of his candidacy with the board of supervisors of election. He is a Democrat.

Four years ago Mr. Melvin waged a battle for nomination for senatorship against the so-called "organization" forces, which were composed at the time of a coalition headed by Frank S. Revell and Isaac S. Nutwell. The latter had been a bitter anti-organization Democrat, but managed to get into the "organization" camp in the last campaign and was taken into its inner circle, where he was supposed to have led opposition to Mr. Melvin.

In that campaign Mr. Melvin developed considerable strength, and in the face of violent opposition from the "machine," carried four out of the eight districts of the county and polled approximately 3,000 votes. He was defeated by George T. Cromwell.

Fire Razes $5,000 Barn On Dr. A. P. Butt's Farm

Special to The Washington Post.

Davis, W. Va., July 30.—Spontaneous combustion from the curing of new hay, coupled with the present heat wave is charged with having caused the destruction of the new $5,000 barn of Dr. A. P. Butt of this place, on his island farm near here. With it were destroyed a Percheron stallion that cost $2,300, much farm machinery, about 40 tons of hay and other articles. The total loss is about $10,000.

The horses would have been in the barn but for the fact that Dr. Butt had ordered them turned out to pasture because of the excessive heat in the building.

TELEPHONES IN CITY SHOW GAIN OF 3,048

$9,803,000 IN PROGRAM

Telephones in the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia were increased by 16,578, or 9.5 per cent more for the six months ended June 30, than during the same period last year. On June 30 there were 635,447 telephones operated by the four Chesapeake & Potomas Cos. as compared with 600,447 in service on the same date in 1929.

Not only was there an increase in the number of telephones but, according to officials of the company, the number of originating telephone calls increased from 523,975,000 for the first six months of 1929 to 538,898,000 during the first six months of this year.

In Washington telephones have been increased 3,048 since January 1, making 161,961 in service on June 30. Originating telephone calls during the first six months of this year numbered 108,192,000, an increase of 1,205,000 over the same period last year.

Telephone construction in Washington for the first six months of 1930 involved expenditures of $2,013,000 as compared with $1,871,000 for a similar period last year. Additions and replacements to the telephone plant contemplated in the District of Columbia during the second half of the year will involve expenditures of about $1,467,000.

The telephone companies' construction program in the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia for the first six months of this year involved expenditures of $9,803,000 as compared with $6,315,000 for a similar period in 1929. These expenditures according to telephone officials were not entirely due to the growth of the system, as a considerable part of them were for plant replacements. Additions and replacements to the telephone plant in the District and these three States during the remainder of the year are estimated to involve expenditures of about $7,873,000.

Rebuilding Started On Clarksburg Plant

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., July 30.—George Vreeland, of Weirton, general manager of the Weirton Steel Co., today announced that the company's local tin plate plant, which is suspended because of the boiler explosion that wrecked its power house yesterday, killing two workers and severely injuring five others, would be in operation within two weeks at capacity, employing 900 to 1,000 men.

Work of rebuilding the power house was started. The damage, according to Mr. Vreeland, approximates $100,000.

GIRL COMPANION IS HURT

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., July 30.—James G. Shelton, colored, of this city, was released today under a $2,500 bond, after being held by county officials manslaughter in connection with the death of Edward H. Whitten, former University of Richmond gridiron star. Whitten died Sunday morning following injuries sustained when his roadster was wrecked in a collision with a sedan operated by Shelton.

Miss Mary Johns, of Howardsville, Va., who was an occupant of the Whitten car, was still in such a state of shock today that she could not make any statement regarding the accident. She was accompanying Whitten to Sugar Hollow, in the foothills of the Blue Ridge, to join a party of friends encamped there.

The Shelton and Whitten vehicles collided head-on on a curve near the Wood Airport, 6 miles west of the city, about 8 o'clock Saturday evening. Both Whitten and Miss Johns were thrown clear of the car, Whitten suffering a fracture of the skull and Miss Johns escaping with minor bruises.

Funeral services for young Whitten were held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon from "Hatton Grange," the home of his parents at Hatton, near here. The Rev. J. E. Daniel, pastor of the Hatton Methodist Church, conducted the service, assisted by the Rev. E. B. Meredith, of the Episcopal Church. The interment took place in the family buying ground on the estate.

Whitten was 25 years of age, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Whitten. He was for three seasons an end on the University of Richmond Football Team and was rated high among the Spider squad. He had recently returned to the home of his parents from New York, where he had held a position for eight months, to spend his summer vacation.

Men Fighting Fire In Forest Ask Aid

200 Acres Burned Over by Blaze on Great Capon Mountain.

Special to The Washington Post.

Berkeley Springs, W. Va., July 30.—Emergency fire-fighters were summoney today to help control a forest fire on Great Capon Mountain that was moving toward Sir John's Run. Twenty-seven men spent all Tuesday night trying to conquer the blaze, which allegedly started from a spark from a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train engine.

The blaze burned over 200 acres, including 50 large apple trees, on the Stearns place, and approached within 30 steps of the Stearns barn and 50 yards of the home before it was checked by backfiring. B. E. Dawson, fire warden, was in charge.

Spruce Pine Hollow, a recreational center on the State road between here and Martinsburg, was threatened by a forest fire which arose from an unknown source. Efforts to control this blaze were difficult because the volunteers had gone earlier to protect Sri John's Run. The fire warden was confident the threats could be conquered.

Rites Held in Staunton For John W. Hogshead

Special to The Washington Post.

Stanton, Va., July 30.—Funeral services were held this morning from Parnassus Methodist Church, this county, for John William Hogshead, 32, who was drowned in the Potomac River at Washington Sunday.

Members of the local American Legion Post and Staunton Masons had charge of the services, in cooperation with the Methodist pastor. Mr. Hogshead, a native of this county, is survived by his parents, two brothers and two sisters. He was a veteran of the World War and since his return from overseas has been in business in Washington, being head of a dental laboratory in the Medical Science Building.

CRANDAL MACKEY'S SON HURT IN CRASH

YOUTH MAY NOT SURVIVE

Robert Mackey, 19 years old, of Mackey's Hill, Va., is in a serious condition in St. Agnes' Hospital, Baltimore, Md., after an automobile accident on the road near Laurel early yesterday. Mackey is the youngest son of Crandal Mackey, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Eighth District of Virginia.

The lad was injured when the car in which he was riding with three other boys hit an obstruction on the road. He has a fractured skull, a broken collar bone and left jaw. He was reported slightly improved at the hospital last night.

The other boys are Enoch Totten, 21 years old, of 32 I street northwest; William R. Russell, 19 years old, of 532 Twenty-second street northwest, and Aram Dakshian, 21 years old, who gave no street address to Maryland authorities. They received treatment for minor lacerations and bruises and left the hospital.

Totten was said to have been driving the car when lights of a machine headed the other way blinded him, causing him to strike a wheelbarrow and barrel of tar, which marked a spot in the road under repair.

United Prayer for Rain Is Asked in Blue Ridge

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., July 30.—A "get together" of mountain ministers, "freeing themselves of worldly thoughts" and uniting in a petition to God for rain, is the only thing that will bring relief from the disastrous drought now sweeping through the Blue Ridge, is the opinion of the Rev. George Buracker, father of Ray Buracker, 14, President Hoover's "'possum boy" on the Rapidan River.

For several days Mr. Buracker has been arranging for his assembly of all preachers living within a radius of 10 miles of President Hoover's fishing lodge and join in the prayer for rain.

Republicans Outnumber Democrats in Berkeley

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 30.—According to figures compiled in the county courthouse here, Berkeley County has 16,249 registered voters, with 8,972 affiliated as Republicans, 7,071 as Democrats, and 206 as Independents.

Compared with 1928 registration, the Republicans show a gain of 617, while the Democrats show a loss of 34.

Well-Known Shinnston Man Dies.

Clarksburg, W. Va., July 30 (Special).—Hugh M. Martin, 61, a leading lawyer of Shinnston, noted in political circles for his activities as an independent Democrat, died today at his home there of a spinal affliction. The widow and a son survive him.

Indigestion
Immediate Relief!
What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.
The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.
One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.
Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids, 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.
"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

LITTLE ROCK AVIATOR IS AIR-DERBY LEADER

OHIO ENTRY IS MISSING

Lincoln, Nebr., July 30 (A.P.).—Lee Gehlbach, of Little Rock, Ark., led the all-American derby on the flight into Lincoln. He arrived about 3:46 p. m., after a trip from Ogden, Utah.

Herman Hamer, of La Salle, Ill., first flier to leave the Ogden Airport in the air derby this morning, was forced down late this afternoon at Doniphan, a village near Grand Island, Nebr. In a message to the local airport, Hamer said he was unhurt and his plane undamaged and that his landing was occasioned by a broken fuel pump. Another plane was dispatched immediately from here with a new pump and fuel for Hamer's plane.

Lowell Bayles, of Springfield, Mass., who took off from Cheyenne at 11:13 a. m. landed at the Lincoln Airport about 4:46 p. m., after stopping three times, he said, between North Platte, 210 miles west, and this city, the overnight stop. Motor trouble developing just after he crossed the Nebraska line forced him down, he stated.

The third derbyist to land was Charlie Meyers, of Cleveland, who dropped to the municipal field right after Bayles.

The fourth was Henry Ogden, of Inglewood, Calif., who circled while waiting for Meyers to get in the clear.

Salt Lake City, July 30 (A.P.).—Joe Meehan, Ironton, Ohio, entry in the All-American Air Derby, was still missing this evening, more than 24 hours after he was due to arrive at the Ogden airport on yesterday's jump from Los Angeles.

A check of airports between the two cities today failed to reveal any trace of him, and it was said he did not land at Las Vegas, Nev., or Milford, Utah, as many of the contestants did yesterday to refuel.

Trouble in Brazil State Held Ended

Successor of Assassinated President Denies Asking Aid to Keep Order.

Rio de Janeiro, July 30 (A.P.).—Officials of the State of Parahyba, where State President Joao Pessoa was assassinated recently, believed today all danger of serious trouble had passed.

Acting President Alvaro de Carvalho broadcast a statement to the effect he would carry on the principles of the Liberal party in the footsteps of his predecessor. He denied he intended to ask Federal intervention to maintain order.

The acting president's announcement quited rumors, heard since the March election, that the States of Rio Grande do Sul, Parahyba and Minas Geraes might form a coalition to enforce the will of the minority on the nation. The shooting of Pessoa and the consequent excitement of his supporters were believed for a time to strengthen this possibility.

HIDE IN THE DARK

By FRANCES NOYES HART

Author of "The Bellamy Trial"

Time: All-Hallows Eve.

Cast of Characters.

Doug King, hilarious and jovial, the life of every party and the founder of the March Hares.

Trudi, wise, witty and chic, with all the ease of manner of a grand duchess and the lack of manners of a fishwife.

Gavin Dart, a rather tired and immensely successful business man of 50, with shrewd, dark eyes and steel-gray hair.

Ray Hardy, the youngest member of the party, not long married and overwhelmingly in love with

Joel Hardy, her charming and irrepressible husband, who has not grown five minutes older in the last ten years.

Jill Leighton, graceful and gracious, stepsister of that legendary Sunny, the beloved girl whose strange death ten years ago still lay like a shadow over the gay group.

Larry Redmond, an agreeable young banker, who can not understand why Jill hates him.

Kit Baird, wanderer and adventurer in strange lands, who in his casual way does every romantic thing magnificently well.

THE STORY THUS FAR.

The thirteen gay revelers, calling themselves the March Hares, have gathered on Halloween at Lady Court, the old manor house, for a party. Some one starts a phonograph, the tune being "Underneath the Stars," Sunny's tune, Sunny herself, who every one loved, having been drowned in Washington.

Lindy, alone with Kit, confesses her love for him, while in another part of the house Larry proclaims his love to Jill. Kit and Doug quarrel when Lindy objects, for the moment, to dancing with King. Then Lindy starts telling a murder story.

NOW CONTINUE THE STORY.

"And are you going to tell us who killed his majesty's colonel, Lindy?"

"Ah, that's it. I told you that it was a good murder story, didn't I? And did you ever hear of a good murder story without a mystery? This one has sixteen or seventeen. For a long time every one thought that it was a runaway slave. Sidney wasn't a very nice young man, and if he thought that a slave was getting a little slack or rebellious he was apt to tie him up by his thumbs until he felt docile and energetic again. A week or so before the murder two Negroes escaped, and there were rumors that thy were hiding in the pine woods north of Lady Court—and one of the long windows out behind the cold-room was open. But they turned up as stowaways six weeks later on a boat that had sailed for the Indies the day before Sidney was murdered, and by that time every one was off hotfoot on another trail."

"You haven't even told us how he was killed yet," interpolated the connoisseur of murder, a shade reproachfully.

"Haven't I? He was stabbed—in the back of the neck. Some one must have crept up behind him while he was sitting at the writing table. He was facing the fire, you see, with his back to the rest of the room."

"Was he writing?"

"Now you've found another mystery, Gavin. here was a quill pen on the floor beside him and even a few grains of sand on the desk as though he had been shaking some out to dry the ink, but there wasn't a single solitary sheet of paper on the desk. The sand might perfectly well have been left from another time, of course."

"With a lot of nigger slaves that got strung up by the toes any time they went slack?" Joel shoved the still palpitant Ray somewhat unchivalrously aside in his contemptuous excitement. "Swell chance! No, sir! The boy that stabbed Sidney was after something he was writing."

"Surely that's obvious." Dart's fine, shrewd face was riveted in amused attention. "But what was this document that turned death from a horror to a solution?"

Magnificently Wealthy.

"Oh, a will, in all probability," The buoyant voice of Monsieur Le Coq's disciple was self-confidence made articulate. "Or a disclosure of some kind that meant some one's ruin. Or mayhap the noble lord was going in for a little nice lucrative blackmail. D'you happen to know what the state of the family fortune was in those days, Lindy?"

"Oh, Sidney was magnificently rich. He'd been wealthy even before he married Demaris Fane, and she brought him another fortune. This house was his wedding present to her. He had it copied exactly from her childhood home in Devon, even to the Chinese porcelain on the table and the clove pinks in the box garden and the silver altar in the chapel."

"Have you honestly got a chapel?" Ray's eyes were round with awe.

"Indeed we have a chapel—a perfectly divine one, all rose-colored marble from Italy. That door to the right of the fireplace leads into it and there's another door to the left of the altar into the servants' quarters, so that they could all troop respectfully in by the back corridors without coming through here."

"A chapel!" murmured Ray solemnly. "I didn't know that any one in the world had chapels except Catherine de Medici and the Pope."

"Oh, lots of the Maryland families had them. Damaris was very devout and she brought a priest over with her. He lived for twenty years in the room over the chapel that I'm using now. You must see that tomorrow, too—it has really lovely pine paneling."

"Jimmy Carewe saw her portrait in Richmond at your Aunt Chloe's," said Chatty, "and she said it looked enough like you to be your sister—yes, and your twin sister."

'Ah, but I do know her. Better than I know any one alive, I assure you. You see, I spent all my summers with Aunt Chloe when I was little, and Damaris was my playmate. There was a fat little trunk studded with brass nails in the attic that spilled over when you opened it, it was so gorged with letters and diaries and account books and commonplace books in that pretty, feathery hand of hers. I knew all about the little spaniel called Joy that died in her arms on the boat from England. I knew that at Whitsuntide Damaris had a new 'taffety' gown that changed from blue to green, and at Epiphany a holly-red pelisse lined with sables just off the French packet, with a tiny muff to match to hide her hands in and boots fur-lined to warm her feet when she rode abroad in the bottle-green coach. She had the most heavenly, heavenly clothes. But after Sidney died at his desk she wore black to the day of her death."

Died at His Desk.

"So Sidney died at his desk, did he?" murmured Gavin Dart encouragingly. But Lindy did not hear him—she was back in the apple-scented attic at Richmond, with Damaris Pallisser's papers fast in small, reverent hands.

"I know the first word that her little Humphrey said. It was 'star.' I don't know the first word that your Jeffrey said, Hanna. I know that she could never remember how to spell lily—I've forgot how you spell it, Chatty. It was Damaris who taught me what to do for bee stings and vapors and heaviness in the head—she taught me how to make sugar-wafers and syllabub and flip; she taught me how to cool a fever and tune a lute. You taught me half my lessons and all my manners, Jill, but you never taught me how to tune a lute."

Jill smiled at her joyously. "Lindy, I never taught you anything at all! That was nothing but sheer nonsense manufactured by you and Sunny." Her voice faltered and fell abruptly to silence, tripped by the beloved and forbidden name.

"You taught us more than any teacher we ever had," said Lindy, her own voice schooled to soft and deliberate gayety. "D'you remember the spring that we were 16 and you were 18 The school was closed for ten whole weeks because of that typhoid epidemic, and many's the night you kept the two of us there propping up our eyelashes with out fingers, trying to remember the Carlovingian dynasties and the boundaries of Ecuador."

"Oh, Lindy, you are the most abandoned fibber!"

"You knew everything," said Lindy, grave and sweet. "The distance from the earth to the moon and the distance from Lisbon to Rio—how many pennies made a florin and how many men made a legion—who was Pope when Dante was a little boy, and who was king when Whittington's cat came to London. There wasn't anything in the world that you couldn't tell us without once looking in the back of the book and we worshiped the ground you walked on. You needn't shake your head—you know that we did, Jill. Put another log on the fire, Kit, and let's have another song."

"But hostess, hostess, you've forgotten something." Dart's eyes laughed at her through the shadows.

"Hanna, is he always so abominably persistent? Look, that coffee's ready, isn't it? I didn't forget for a moment, but music's pleasanter than murder, isn't it, Rachel?"

"If you're asking me," said Ray forlornly, "anything in God's world is better than murder. But don't let me spoil any one's fun. I'm apparently the albatross around this party's neck."

Three Weeks Later.

"But there's hardly any more to tell, truly. The last person that saw him alive was the housekeeper who came in at about 11 to see if he needed more tapers or wood for the fire. The fire was burning clear and bright and Sidney was in a deep chair close to it, with a flask of port and some biscuits at his elbow and a book on his knee. They found him there in the morning seated before his desk, with his head fallen forward on his arms. The fire was out, the candles had burnt low, but there was light enough to see the dark stain that spread down the dove-gray coat from silver broidered collar to silver broidered skirts. He was dead as the little spaniel that Damaris brought from England."

Lindy sat silent for a moment, her eyes on the dying fire. Then turning swiftly, she broke the agreeably horrified silence: "And that was the end of my beautiful Sidney. Now please, please, let's get on with supper, children; it's getting frightfully late!"

"Lindy, you abominable little cheat, you know perfectly well that you've left out every last thing that matters!" Joel's voice was loud and fierce in his righteous indignation. "How about Mistress Nell Denry? You finish this story and finish it right!"

"Oh, Joel, you're such a baby!" He grinned back unrepentant at the soft, indulgent mockery. "All right—all right, then—Three weeks after Sidney's death, Mistress Nell Denry, the pretty wife of Roderick Denry, 3 miles to the west of Lady Court, kissed her husband good-night, went quietly to her bed, opened the veins in both her wrists, and died smiling, without a sound. Under her frilled pillow they found a packet of letters in Sidney Pallisser's hand, swearing eternal love, and hinting at flight to France—

A Packet of Letters.

"No one ever told Damaris how or why Nell Denry died. Those about her already feared for her reason—she would neither sleep, nor eat, nor weep, nor pray—she hung herself in black from brow to heel, and dressed Humphrey, who was 5, and Pam, who was 4, in weeds as dark as hers. It was more than a year before Humphrey and Pam sang in the sun again, free of the dark nightmare, and peace came back to Lady Court, though Demaris went in black until the day she died, twelve years later. She left all of her jewels and laces and half her great estate to little Pam for her dowry; and the other half and a little ivory box inlaid with coral to her son Humphrey, to be opened on his wedding eve. Humphrey married when he was 20 and on the night before his wedding he opened the little box in Damaris' old room. It held a packet of three letters, with Nell Denry's name at the foot of each, and beneath the packet two sheets of paper, and at their foot no name at all. As a matter of fact, something must have interrupted the writer. In the midst of a sentence giving the sailing dates of the boats bound for France, it broke off with a long, shaken scrawl and spatter of ink. The letter was in Sidney Pallisser's fine tall hand, and it began, 'Heart's Delight.'"

After a moment of silence, Ray Hardy demanded in a small voice of stupor: "Well, but—well, but—was that the letter Sidney was writing?"

"Of course it was the letter, you little nut." Joel eyed his spouse's blank countenance with undisguised diversion.

"So that's the solution," said Gavin Dart thoughtfully. "And your lovely Damaris wore black till the day she died, did she?. What a really remarkable young woman! I suppose that any jury in these stirring days would hand her back to her golden-headed infants with tears and a blessing."

"Jury?" repeated Ray in dazed tones. "Why should a jury—why, Lindy Marsden, surely you aren't sitting there telling us that your great-great-great-grandmother murdered her own husband?"

"Oh, Ray, who in the whole wide world told you that? Not I, not ever. There's always been a fued in the Pallisser family as to who did kill our most romantic ancestor—maybe poor Damaris has been dreadfully maligned.

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL

Reel life and real: The John Barrymores took their several-weeks-old daughter, Dolores Ethel, with them on their yacht to Alaska to enjoy the salmon fishing. The new skiff, christened the Infanta in honor of the baby, features a nursery that is said to be the last word in completeness and beauty.

Josephine Velez, who might be mistaken for her sister, Lupe, recently became an extra player on the Coast. She is a few years older than her sis-boom-ah sister.

Victor McLaglen and Victor Fleming, the director, bear a resemblance that goes farther than the first name. And it is said that Maureen O'Sullivan, whom you will see with John McCormack in "Song o' My Heart," and Frances Dee—probably a cousin of Chicka—are as much alike as Lea and Perrin!

Another of the series of dog talking pictures, which are rolling customers in some of the best aisles in the country, will be a travesty on war pictures, called "All Quiet on the K-9 Front."

The movie crowd, which once made Hollywood its stronghold, later moved to Beverly Hills and from there to the actors' colony at Malibu, on the seashore, is looking for a new place to build their homes that will insure more privacy.

Neil Hamilton, Warner Baxter and some others are investigating the merits of a tiny island out in the Pacific as a possible new movie colony site. If movie homes are built on it the owners hope to make it inaccessible to any but their invited guests.

Now aren't you sorry you hung around Pickfair all the time when you were out there!

You may be interested to know that when "Rain or Shine," the picturized version of Joe Cook's stage success, with the one-man vaudeville show in his original role, is presented at the RKO-Keith Theater here, beginning Saturday, Washington will be enjoying the world premiere of this phonoplay. First time on any screen outside the projection room!

And when Waring's Pennsylvanians come to town, to occupy the Palace stage also beginning on Saturday, they will be housed, as has always been their custom, at the Roosevelt, remote from the downtown hurly-burly.

It will be a source of regret to many that Tom Waring, pianist-vocalist of the original organization, will not be with the band during the local engagement, he having inexplicably elected to remain on the West Coast.

All that hullabaloo down at Union Station last evening at about half after seven was not occasioned by a bridal party but by a couple of other fellows.

Frank Capra and Sam Briskin, director and assistant production manager for Columbia Pictures, respectively, were being kissed aboard their train by a large and enthusiastic following led by Sam Galanty and Mannie Stutz, and on another track Eddie Cantor was arriving in advance of his Friday opening for a week of personal appearances at the Earle Theater.

Mr. Cantor was greeted by the perspiring executives of the local Warner Brothers office, aided and abetted by representatives of the press and a battery of flashlight and movie camera men. Not only that, but Eddie was also presented with a floral horseshoe and a large bouquet of loud cheers, just like the winner of the Kentucky Derby.

That may have been what he was wearing for all I know, Wednesday being what it is in my life.

If your curiosity has been aroused, next week's attractions in the first-run film houses will be as follows: RKO-Keith's, Joe Cook in "Rain or Shine;" Metropolitan, Eric von Stroheim and Constance Bennett in "Three Faces East;" Fox, Arthur Lake and Dixie Lee in "Cheer Up and Smile;" Palace, William Haines and Leila Hyams in "Way Out West," and Waring's Pennsylvanians; Earle, Dorothy Mackaill and Philip Strange in "Bright Lights" and Eddie Cantor in person; Columbia, Ronald Colman and Kay Francis in "Raffles," second week.

The Metropolitan, Fox and Earle inaugurate their new bills tomorrow, the others Saturday.

Hardie Meakin, managing director of the Fox Theater, is in New York attending a general session of the managerial forces in convention assembled—or something like that—that will continue through Friday. A part of the purpose of the conclave is to dedicate the new Fox general offices at 444 West Fifty-sixth street, said to be very elegant indeed.

One of the novelties offered the visiting firemen will be to sit in on a Roxy rehearsal, presided over by old Sam Rothafel himself, and a little later in the day to contemplate a public performance of the same bill they have just watched in preparation.

This, I take it, is to comfort them with the realization that Roxy makes just as many mistakes as they do—if he does!

Frank Albertson, in "Wild Company," currently on the local screen, is credited with the worst one of the month. Hearing of a woman who was taking a glider test, Frank remarked: "Just think of that poor girl, 'way up there in the air with no motor to glider."

He probably meant "no mother to guide her"—I'm smart that way!

German Fliers Await Good Weather for Hop

Kirkwall, Orkney Islands, July 30 (A.P.).—Wolfram Hirth and Oscar Weller, German fliers attempting a flight from Germany to the United States via Iceland and Greenland, spent today anxiously waiting for weather good enough for the trip to Iceland.

Conditions remained unfavorable during the entire day, and tonight was cloudy. There was a brisk northerly breeze and visibility was reported poor over Iceland. The plane was fueled and ready for immediate departure when conditions become favorable.

CANADA'S NEW TARIFF.

Canada's switch from a Liberal to a Conservative administration is interesting to this country chiefly because it means adoption of a new tariff policy. The change is being interpreted as both advantageous and detrimental to the United States. As a matter of fact, little can be known as to what effect the proposed Canadian tariff will have on trade across the border until the Conservative program is made effective at the special session of Parliament.

The Conservative party regards tariff protection in much the same light as does the Republican party in the United States. Duties are to be revised in the interests of Canada. The people of that country have recognized the value of a protective tariff, as applied in the United States, and are seeking to reap the benefits thereof. There is nothing unfriendly in this action, just as there was nothing unfriendly in the revision of American duties, some of which apply to Canadian exports. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservatives, who is to become prime minister, makes it plain that his party is actuated by no hostility against the United States. He considers the American tariff policy so fundamentally sound that he wants Canada also to have the benefit of it.

The chief advantage to Canadian-American trade will lie in the diminution of tariff preferences to Great Britain. The Liberals were so generous in their special favors to the mother country that a general wail arose in London when they were defeated. British manufacturers enjoy absolute free trade on about one-half the items covered by the present Canadian tariff. The Conservatives expect to bargain with the mother country, but they put the development of Canada foremost in their program. It is probable that many preferences will be withdrawn, which will give the United States a better opportunity in the Canadian market.

On the other hand, duties will probably be raised on products which Canada is capable of producing, but which are now being imported from other countries. Since two-thirds of Canada's imports are furnished by the United States, this means that some adjustments in the trade across the border will be in order. But any fear that American-Canadian trade is about to be disrupted is unwarranted and absurd.

Prosperous customers make commerce flourish. If Canada strengthens its own economic position and raises its standard of living, the people will demand more goods from the United States. Sale of some goods which Canada can best manufacture for herself will no doubt be curbed, but the great bulk of American commerce is not affected by tariff duties. It will continue to flow across the border regardless of what tariff policy is effective. The recent tariff changes put into effect at Ottawa concerned only about 22 per cent of the annual volume of goods sent to Canada, and some of those changes were advantageous to this country.

The United States is in a better position than any other country to serve Canada's needs. If preferential duties are to be reduced and the Canadian standard of living is raised under a protective system, the United States may ultimately gain far more than it loses through this tariff adjustment. Canada will likely continue to be our best customer and our chief source of supply.

BUSINESS ON THE UPGRADE.

The United States Steel Corporation believes that business definitely is on the upgrade. In issuing its income report for the second quarter of the year it called attention to the fact that its plants are operating at 63 per cent of capacity and said: "Indications in the industry point to an increase in this rate of operations during the balance of this quarter, with an improvement in volume during the last quarter of the year." This opinion may be regarded as of vastly greater significance than any other that has been made public during the period of the business depression.

The Steel Corporation is in strategically the best position of any business to feel out the economic pulse. The steel industry depends on the railroads, the automobile industry, the construction industry and almost all others for its business. United States Steel is the largest unit of the steel industry and when it reports better business it reports indirectly increased activity on the part of the railroads, the automobile and construction industries and all others. It may be, in view of substitute materials that have been developed, that the demand for steel no longer may be considered the barometer of business that formerly it was held to be, but the fact that substitute materials have come into general use, increases the significance of a report of increased activity on the part of the steel industry.

Moreover, the steel industry gives employment directly and indirectly to many thousands. When the steel mills are set to humming with increased activity, economic improvement is reflected over a wide front. The report of the United States Steel Corporation may be considered the best economic news of many a day.

SOVIET TRADE.

President Hoover has let it be known that his administration has no intention of choking Soviet Russian trade. So long as the laws of the United States are not infringed, American firms may deal with the Soviets at their own peril. This is the established attitude of the Government.

The United States does not approve of the Communist regime in Moscow, and has refused to recognize it. Under ordinary circumstances trade between the two countries could be carried on without much difficulty, but in this case the Soviet government itself is engaged in commercial activities. If citizens wish to deal with a political and economic dictatorship that has no relations with their Government, they must do so on their own responsibility.

The question is not one of the United States stepping in to throttle Russian commerce because of the antipathy of the American people for communism. It is simply a matter of protecting industry and labor from unfair competition. If the Soviet Union employs political prisoners in its mines and lumber camps with a view to dumping these products on the American market, the protective principle written into the tariff law should be brought into swift operation. Protection against the cheap labor of Europe has been established, and protection against the convict and slave labor of Russia must also be maintained. Otherwise the American standard of living would be dragged down to that of the Russian communes.

There is nothing discriminatory about the laws against dumping products of convict and forced labor in this country. They apply to all nations. Their purpose is not to stifle commerce but to protect American industry and labor. The Government is expected to enforce these laws, regardless of their effect upon trade, and will doubtless do so. There is no occasion for talking of wholesale embargoes until the Government is in possession of facts on which to base its action. But it goes without saying that there should be no lack of diligence in securing those facts, and no hesitation in laying down embargoes where foreign importers are violating the law.

BANKRUPTCY UNDER PROBE.

Flagrant abuses of the national bankruptcy act, which are reported from most parts of the country, have been given attention at the White House. President Hoover has directed the Solicitor General to make an exhaustive investigation into bankruptcy law and practice. As the result of this survey, he will probably have definite recommendations for Congress.

The widespread abuse of the bankruptcy laws came to the attention of the country a few months ago during an investigation in New York. It was found that many shysters are getting rich on the profits from receiverships. In one district 38 per cent of all the assets of bankrupts went to pay expenses of administration and lawyers' fees, while the creditors received but 62 per cent. Some cases of negligence on the part of judges in the appointment of receivers have been uncovered.

President Hoover says that the defective system now in operation is causing loss of $750,000,000 a year to American business men. In some parts of the country bankruptcy has reached the stage of "a racket." The President is to be commended for giving it his personal attention, and for the inauguration of a survey that will bring the deplorable picture before Congress.

Various attempts have been made to remedy the situation, but none have proved effective. During the last session of Congress Representative Celler, of New York, introduced an amendment to the national bankruptcy act, which would have allowed only national banks to serve as receivers. At present a judge may appoint any one who appears competent, and it is impossible for the courts to investigate the character of every one so appointed. Limiting the receivership field to responsible fiduciary agents will no doubt be an important part of the reform adopted, but it is well that the entire subject be given attention so that a comprehensive revision of the act may be recommended to Congress.

REPRESENTATION ALLOWANCE.

The to-do that was made over the "prohibition" clause in the executive order governing the expenditure of the representation allowance made available to the Diplomatic and Consular Service by an act passed during the recent session obscured the importance and the real purpose of the appropriation. The order specifically enjoins those to whom the allowance is made from using any part of it for the upkeep of private motor cars, for the payment of club dues and for the purchase of alcoholic liquors. The allowance may, however, be spent on receptions, formal and informal social functions of all kinds, for tips and gratuities, for flowers and wreaths and for any other expenses which, in the discretion of the Secretary of State, "are of a character to promote the representation of the United States abroad." There long has been a need for an allowance of this nature. Now that Congress has made it available, a distinct improvement in the character of American representation abroad should result.

Diplomats and consular agents of the United States are expected to maintain a position in society in keeping with their high office. They represent a wealthy and important Nation; they are expected to uphold the prestige of that Nation. In the past, only the diplomat or consular officer so fortunate as to possess a fat private pocketbook has been in a position to entertain properly, and it has come to be almost axiomatic that only the wealthy are able to aspire to high position in the foreign service. With the representation allowance, and as the Government proceeds to acquire residences for its foreign agents, this will be changed. The entire appropriation now available is but $94,000 and this must be distributed among 53 diplomatic and 42 consular missions, but it will enable foreign service officers to shunt part of the expense of official entertaining to the Government, whereas in the past they have had to bear the entire burden out of their private means.

The size of the representation allowance should be increased. The American people do not want their Government represented abroad shabbily. It is their desire that diplomats and consular officers shall occupy their proper place in the society of the country to which they are accredited. The American people are willing to foot the bills to this end.

POSTAL RECIPROCITY.

Cuba soon will be in a position to mail large quantities of her famous cigars to the United States, a parcel post treaty to admit them through the mails having recently been negotiated by the Cuban and American postal officials.

To complete the cycle of good will of which this treaty is a part Cuba should now lift the embargo she has placed on American pipe tobacco. This tobacco is popular on the island, especially among resident Americans and tourists. The heavy duty that the Cuban government has placed upon it, however, makes it a prohibitive luxury.

The importation of American pipe tobacco into Cuba under a reasonable duty would add to Cuba's revenues without materially cutting into the Cuban tobacco industry. In addition, it would add to the contentment of American pipe smokers sojourning in Cuba.

Washingtonians made 108,192,000 telephone calls in the first six months of the year, which proves that Congress has no monopoly on talk in Washington.

RUSSIAN WHEAT

From the Wall Street Journal.

Grain dealers in this country have lately been much perturbed by rumors that Russia had sold 4,000,000 bushels of wheat at Liverpool and offered upward of 12,000,000 bushels more, with further substantial quantities in the background. This would indicate the arrival of a formidable competitor with Canada and the United States.

But the grain trade is chary of accepting figures emanating from Soviet Russia. Principally because of the discrepancies in reports received from that country, the United States Department of Agriculture calculates the world's wheat crop exclusive of Russia, and therefore the trade has little authentic information of Russian possibilities. It is indicated that the country is approaching prewar productivity. A typical attitude taken by the trade in this country in connection with Soviet wheat sales is expressed by a New York grain house:

"Russian news is being vigorously distributed with numerous cables from the other side stressing the heavy offerings of Russian wheat for forward shipment. As foreigners are busy buying our wheat at advancing premiums, however, much of this news can be set down for propaganda, and it is still extremely doubtful whether the Soviet republic is much of a real factor this coming season. Last year Russia shipped about 6,600,000 bushels and there was enough advertising of this business to have warranted a business of 100,000,000 bushels. It is just possible the same thing can happen this coming year."

Latest available authentic figures of Russian production are of the 1927-28 crop year and reveal that while production during that year was at 90 per cent of the prewar 1913 figure, marketable grain, that which peasants offered for sale over and above their own needs, was estimated at only 40 per cent of the prewar amount. While grain for export has undoubtedly increased, it is extremely doubtful that it has reached the figures for prewar years, when Russia was a large factor in the export situation.

An early report recently had Russia offering new-crop wheat at the rate of 12,000,000 bushels monthly. Later London grain merchants pinned down evidences of a 4,000,000 bushel sale to Holland, which they stated had been offered all around the continent. Still later, reliable advices were received here that Russian sales totaled only one cargo, or 240,000 bushels.

With the French import wheat allowance raised to 10 per cent from 3 per cent, there will be an added field for cultivation by the export world, as France will undoubtedly be an importing wheat nation this year. Nevertheless the North American wheat exporter will do well to watch the Russian bear closely this season, particularly as India is again exporting to Europe.

VIENNA CLAIMS THE "HOT DOG."

The 125th anniversary of the "hot dog" should be an occasion of universal interest in the land where it has become the most widely known, if not the most popular article of food, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. No deep thinker has yet fully explained this colloquial transformation of Frankfurter sausage, nor has any scholar won a cherished Ph. D. by an exhaustive investigation of its history. To the foreign visitor the frequent sign must suggest that Americans are given to butchering man's faithful friend to make a motorist's holiday. Save in a few refined quarters, the use of the word sausage, which suggests an entirely different animal, has become almost obsolete.

It seems, however, that Frankfurt can not lay claim to the origination of its most famous product. The first Frankfurter was made in Vienna, of all places. The inventor had learned his trade in the German city, and fondly commemorated it in this product of his skill. We are told that his firm still exists, and that it has recently compiled an account of its history. It will be interesting to discover if the original recipe is followed still in the making of Frankfurters. We suspect that the "hot dog" may have deteriorated sadly since the days of its honored ancestor.

JUST FOLKS

THE WONDER WORLD.

The world has merriment in store
And joys of many sorts.
Whatever man wills, the want it fills
For nimble youth are sports.
From birth to age, for one and all,
Good pleasures are supplied
And none arrives who long survives
Whose wishes are denied.

Of all the minds and tastes and whims
Not one has been forgot;
Since dawn of thought, no man has sought
A joy the world had not.
For huntsmen woods are everywhere,
For fishermen are streams,
The queerest mind, its sport can find
However strange it seems.

High mountains for the climbers wait,
For sailors toss the seas,
Indoors and out and roundabout
Are countless things to please.
Whate'er the bent of mortal man
His sport is here to claim,
And near at hand, the world has planned
For him before he came.

Whate'er the hobby fancied best
'Tis here for man to ride,
With eager eyes, for butterflies
Some search the country wide.
No taste so strange, no fad so odd,
But man its joy may find,
As if the earth which gave him birth
For him had been designed.

There Will Be No More Dancing Until the Fiddler Is Paid.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHETHER you are rich or poor, old or young, your future welfare depends in some degree upon a correct understanding of the economic depression that now troubles the civilized world.

If it is a depression that will pass quickly, you can safely assume debts and plan expansions.

If business can not "boom" again for several years, you must sail close to shore.

In either case your safety depends on knowing the truth, and the only way to determine the probable duration of a period of depression is to discover what caused it.

Economic experts offer many explanations, all of them possibly true in some measure, but the chief cause is a simple one any layman can understand.

The simple old law of supply and demand makes prices, and prices make prosperity.

Normally, supply and demand remain very much the same, the producer growing or manufacturing just enough to supply the consumer's demand.

If he produces too little, demand makes prices high and induces him to make up the shortage; if he produces too much, his unsold surplus represents a loss and he curtails production.

Thus the law maintains a nice and profitable balance.

But the "boom times" of recent years broke the law, and when a law is broken somebody must suffer.

Instead of consuming in one year the goods they could pay for with that year's earnings, the people mortgaged their future.

They spent next year's earnings for goods consumed this year and thus made their consuming power seem twice as great as it was in fact.

The producers were fooled.

They said to themselves: "These people are richer than we thought. We must double production to meet their demands."

And they built greater plants to satisfy a consuming capacity that was wholly imaginary.

That is the whole story.

Now the people are catching up with their debts and the producers have a great surplus they can not sell.

Japan's crop of cocoons is the greatest in history and silk begs for a market at $3.60 a pound.

The world's excess stock of rubber exceeds 400,000 tons and the price is down to 13 cents.

Brazil is storing an enormous surplus of coffee and the price has fallen to 9 cents.

There is too much cotton, wheat, sugar, steel, copper—too much of everything except the gold that must pay for it.

And business can not "boom" again until the world consumes the surplus that a fictitious prosperity tempted it to produce.

You must eat your peanuts before you can have any more.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

SUMMER RESORT NEWS.

Winthrop P. Zwisser, who arrived here late yesterday, went for a swim this morning and is now in the local hospital having an outboard motorboat removed.

Geoffrey S. Wiffert, who has been a guest at the Halcyon House for the past week, left in a high temper today when he accidentally discovered his room was directly over a shooting gallery. He had blamed the noise on the motorboat exhausts.

Wingates Gerkes, who has summered here for many years, has given up his cottage. This year it had become entirely surrounded by Tom Thumb golf courses and they made Mr. Gerkes feel like an instructor in the world of amateur sports.

Col. Hilary Plosserts spent the early hours of the morning being rolled on a barrel following immersion resulting from walking off a pier here at midnight. The colonel says they ought to put lights on shore resort piers so a fellow can tell where they end.

Godfrey P. J. Zilleck has left the seaside Inn on account of the buttered corn-on-the-cob season. Mr. Zilleck has such an affable nature the children always climb on his lap after dinner, and he has nothing that will take buttered finger prints off a white suit.

K. Dudley Winterbotham, who was awarded first prize in the underwater swim, refused it today on the ground he was not even a contestant. "I didn't know anything about the underwater contest," he said. "I stayed under that long because I was afraid if I came up I would get my head knocked off by some fool in a sea sled."

Mrs. Martha Smytheington refused to join a bathing party today on the ground she had no pajamas.

Wesley Hickox's general store is doing a big business these days due to the placing on sale of a kidney plaster designed to be placed over the ears to shut out the din of outboard motors.

An unknown guest at the Blodgett House jumped out of the dining room window this morning. He had been served a portion of cantaloupe that was pleasant to the taste.

Mr. and Mrs. Theophilus Gwinch have parted and a divorce is likely. It seems that Mrs. Gwinch whitened all of Mr. Gwinch's business shoes and bedroom slippers in the dark last night, mistaking them for her white pumps.

TO A GOLF BALL.

Mercy on you, little pill,
Socked and smacked and pounded 'til
You're so battered and so sore
Nothing hurts you any more!
Bear a while each pain and ache
Soon he'll knock you, little ball,
Where you'll not be found at all.

The census will show about 123,000,000 people in the United States, most of whom may be found any evening on Tom Thumb golf courses. This is a gain of 17,000,000 people in ten years, which is very good, considering the careless auto drivers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

An Old-Timer Describes the Effect of Certain National Anthems on Primitives and Draws an Invidious Comparison With "The Star-Spangled Banner."

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am sure I am expressing the sentiment of hundreds of Americans when I say it is a matter of serious regret that some American poet has not long since written a genuine national anthem and that some American composer has not set the words of the anthem to inspiring music. The anthem should be distinctively American in its sentiment, and the music should be full of inspiration and feeling. For at least twoscore years efforts have been made to induce Congress to declare Key's poem, "The Star-Spangled Banner," our national anthem.

"The Star-Spangled Banner" is not an anthem in any sense of the word. Nor is it national, or distinctively American. A national anthem must reflect the characteristics of the people. "The Star-Spangled Banner" is only a poetical reference to a single incident in our history, that of the attack on Fort McHenry. It could equally apply to Fort Sumter or to the fort at Savannah.

The music to which the words have been set is without inspiration. In fact, it is sluggish, to which no expression or feeling can be given in singing. A number of years ago I spent a couple of weeks at one of the Indian agencies on the Northwest. One evening the band gave an open-air concert before an audience of two or three hundred Indians and a dozen or so white men. The band was an excellent one.

The Indians sat silent and without movement. Presently the band rendered "America," "Hail Columbia" and "The Star-Spangled Banner." The red men still remained stolid, not a muscle of their features moving. "The Wacht am Rhein" was played. The Indians became alert and their eyes took on some expression. Then followed "La Marseillaise." Instantly every red man sat up straight. As the notes of the last line of the first stanza came from the instruments every Indian sprang to his feet with a wild war whoop. Not one of them had ever heard the story of the song, but the music meant war to them.

Why can not some rich American philanthropist offer a large prize to the one who will write a genuine national anthem, and another to the one who will compose the most fitting music for the anthem?

Would the Virginian Who Demanded a Dry British Embassy Have America's Foreign Representatives Adopt All the Customs of the Countries to Which They Are Assigned?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have just read your castigation of the bumptious Virginian who demanded of Sir Ronald Lindsay that he dry up the British Embassy, and I am in accord with everything you say.

To lecture a diplomat sent here by a great nation and to demand that he adopt a law for which his own countrymen have no need, and over which Americans themselves are divided, this, it seems to me, not only shows bad taste, but is downright bad manners.

As you point out, the area occupied by the British in Washington is British territory and under British law, just as the area occupied by the American Embassy in London is American territory and under American law.

Would the ambassador's critic have our diplomat abroad conform to all the laws and customs of the country in which he happens to be stationed? Would he, for example, have him maintain a harem simply because that was the national custom, or wear his hair in a long queue simply because that was required by national law?

Beautiful Rock Creek Park Is Yet Offensive — Can't Something Be Done?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: To avoid the heat last Sunday I sought refuge in Rock Creek Park. I entered that beautiful retreat over a road leading in from Massachusetts avenue, parked my car about a quarter of a mile west of Connecticut Avenue Bridge and then struck out on foot in search of a cool spot under a tree.

Presently I saw such a spot. As I stretched out on the grass, however, I was assailed by a foul, nauseous odor. Whence it came I do not know even now, but I presume it came from a sewer.

I moved on, hoping to find a cool spot that at the same time would be free of the foreign influence. Three times I lay down, and three times I leaped to my feet, hounded by smells which, if they were not from the same source as the first, certainly were just as potent. Finally I went home.

It seems a pity that Rock Creek Park, with its natural grandeur and its soothing serenity, should be spoiled by a condition such as I encountered. Is it not possible that the condition could be corrected?

Speaking of Record Clouts, Here's One That Stopped Rolling 40 Miles From the Pitcher's Box.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have observed with interest the controversy as to whether the longest home run ever walloped at the Cleveland ball yard was by Walter Johnson, Babe Ruth, or recently by the Cleveland first baseman, Morgan. It reminds me of a record Washington four-bagger by Paul Hines.

The Washington diamond was then located across the way from the Government Printing Office at the corner of G and North Capitol streets, where the city postoffice now stands. Not far outside the left field fence ran the old tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. Hines' home run, after sailing over the fence, landed in a passing flat car and, according to the assurance of reputable fans, kept going and never touched the ground this side of Baltimore.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

U. S. Congress Group Guests At Convention

Parliamentary Union Is Viewed by American Legislators.

THE Inter-Parliamentary Union in England, which closed last week, brought a splendid climax to the London season. Many adopted Washingtonians, senators and members of Congress attended the sessions and entertainments which were carried off in the grande manner.

Among the Americans who went to the conference were Senator and Mrs. Henry F. Ashurst, Senator Alben W. Barkley, Senator Millard E. Tydings and Senator Burton K. Wheeler. Senator Tydings returned to New York yesterday aboard the Leviathan. Among the delegates from the lower House were Representative Andrew Montague, with Mrs. Montague; Representative Franklin E. Fort, who was accompanied by Mrs. Fort; Representative Morton Hull and Mrs. Hull; Representative Fiorello LaGuardia and Mrs. LaGuardia; Representative Sol Bloom, who joined Mrs. Bloom and Miss Vera Bloom in London; Representative Carl R. Childblom, Representative Fitzgerald and Representative George Stobbs.

King George received the heads of the delegations on July 21 at Buckingham Palace and on July 20 the Duke of Sutherland, chairman of the conference, entertained them at his country place near London. Lady Astor gave a party for the conference at her town house, where the star attraction was George Bernard Shaw.

Lord and Lady Luke, the brother-in-law and sister-in-law of Mrs. Ormond Lawson-Johnston, the former Mrs. Lyman Kendall, of Washington, gave a large tea for the delegation. Among many other festivities was a tea on the terrace of the House of Commons; a tea given by King George at Windsor Castle, and a magnificent party given by the Lord Mayor of London at the Guildhall. Among the small parties for the American delegates was a dinner given by the Ambassador and Mrs. Dawes, with moving pictures following, to which the daughters of the delegates were invited and the embassy staff.

The Maharaja of Karpurthalia entertained at a brilliant tea for some of the Indian officials, the wives wearing their native costumes.

The Japanese Ambassador to London and Mme. Matsudaira gave a dinner for the head of the Japanese House of Peers, Prince Tokugawa, and also for the head of their delegation to the conference. Among the other guests were Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom, Miss Vera Bloom and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, widow of the former Ambassador to the Court of St. James.

Ambassador Amaral Goes to Adirondacks.

The Ambassador of Brazil, Senor Gurgel do Amaral, has gone to the Adirondacks to pass some time, following a short stay at Atlantic City.

Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland, arrived in New York yesterday aboard the Leviathan after passing several weeks in Europe.

Mrs. Bradley Davidson has as her guests Col. and Mrs. Herbert Barry, of Llewellyn Park, N. J.

Representative David H. Kincheloe, of Kentucky, has joined Mrs. Kincheloe and their daughter, Miss Jean Kincheloe, at their home on Thirteenth street after a short visit in Kentucky. They will all return to their Kentucky home early in August to remain during the late summer and fall season.

At Seaside Resort

Bachrach.

MRS. HOBART NEWMAN, who with Mr. Newman is passing some time at Virginia Beach.

Representative and Mrs. Parker Corning have taken the house of Mr. and Mrs. Webster Curran Moriarty at Saratoga Springs and have visiting them, Miss Victoria Tytus, who has been passing some time in the Berkshires.

The Commercial Secretary of the British Embassy, Capt. Arthur J. Pack, and Mrs. Pack, formerly Miss Betty Thorpe, will return to Washington in about a month after a honeymoon spent in England and the continent. They will take an apartment on Massachusetts avenue. Mrs. Pack's mother and sister, Mrs. George C. Thorpe and Miss Jane Thorpe, are at Lake Minnewaska, Minn., where they will be until the middle of August.

Miss Helen S. Read and Miss Grace F. Hudson, of Kansas City, Mo., are passing several days at the Dodge Hotel.

Mrs. Eric Greenleaf leaves Saturday for Connecticut, where she will visit her small son, who is in camp near New London.

Mrs. Harriman to Visit In New York City.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman leaves Washington today for New York, where she will pass a few days before making several visits, with a tentative trip to Europe. Her daughter, Mrs. Harriman Russell, who is abroad, will sail for home on August 30, going directly to Mount Kisco, N. Y., where she will be joined by her mother and by her children, the latter now in California. Mrs. Harriman has leased her house, Uplands, near the Ridge and Reservoir roads, to Mrs. Eleanor Medill Patterson, who will come to Washington soon to assume her duties as editor in chief of the Washington Herald.

The First Secretary of the Italian Embassy and Countess Roncalli di Montorio will return to Washington on August 25 from Rome, where their wedding took place several weeks ago.

Mrs. Harry S. Black arrived in New York yesterday on the S. S. Olympic from a stay abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Matthews Dick, who recently sold their Woodland drive house to Senator and Mrs. James Couzens, have purchased the house at 2234 Massachusetts avenue owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wardman. The Wardmans will live on Twenty-fourth street in a house they have taken for the winter season.

Egypt's Envoy Gives Party For Jardines

Notable Group Attends Luncheon to New U. S. Minister.

The Charge d'Affaires of Egypt and Mme. Ali Ishmail Bey entertained at luncheon yesterday in honor of the newly appointed United States Minister to Egypt and Mrs. William Jardine.

The guests included the Ambassador of Mexico and Mme. Tellez, the Turkish Ambassador, Mr. Ahmet Muhtar, and his daughter, Mme. Enver Bey; the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, the Assistant Secretary of State, Mr. William R. Castle; the Secretary to the President, Mr. Walter Newton; the Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Ernest Lee Jahncke, the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Seymour Lowman, Mr. and Mrs. Hampson Gary, Miss Marian Jardine, Mr. William Jardine, Miss Katherine Lowman, the Second Secretary of the Legation, Mr. Moursi; the Egyptian Consul, Mr. El-Eissy; and the Attache of Legation, Mr. Andre Cattaui.

Bishop Freeman Spends Day in Washington.

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, who landed in New York on Tuesday from England where he has been attending the Lambeth conference, passed yesterday in Washington. The Bishop and Mrs. Freeman will leave New York by automobile today, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Raymond L. Wolven, and motor to their summer home at Sorrento, Me.

The Bishop and Mrs. Freeman will return to Washington and reopen the bishop's house in Washington Cathedral Close early in September.

Miss Morscher Is Married to Mr. Drechsler

The marriage of Miss Mary Florence Morscher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrece N. Morscher, of Clarendon, Va., and Charles Drechsler, of Washington, son of Mr. Louis Drechsler, of Santa Monica, Calif., took place last night in the Mount Vernon Methodist Episcopal Church, South, the Rev. George H. Fielding, pastor of the Clarendon Methodist Episcopal Church, South, officiating. The altar was banked with large baskets of white gladioli against a background of palms and ferns.

The bride was given away by her father and was attended by Miss Margaret Hunt, of Washington, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Virginia Harrell, Miss Loretta Hohein, Miss Margaret Owens, Miss Jeanne Rose, of Clarendon; Miss Georgia Sherry, of Richmond, and Miss Ann Kennelly, of Washington. Mr. Lawrence N. Morscher, jr., brother of the bride, was the best man. The ushers were Mr. John Kennedy Magruder, Mr. James Tucker, Mr. Parkes Fielding, of Clarendon; Mr. Will A. Whitney, Mr. Lester E. Barrett, and Mr. Victor H. Neal, of Washington.

The gowns of the bride and her attendants were of the period of 1790, that of the bride being of ivory satin with long train made in the style of the Empress Josephine with a neck trimmed with a touch of old lace caught with a tiny bunch of orange blossoms. The nun's veil was held with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies tied with ivory satin ribbons.

The gown of the maid of honor was of old rose taffeta in period style and she carried a bouquet of premium bud roses. The attendants' gowns carried out the colonial style and were fashioned of taffeta and dotted silk net, with tight waists and full skirts. They carried sunburst roses and gladioli. The gowns were of orchid, gold and green.

Miss Anna Mae Sasher, of Clarendon, was the mistress of ceremonies, and Betty Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder, of Clarendon, was the flower girl, dressed in a blue ruffled skirt with a tight waist. William Hohein, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hohein, of Clarendon, was the ring bearer.

Mrs. L. N. Morscher, the bride's mother, was gowned in orchid crepe chiffon with a shoulder corsage of rapture roses. A special section of the church was reserved for members of the Washington Delta Delta Delta Alliance and for parties of guests from Baltimore and Aberdeen, Md. Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Grace Boyle, of Boyle, Kans.; Miss Ellen Boyle, of Aberdeen, aunts of the bride, and Dr. Josephine Eshom Davis, a cousin from Ottawa, Kans.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Clarendon home of the bride's parents and was attended by about 200 guests. The receiving line was formed by the bridal party.

Dr. and Mrs. Drechsler left after the reception for New York, whence they leave Saturday for two months in Europe. While abroad Dr. Drechsler will attend the International Botanical Congress at Cambridge, England.

The bride's going-away costume was a new fall model coat in black and silver, with a small cape on the shoulders, and with dress, shoes and fox fur to match.

The bride is a graduate of the College of William and Mary, and has, for the past few years, been employed in the office of Horticultural Crops and Diseases of the United States Department of Agriculture. She is a member of the American Phytopathological Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Botanical Society of Washington, the Virginia Academy of Science, the Delta Delta Delta Sorority and the Phi Sigma honorary biological fraternity.

Dr. Drechsler is a native of Butternut, Wis., and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and Harvard University, from which latter institution he secured his doctor of philosophy degree in 1917. He served in the Army Engineer Corps during the war, and since 1917 had been with the United States Department of Agriculture, where he is now pathologisit with the Office of Horticultural Crops and Diseases. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Phytopathological Society, the Botanical Society of Washington, the taical Society of Washigton, the Deutsche Botanische Gesellschaft, the Wisconsin Academy of Arts, Sciences and Letters, the Torrey Botanical Club, the American Microscopical Society, the Washington Academy of Sciences, Sigma XI, and the Harvard Club.

Envoy's Wife Goes to Join Him Abroad

Countess Szechenyi Sails on Aquitania for Stay in Europe.

Countess Szechenyi, wife of the Hungarian Minister, sailed yesterday aboard the Aquitania for Europe, where she will join the minister. The countess has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, at the Breakers in Newport, and, with her three youngest daughters, sailed several days ago on the Whitney yacht from Newport to New York.

Count Szechenyi, with the two older daughters, Countess Cornelia and Countess Alice, has been abroad several weeks. It is a tradition with the Szechenyis that the entire family never sails all at once.

Mrs. Henry Lyne is visiting a few days at the St. Regis Hotel in New York.

The former United States Ambassador to Italy, Mr. Henry P. Fletcher, and Mrs. Fletcher will arrive in Newport tomorrow to join the summer colony for the remainder of the summer. They have taken an apartment at the LaForge.

Entertaining by the legations making their summer residences in Newport is in progress. The Greek Minister and Mme. Simopoulos entertained at dinner last evening at the Covell cottage, which they have for the season.

On Tuesday evening the Roumanian Minister, Mr. Charles A. Davila, gave a dinner at the Couzens cotage, where he is passing the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Q. C. Lamar announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Atala Mary Lamar, to Mr. Alton A. Lessard, on July 17, in Washington.

Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

134

A Princess bodice distinguishes this youthful model with capelet collar. It is equally smart made sleeveless. The capelet falls so prettily over the shoulders.

It is enchanting in "Buddha" yellow shantung. The collar and cuffs show smart contrast in white organdie edged with lace.

The circular skirt with tightened hipline extends into fluttering fulness at the hem.

This attractive dress may be copied exactly. For the medium size it takes but 3 yards of 39-inch yellow shantung with ¾ yard of 27-inch white organdie and 2¾ yards of lace.

Style No. 134 is designed in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust.

Are You Trying to Sleep on a Twenty-Year-Old Mattress?

—That was the experience of one prominent Washington woman. She saw Zaban's offer in the paper—"New Mattresses for Old Ones"—and investigated the service he promised.

She was surprised at the transformation—delighted with the buoyant mattress that he returned for her old one!

And more—the new ticking she selected from Zaban's many attractive patterns harmonized beautifully with the color scheme of her bedroom.

We sterilized her mattress in an electric oven with 230 degrees of heat, thoroughly cleaned and combed the felt, and covered it with a new ticking of attractive pattern. Really a new mattress in every sense of the word.

The price—only $4 to $9—puts Zaban's renovation service within the reach of all.

Phone Zaban's today—National 9410—and our representative will call, or if you prefer to pay a personal visit to the show rooms and factory we'll welcome you.

Beds and Bedding sold direct to you at low factory prices. Mattresses, Box Springs and Pillows Renovated or Made to Order at Factory Prices.

TOMORROW night will be the seventh anniversary of Station WRC. Among those who spoke during the opening program was David Sarnoff, now president of the Radio Corporation. Included in the list of musicians were Elias Breeskin, violinist, and Lieut. W. H. Santelmann and Taylor Branson who led the Marine Band. It was such a hot night that the participants are still talking about it.

Kenneth Berkley, now manager; George F. Ross, announcer, and Miss Ynez Whitney, secretary, have continued their duties at WRC ever since the opening night.

Broadcasters should approach Ben S. Fisher, acting general counsel of the Federal Radio Commission, with fear. Mr. Fisher was formerly district attorney at Coos Bay, Ore., and in that capacity hanged three men for murder.

THE new three-year Amos 'n' Andy contract is described by Variety as follows:

"Both parties agreed to use no lawyers. Instead N. B. C. told Amos 'n' Andy to state just what they wanted, which was written into the agreement, with both sides dropping entirely the business element.

"Agreement calls for a raise every six months, with the team promising not to plug any other commodity than the toothpaste they are now advertising. Actual amount of each raise is not known but $50,000 is named as the probable first raise. This sum was handed the boys by N. B. C. at the expiration of their old contract simply as a friendly gesture."

There will be a cymbalom solo in Melody Moments tonight (WRC, 8:30 p. m.). The cymbalom is an open-faced Gypsy piano played by hand like a xylophone.

Bostonians may want to hear Station WNAC, Boston, celebrate its eighth anniversary on the air tonight (WMAL, 7:45 p. m.).

"Under the Jolly Roger," a serial pirate drama, will be inaugurated over the WJZ network tomorrow night at 9:30 o'clock, but will not be heard locally.

NOT many youngsters just out of college looking for a job, even though they be honor men at Princeton, as he was, have got such a quick boost upstairs as has Frederic William Wile, jr. He was originally slated to "break in" the radio field in the Chicago office of Columbia.

In this he reckoned without John W. Garrett, newly appointed Ambassador to Italy, himself a Princeton man, who appropriated Mr. Wile, jr., for his private secretary at Rome.

With the blessings of Columbia and an invitation to return if he finds time, the boy sails on the Vulcania tomorrow from New York for the land of Mussolini.

Paris, July 30.

Boudoir Whimsicalities.

THERE are things that one has to have, and then there are things that one has to have, if you see what I mean. And of the latter Dame Fashion is more prodigal these days Personally, I couldn't convalesce without nightgown jewelry, those lovely necklaces, earrings and bracelets made of pastel chiffon or crepe, stuffed with cotton to give them the desired bead shapes.

Ah, another one of those gowns I just can't live without! You see, I am one of those ladies who are doomed by their good taste to know just exactly what kind of a color and what type of a gown belongs to them. And don't think for a moment, either, that that means I want everything I see, because I don't. But when I spot something that absolutely belongs to me in every detail, then I usually just grab it and let the rest of the gang worry about the bank balance.

So it was with the midnight blue chiffon Drecoll-Beer robe I have sketched for you today. I ask you wistfully, do you blame me?

A new design for clever fingers to embroider or paint or applique onto something pretty while she is taking her vacation. It's modernistic flowers, and I thought that you may like not only the design but some suggestions as well for how to, and where to, use it.

That's what I made for you in this week's illustrated leaflet, and in between these suggestions I put some notes about after-summer beauty repairs that are going to come in awfully handy for you in a few weeks. All in all, I think you had better send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for that leaflet, don't you really?

Nor do the lines change much for sister as she grows older and taller. Right into her teens, her frocks are practically the same in line as they were when she was in her "wee years." And mightn't that be the reason why mother, and even grandmother, so often wear almost the same type of thing as young sister? I think it was, although there is a marked tendency away from that idea these days, in afternoon and evening gowns, at least. But that does not mean that the youngsters' things can become formal again, as they were once upon a time.

And here's the daily reminder that you should look for the weekly Dare fashion letter in The Washington Post each Sunday.

Work's Bridge

A WELL-PLAYED HAND.

The above hand was played in a game of Contract. South bid one Diamond, West three Hearts, North passed and East bid four Hearts. Had West bid only two Hearts, East might not have felt strong enough to jump. The two bid would have shown strong Hearts, but would not have been a request for a jump with one probable trick.

If the hand had been played at Auction, South would have bid one Diamond, West one Heart, North two Diamonds and, after two passes, West would have obtained the contract with a bid of two Hearts.

When the hand was played, North started by leading the Ten of Diamonds—the top of three of his partner's suit. Dummy, with a four-chette, covered with the Jack; and South won the trick. South then shifted to Spades and North and South captured two Spade tricks. A third Spade trick was ruffed by West's Nine and then West led his Ace and Jack of trumps, the latter overtaken by dummy's Queen. Dummy then led the Queen of Diamonds and it was immaterial whether South covered or ducked; as a matter of fact he covered. West ruffed high and put dummy in by leading the Trey of Hearts to dummy's Eight, so that dummy could cash two Diamonds and give West two important Club discards. In this way game was made. If South had not covered the second Diamond, West would have discarded and East would have led a third Diamond.

The play when pointed out seems to be simple, but many holders of the West hand would have overlooked the chance of establishing and cashing dummy's Diamonds. In that case after ruffing the third Spade they would have led four rounds of trumps and then would have attempted to make three Club tricks, although one Club trick lost would cost game. The realization that dummy has two sure entries in trumps makes it easy to select the correct play.

INDOOR AND OUTDOOR GARDENS

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

CAN you tell me what to do for a flowering plum tree? It is beautiful and healthy looking, but I notice that about ten leaves have been eaten. I can't see a bug or worm of any kind on it. Last year the tree was ruined by something in the same way. H. M. H.

Better spray your tree with bordeaux mixture at once. Repeat the treatment late in the fall and again in the early spring before growth starts.

Please tell me how to use bordeaux mixture for spraying shrubbery. When and how often should it be used? MRS. H. A. S.

In order to prevent injury to plants there must be an excess of lime in the mixture. I really think it is wise to purchase the prepared mixture from a seedman and follow his advice about diluting it. The following is the test that is recommended in the Garden Guide: Place a small amount of bordeaux mixture in a dish and blow upon the surface. If there is sufficient lime, the carbon dioxide of the breath will unite with the calcium of the lime to form calcium carbonate, a white precipitate. If blowing produces no white appearance on the surface of the bordeau mixture add more lime—it is unsafe to use. Shrubbery should be sprayed in the early spring before growth starts and again in the late fall after the foliage has fallen.

Please name the inclosed flowers (perennials). Also tell me when to spray, prune or fertilize a lilac bush (new bush which has just been set out). MRS. G. H. D.

The plant with the feathery leaf is a pyrethrum, the second specimen is a purple loosestrife or lythrum. A lilac bush should be pruned immediately after it has finished flowering. The first season it should be kept well watered. Give the bush a liberal application of bonemeal at this time, and in the late fall and again in the early spring before growth starts, spray the bush with bordeaux mixture.

AMERICAN GAS

REGULAR GAS PRICE

-all NEW-

The Crudes - The Process - The Refinery

THERE'S a NEW Orange American Gas all over town today—a new regular-priced gas with a new performance.

For many years The American Oil Company has been making gasolines and a special motor fuel—constantly improving methods—steadily working toward a definite goal.

And today The American Oil Company offers this NEW Orange American—a gasoline as outstanding among regular-priced gasolines as Amoco-Gas is outstanding among special motor fuels.

Today a new experience awaits the user of regular gas. A new and different crude from newly discovered fields. A new process of refining. A new, especially equipped refinery. All these have combined to produce a new Orange American Gas which raises regular gas performance to a height it never before attained.

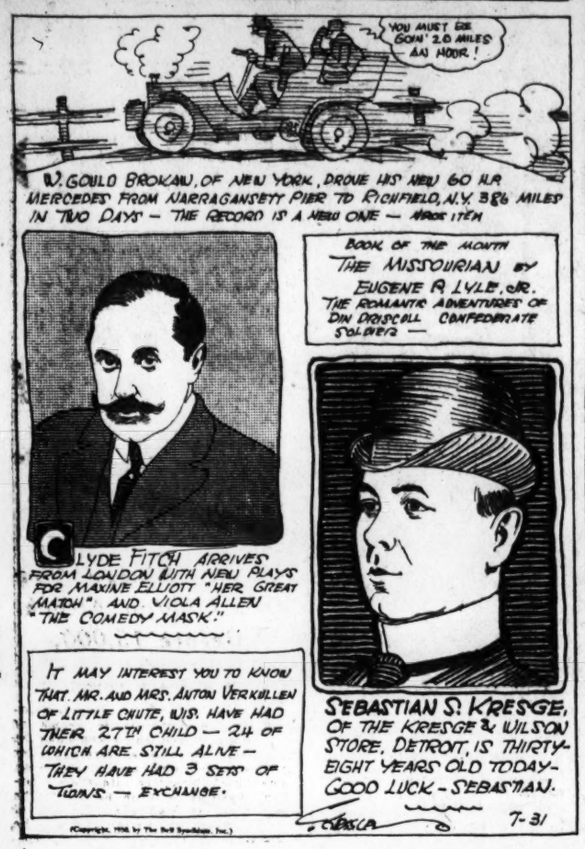

Get a tankful and you'll be thankful.

The AMERICAN OIL COMPANY
Affiliated with Pan American Petroleum & Transport Company

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 31, 1905.

Four hundred persons observed the 614th anniversary of the Swiss Confederation at Heine's Farm north of Brightwood. The celebration was under the auspices of the Gruetli-Vernin, a Swiss society.

Five persons overcome by heat.

What Today Means to You

"LEO."

IF July 31st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 9:15 a. m., 1 p. m. to 2 p. m. and 9 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., and 4 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Astrological influences will play their part on this date in setting something in motion which will poke a disturbing finger in your life. Disturbances in both your business and personal affairs. Mental awakeness! The child born on this July 31st will be quick-witted, inquisitive and "up and coming." It will be affectionate, but slightly jealous, and will be unhappy unless it is "Queen Bee." It will have definite talents.

You are a silent thinker, you talk too little. You take the old proverb about speech being silver and silence golden too literally, and your silences have been responsible for a multitude of misunderstandings. People have to guess what you think, and they often guess wrongly—why not put them right by voicing your sentiments? It is not hard to know when you are displeased, because you mope and sulk, but it is often hard to know why you are displeased. A frank word at such times has a value beyond all computation, but silence in such circumstances is not worth a brass farthing.

You are faithful, sincere, earnest and persevering. You are a hard worker, and you perform all duties in a grim, uncomplaining way. If you say you will do a thing, it is a surety that it will be done, and on time. You never let any one down at the last moment. You have an unimpeachable character, a blameless moral integrity, and most enviable virtues. You do not break either moral or State laws. If you would unloosen your tongue, and try to be more cheerful, the world would have no case against you. You are not a shallow person, but give the world a chance to enjoy and to know the secrets of your hidden depths. You are generous to a fault, and only selfish in your moods. You are capable of a very deep and sincere love.

Successful people born July 31:

1—John Hall—Presbyterian clergyman.

2—Paul B. du Chaillu—Traveler and author.

3—Ben Foster, artist.

4—Anthony L. Avonsky, musical composer.

5—Austin Carey, forester.

6—Richard Aldrich, music critic.

NATS BOW TO MACKS, 7-4, FALL 7 GAMES BEHIND

Westbrook Pegler Says

WILLIAM STRIBLING'S impositions on the American prize fight customers have been many and flagrant, but the young man performed the amende honorable when he knocked out Fainting Philip Scott in London. By doing so he will have forestalled another of Fainting Philip's swooning exhibitions on this side of the water, and that, in a business which allows the customers few happy moments, will induce a feeling of vengeful pleasure, mitigated only by the fact that retribution overtook Philip far from the view of those who had paid large sums on this side to see this done to him.

The moving pictures of Philip going into the coma on his own mattress, without sounding any claim of malpractice, and with the voice of the English referee counting him out, should do a prosperous business in all American centers of pugilism, and I should like to own the American rights to the same.

Regrettable U. S. Did Not See Knockout.

It is regrettable also that the Stribling boy, when he made the only thoroughly satisfactory fight of his entire career, should have chosen London, England, as the scene of this phenomenon, because he is by now indebted to the American patrons in the sum of several hundred thousand dollars and no fewer than 100 fights. However, it would be ungrateful to withhold appreciation of his great public service in eliminating Fainting Philip and obviating his return to America, and when William comes back there will be an occasion for a civic and popular reception such as New York has never given any one before.

Not to deny Bobby Jones nor Col. Lindbergh any credit for their achievements, it must be admitted that the British golfers whom Jones defeated had never done anything to the United States and that the people of this country never had any rankling grudge against the Atlantic Ocean which Col. Lindbergh conquered. The Stribling boy, however, has finally destroyed a nuisance who seriously impaired the peace of a

ARMOUR WINS TITLE, DEFEATING DIEGEL IN CANADIAN PLAY-OFF

Shoots 2 Rounds of 69 to Triumph by 3 Strokes.

7 on 28th Hole Fatal to Diegel's Chances in Close Match.

ANCASTER, Ontario, July 30 (A. P.).—Tommy Armour, great Scotch stylist, today won the open golf championship of Canada by defeating Leo Diegel, unorthodox American pro, 138 strokes to 141, in a 36-hole play-off for the title.

In the championship proper at 72 holes last week the two pros tied with scores of 277, Armour turning in a sensational 64 on his last round to 67 for Diegel.

Scoring Brighter Than in Tourney Proper.

The scoring today was higher, Armour making the two rounds in 69 each, a stroke under par for each eighteen, while Diegel, after keeping pace with his friend in the morning, slumped to 72, 2 over par, in the afternoon.

Diegel faltered at the eleventh hole of the afternoon round, the twenty-ninth hole of the day, when he took 7, 3 over par, while Armour holed out in the conventional 4. The 3 strokes gained here marked Armour's margin of victory.

This hole proved the nemesis of Johnny Farrell Saturday, and today it cost Diegel the title he had won four times. Leo hooked his drive into bushes, took 2 strokes to go 10 yards coming out, was short with his approach, and finally on the green in 5, took 2 putts. Armour, in the meantime, drove straight and true, sent his second on the green, and holed out in 2 putts for his par.

The battle was fast and furious throughout the morning, and the first

Fitzsimmons Hurls, Hits Giants to Victory

New York, July 30 (A.P.).—The combined pitching and batting of Fred Fitzsimmons was too much for the Boston Braves today and the Giants defeated Boston, 5 to 2.

Fitzsimmons allowed the Braves eight scattered hits, hit a home run with one on base, a double and a single and drove in three runs. Eddie Marshall was the second Giant star, making four hits in as many times at bat and turning in some neat fielding.

Bob Smith kept pace with Fitzsimmons until the eighth inning, when the Giant pitcher's homer put the finish on a three-run rally that settled the game. Smith struck out seven Giants, fanning Hogan three times in a row.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

ALEXANDRIA, July 30.—The first night swimming meet ever to be held here will feature Wednesday night, August 6, it was announced today by J. Prex Wilson, director of the playground system of the city.

Entries for the aquatic meet must be given to the life guards at the municipal pool not later than Wednesday afternoon, August 6, at 3 o'clock. Head Life Guard Sidney Hancock is in charge of the affair.

The events for the meet follow: Boys 18 and under—100-yard free style; 50-yard free style; low-board diving.

Boys 15 and under—50-yard free style.

Girls 18 and under—50-yard free style; low-board diving.

The Gator Club, a new Alexandria swimming aggregation, will make its first appearance in this meet. Sidney Hancock is coach of this organization.

An important reorganization meeting of the Del Ray Athletic Club will be held Friday night at 115 Clyde avenue at 8 o'clock. New officials for the club will be elected.

The Del Rayans have won ten games and dropped ten this year and hope to begin a winning drive after Friday's session. It is understood a new coach will be picked to take the place of the present mentor, Jeff Williams.

The St. Mary's Celtic Baseball Team will mix with the Fredericksburg Elks Sunday afternoon in Baggett's Stadium. This is the second of a three-game series. Mickey Kelliher, new coach of the Celtics, will occupy the first-base position.

The sum of $75.50 has been contributed by citizens in the campaign to raise funds to buy the American Legion Juniors top jackets and other equipment.

The Belle Haven Country Club Ladies Golf Team will meet the Winchester Golf Team in the second match over eighteen holes on the local links today. The Belle Haveners won the last tourney against this team.

World's Soccer Title Won by Uruguayans

Montevideo, Uruguay, July 30 (A.P.). Uruguay won the international soccer tournament today by defeating Argentina, 4 to 2, in a hard-fought final match. Trailing by 1 goal to 2 at the end of the first half, the Uruguayans launched a furious second-period attack that turned the tide.

A crowd of 70,000 highly excited spectators saw Uruguay win the match which carried with it world championship recognition.

Richmond Boys Play Tennis for 12 Hours

Richmond, Va., July 30 (A.P.).—A tennis playing endurance record of 12 hours 15 minutes was claimed today by Frank Kellam, jr., and Sam Rudlin, both local high school team players. The two played tennis yesterday from 6 o'clock in the morning until 6:15 in the afternoon. Their statistician announced they played 32 sets.

Conti Given Release By Cumberland Club

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., July 30.—Joseph Conti, of Renovo, Pa., veteran third baseman of the Cumberland Team in the Middle Atlantic League, has been released, which leaves but two players now with the team when the season started. They are Rase and Burns. Conti was a swift fielder and batted about .240 this season. The developing of younger players and cutting down expenses were the reasons given for the release of Conti. His place is taken by Johnny Jackson, farmed here by the New York Yankees. He had played in 81 games this season without a miss until he was taken out to make room for Jackson.

Shamrock V Loading Supplies at Azores

Horta, Island of Fayal, Azores, July 30 (A.P.).—The Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's pride upon which he pins his hope of capturing the America's Cup this September, was safe and sound in Horta harbor tonight after having been out of contact with her convoy for five days.

The Shamrock was proceeding in company with the steam yacht Erin five days ago when mist and rain swallowed her from view. The trim craft carries no wireless and all attempts to regain touch with her were fruitless.

There was, however, no anxiety aboard the convoying vessel since the Shamrock has proved herself a seaworthy boat as well as a racer of quality and her officers and crew represent the best seamen Great Britain can produce.

The Erin ultimately steamed on to Horta to take on coal. She arrived this morning and the confidence of her crew in the Shamrock was proved well-founded when this afternoon the white sails of the cup challenger were seen billowing over her dark hull as she rounded Pico Point and came into port reporting all well.

The Erin and Shamrock tonight were hives of activity as fuel and supplies were being taken aboard and it was hoped both vessels would resume their voyage tomorrow. The Shamrock is using only sail power.

Grove Survives Late Rallies; Nats Use Four Hurlers.

Judge, Bluege Top Washington Attack Before 15,000.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

PRESIDENT and Mrs. Hoover headed an enthusiastic crowd of about 15,000 which welcomed the Nationals back home yesterday after a disastrous swing around the West. The Chief Executive told Clark Griffith, Washington Club head, that he was there to lead the Nats out of their slump; but, unfortunately, he could not help the Johnsons mechanically, and as a result they bowed to the league-leading Athletcis, 7 to 4, and dropped back to seven games behind them.

"General" Alvin Crowder and Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove were the starting pitchers; but the former was wild and ineffective and home fans had little over which to cheer until he left the box, and by that time the damage was done.

The Mackmen molded five runs from Crowder's slants in the first 4 1-3 innings as a result of timely hitting and the putting to good use of four of the five bases on balls he issued, with two Washington errors also helping them. Adolph Liska then came to Crowder's relief, and the hits necessary to give the Mackmen two more runs followed.

Nats Threaten in Second Half of Game.

It was following this round that the Nationals gave their followers their first real hopes, for Liska granted no more hits through the seventh; Lloyd Brown hurled a brilliant eighth and Fred Marberry fanned Miller, Williams and Dykes in the ninth. Meanwhile the Nationals, who had scored once in the fourth off of Grove, suddenly started hitting him, and on two occasions the ace of the Elephant herd was on the verge of being withdrawn from action.

In the sixth, when the Nationals staged their only real rally, Grove was within a hit of being pounded off of the peak, while he was on the ragged edge of being invited to quit again in the eighth, when the Nats had the bases loaded as the final out was turned in.

Although Joe Judge cracked out three hits, including a double, to lead both teams at bat, it was Third Baseman Ossie Bluege who was the Washington hero, for he scored one mate on one of his two hits and then doubled two more home in the sixth. It was a great day for third-sackers all around, for Dykes, with a single and triple, also was responsible for three of the Mackian runs.

A's Start Scoring In Second.

The visitors scored their first run in the second session, the result of singles by Foxx, Williams and Dykes, and then became 3 up in the third. Cochrane opened this round with a triple and Simmons walked. Then Foxx sent a sacrifice fly to West, scoring Cochrane. Ruel missed the center fielder's return peg; then threw badly to Bluege, and Hayes, recovering the ball, made a wild heave home, these two miscues allowing Simmons to score with the second run of the frame.

Washington scored its first run in the fourth, Manush opening with a double, taking third on Cronin's air

In the Wake of the Game

BLUEGE opened the game by dashing over in front of Cronin to grab Bishop's bounder and turn it into a snappy out.

Had Bishop not momentarily fumbled Manush's grounder after Judge had singled in the Nats' first, the Mackmen would have turned in a double-play. Manush's injured leg keeps him from running fast and he was fortunate in beating the peg to first, even though it did not help the Nats any.

The first three hits of the game, two by the Mackmen and one by the Nats, were blows to right field.

Rice raced across the foul line almost to the stands to make a sensational gloved-hand catch of Miller's looper in the second.

Crowder committed what might be called a baseball crime when he walked the weak-hitting Lefty Grove to fill the bases in the second. Three fast ones over the plate probably would have fanned the lanky southpaw and made the second out of the inning.

Grove made a fancy bare-hand stop of Ruel's hard bounder to end the home second.

Cochrane's triple, opening the third, was a liner down the right-field line which caromed off the wall all the way to center.

Grove returned the compliment which Crowder had paid him in the second by walking the Nat pitcher in the third. The first two offerings were strikes and then the "General" watched four wide ones pass him.

Bishop's Texas leaguer in the fourth was a lucky one, the hitter trying to hold his bat back after a partial swing. Crowder's offering happened to hit it and a puny pop to left resulted.

Manush certainly gave his injured leg a workout in scoring his run in the fourth. He had to stretch out after shooting his double down the right-field line and also to show considerable leg work in going to third on Cronin's sacrifice fly which followed.

Crowder walked a man an inning for the first four frames and then issued two passes in the fifth. These came in succession with eight of nine offerings being bad ones. Dykes then tripled both home and Crowder off of the hill.

Every Mackman had a turn at the tee in the fifth canto.

Dykes was looking up in the air while scooping up Liska's grass-cutter in the native fifth. "Self-preservation is the first law of nature," they say, and the Mackian third sacker certainly was protecting his face against a bad hop.

Liska and Judge pulled two nobby plays in the sixth. First the pitcher slipped while fielding Foxx's tap and made the throw while on the ground and Judge followed with a fine one-handed stop of Miller's hot grounder, making the out when the pitcher hustled to first to take the peg.

Williams went over behind Dykes for Manush's near Texas leaguer in the sixth round.

Ed Rommel hustled out to the bullpen and began warming up following Bluege's double, which scored two Nats in the sixth. Grove weathered this gale, however.

Chisox Errors Help Browns Win Twice

Chicago, July 30 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Browns today got revenge for two beatings administered by the White Sox in St. Louis, winning both games of a doubleheader, 3 to 2 and 6 to 1, the first game going ten innings.

The Browns did not get an earned run in the first game, seven errors by the Sox infield accounting for the hostile runs. The winning run in the opener was scored when Ryan dropped Jolley's throw, which would have retired the side.

Pirates Beat Cardinals On Bartell's Single

Pittsburgh, July 30 (A.P.).—Pittsburgh won its second straight game of the series today from St. Louis, 6 to 5, by getting to Haines in the seventh and eighth innings.

Bartell, who starred at bat for the Pirates with three hits in four times up, singled across the tying and winning runs in the eighth.

Haines, prior to the seventh, had held the Pirates to three hits and a lone run. Fisher, Cardinal right fielder, hit a homer with one on base.

HADLEY TO ATTEMPT TO CHECK MACKMEN TODAY

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

IT will be up to Irving Hadley to pitch the Nationals to victory over the Philadelphia Athletics in the final game of their abbreviated series at Clark Griffith Stadium this afternoon and Manager Johnson believes that this young right-hander will turn the trick.

Hadley has been the subject of much attention of late. There has never been any question as to his pitching repertoire, and the Nat leader has been giving him several lectures on the art of pitching and believes that they will bear fruit today.

Either Bill Shores or George Earnshaw is expected to do the enemy flinging, and the Nats are confident that they can get their share of runs from the slants of either of these. Victory is needed today to give the Nats an even break in the two games.

Johnson Is Not Discouraged.

While the Nationals did not win yesterday, last night Manager Johnson was far from gloomy. "At least we put up a battle," he said, "and had Lefty Grove on the verge of being yanked twice. I see signs of us coming out of our slump and wouldn't be surprised if we started off by winning tomorrow."

This will be the last game played here, except for a double-header against the Boston Red Sox on Sunday, until Friday, August 8, when the Cleveland Indians will be here representing the first visitors of the West's final invasion of the Capital.

Although the Nationals still owe the Kansas City Club one more player as part payment for First Baseman Joe Kuhel, who is scheduled to report to Manager Johnson today, President Clark Griffith stated that none of the present members of the team will be sent to the Blues.

"Our agreement is that we must give Kansas City an acceptable player between now and next season, but what I have in mind offering them is one of the youngsters who tries out with us next spring and fails. In case the man we offer them is not satisfactory, we must give them $7,500 in cash and that's probably how we will close the deal."

Outfield Situation of Nats Critical.

Outfielder Dave Harris is far from best condition, his injured ankle having failed to respond to treatments as fast as was hoped. This leaves Manager Johnson with only two extra fly chasers, both of whom may be listed as questionable at this time. One is Alvin (Jake) Powell, the Takoma Park Bearcat, who has been returned to the Nats by the defunct New Haven Club. Powell is quite inexperienced, but he has learned a lot during the past few months in the minors and was leading the Eastern League at bat when his team failed financially. He probably could put up quite a game at that now.

The other listed as a fly hawk is Art Shires, but Manager Johnson is not taking him seriously in this capacity yet and will not do so until after the "Great One" has had time to practice in the wide open spaces and has shown some ability in this respect. Yesterday Johnson passed up both, sending Myer to right field after West had given way to a pinch hitter.

Washington fans were given their first look at Pitcher Carl Fischer yesterday, the former Newark southpaw pitching to batters in the pregame stick drill.

There is a possibility of Buddy Myer getting back in the line-up against Mackmen in the final game of this abbreviated set this afternoon. "I only took Buddy out to freshen him up," said Johnson, while admitting that the regular secondsacker's failure on double-play pivots also had irked him at times, "and I'm likely to put him back in the starting line-up again, as he seems to be back in form again."

Manager Johnson had other worries on his mind yesterday besides the Athletics, as Mrs. Johnson is seriously ill and under the care of specialists.

Pitcher "Sad Sam" Jones, given a couple of days off to visit his family at Woodsfield, Ohio, following his pitching assignment in Chicago, rejoined the Nationals yesterday.

"Mule" Haas is out of the Philadelphia line-up nursing a sprained ankle. This has caused a shift of Miller to center and given Cramer, a rookie, the call in right.

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office.)

—Saratoga and Arlington Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 30.—For the second day of the Saratoga racing another good card of seven races is offered, featured by the Schuylerville Stakes for 2-year-old fillies. Other prominent events are the Green Mountain Steeplechase and the Ormsdale Handicap.

The Schuylerville is the third race and at 5½ furlongs. H. P. Whitney's PANISETTE should win and is a standout for the entire card. She won in New York and in Chicago, but was beaten in her next start at Arlington. She is entered in the large stakes, among them the Hopeful here, and seems to outclass this classy field. G. D. Widener's SOVIET, double stake winner on Long Island, is rated the contender. The Rancocas filly, LADANA, also is an impressive winner, beating a good field at Empire City. The Widener and Rancocas fillies each are at a weight disadvantage, having up 122 pounds, caused by penalties. The light weight of 115 pounds on PANISETTE will be in her favor. She should beat these at level weights. Others which seem to be above the ordinary are ANGRY PLUME, DARK MAGNET and FRIARESS.

FIRST RACE appears to be between two horses, SUN MISSION and BUD BROOM. SUN MISSION beat LAHOR and several others that were favorites over him in his racing on Long Island and at Empire City and is selected to win, although giving away 13 pounds to his rival. BUD BROOM has shown improvement, beating a smart field. BYRD is rated next best, but there is no recent line on him.

SECOND RACE — Steeplechases, which have become disastrous affairs wherever run, will be a duel between the ACE II and BROWN STOUT with the first-named having the best of it. THE ACE carries top weight, but none of the field are burdened with undue impost. CROSS ROCKS should beat the other starter. MORNING SUN, for third money.

FOURTH RACE—The Ormondale at a mile is for 3-year-olds. SARAZEN II is selected to win on his improvement since arriving at Saratoga some weeks ago, but he will have to run his best race to beat Frank Brown's STARPATIC, which has the advantage of a pound in weight and has not run a bad race this year. LAHOR is rated third. His recent races have not been up to expectations, and he will have competition from CAPSTONE for show money. SARAZEN II will be ridden by Walls and has worked so fast that it has become the town talk at Saratoga.

FIFTH RACE—SUN HATTER probably is best here, but HOLIDAY will make it close, and JUGGLER has worked well. The winner appears almost sure to come from among the three, but it is difficult without competitive racing among them to rate them accurately.

SIXTH RACE—The Paradise Purse for maiden 2-year-olds will be run in two divisions as the sixth and seventh races, with twelve in each. In the first division QUAKER is selected, but it took the advice of the clocker to select this one in preference to QUORUM, which appears to have a big chance and at least should be the contender. BILL is our next best in this division.

SEVENTH RACE—In the second section the horses may be better. ROAN ANTELOPE is selected and is said to be the best 2-year-old in Buxton's barn. MARTINELLI is a fast juvenile and has worked well. HURRY BYE has been burning up the track here and will make a strong bid for brackets.

ARLINGTON PARK.

The Glenellyn Purse, $1,600, is featured at Arlington Park, and SWEET VERBENA, a recent Chicago winner and which last year won the American Oaks, is selected to beat the somewhat uncertain WHISKERY, who has never run back to his 3-year-old form. These two horses seem to stand far above the remainder of the field. DEVON may get third.

ENTICE looks best of the 2-year-olds in the first race. REVERBERATE will be closest to the pace and is dangerous. GOOD FRIEND may figure.

THE TARTAR will have MISS ROSEDALE to beat in the second race. He is improving, won recently, but likes mud. GERMAINE CHAUVELOT for the short money.

IN BETWEEN is much the best in the third for 2-year-olds. HYMAN is the one in the way slightly. BIRTHDAY GIFT should hold the others safe.

ESME should win the $14,000 Tatler Purse for fillies, fourth race. JEANNE WACHS looks like the contender and is a recent winner. CHELYS may get third.

ZUBELENA will have EASTER BOY to defeat in the sixth race, and BATTLING ON should beat the others.

COLEMAN'S INSECTS DRILL.

Spud Coleman's Insects will practice at 4 o'clock today on the Silver Spring Field in preparation for their game with the Baltimore Pontiacs Saturday.

LINDBERGHS CHALLENGED.

The Lindbergh Juniors have been challenged to a game this Sunday by the Lyon Park Juniors. If the challenge is accepted, the Lyons will be waiting to hear at Clarendon 563-W-2.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUN MEADOW, $9.72, $5.96, $3.88; CHUCKLING, $5.66, $3.62; PORTCODINE, $2.70.

SUN MEADOW began quickly from inside, soon took command and drew away to win as rider pleased. CHUCKLING, also away fast, kept close up and finished strongly to wear down PORTCODINE at the end. PORTCODINE saved ground on the inside and weakened under pressure in the final drive. WRIGLEY FIELD, away well, raced forwardly first half and had no excuse thereafter. HOMER L. closed a gap. The others were always outrun.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:48. Off at 2:49½. Winner, A. A. Baroni's br. f. (3), by Runclair—Shifty. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,050; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:46 2-5, 1:12 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—NIFTY, $5.28, $3.50, $2.80; PARTICULAR, $6.00, $5.56; LAWYER, $7.98.

NIFTY forced the early pace of ROMANY BAW while outrun by the latter to the far turn but, coming strongly entering the stretch, challenged and disposed of latter, drew away and kept advantage to the end. PARTICULAR had to race on the outside, could not gain until stretch and then closed with determined rush, getting up to outgame LAWYER in the final strides. LAWYER saved ground on the inside, was under extreme pressure all the last quarter, and held on well. ROMANY BAW had much early speed, but quit at the stretch turn when headed by NIFTY. SHACKELFORD tired. LINE RIDER was outpaced.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:18. Off at 3:21. Winner, W. P. Gaines' ch. c. (3), by Gnome—Calistoga. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,050; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:47 2-5, 1:12 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CALOME, $4.62, $3.38, $2.28; CORAL BEACH, $4.06, $2.38; SIR ARGO, $2.28.

CALOME settled into his stride slowly after the start, but moving into command gradually in the first quarter, opened up a strong lead in the first half mile and, continuing best, easily won all the way. CORAL BEACH had speed and, keeping close up, was forward factor, could never get to the winner and began tiring in the drive through final seventy yards. SIR ARGO was under pressure, staging strenuous long drive with RED CROSS SISTER, finally outgaming the latter at the end. RED CROSS SISTER raced well and had no mishaps. FETISH was taken up at the far turn and after being taken back, showed little.

FOURTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,800; allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:48. Off at 3:54. Winner, French Lick Springs Stable's ch. c. (4), by Glenmerin—Dream Girl II. Trained by S. B. Ott. Value to winner, $1,300; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:47 2-5, 1:12, 1:37 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—AMYVALE, $11.76, $4.82, $3.54; CANAAN, $3.52, $2.80; DISPLAY, $3.88.

AMYVALE began fast, set early pace, then was taken off pace to last position, followed the leaders to the stretch turn, and then closing with a tremendous rush on the outside, overhauled the leaders again and, after being ridden all over the track, got up to nose out CANAAN in the final strides. CANAAN shook off SUITOR and drew clear of opposition entering the stretch, looked all over the winner an eighth away, but tired under poor handling in the final drive. DISPLAY improved position gradually, loomed up strongly when straightened out in the stretch and was under extreme pressure in the final issue and seemed short. SUITOR weakened after three-quarters. BOOM appeared outrun and showed a dull effort most of the way.

FIFTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:23. Off at 4:24. Winner, Greentree Stable's ch. g. (5), by Touch Me Not—Twaddle. Trained by E. Haughton. Value to winner, $1,050; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:47 2-5, 1:12 1-5, 1:38 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PRATE, $4.98, $3.78, $3.06; NEALON KAY, $5.52, $4.32; ROYAL CHARGE, $4.54.

PRATE moved up fast reaching the far turn, quickly headed and disposed of BLEWAWAY and, retaining a safe lead, was never threatened thereafter. NEALON KAY had early speed, began dropping back at end of six furlongs, but came again strongly at end. ROYAL CHARGE outrun to the stretch turn, closed a big gap in the final quarter and finished fast. REIGH OLGA could never get up. BLEWAWAY quit entering the stretch. MAXIVA was done after six furlongs.

SIXTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:52½. Off at 4:53. Winner, Mrs. R. Pollard's ch. g. (4), by Fair Gain—Argumental. Trained by R. Pollard. Value to winner, $1,050; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:47 2-5, 1:12 3-5, 1:39 2-5.

OVERFIRE	113	4	7	7	7	7	7	7	Laidley	70.90

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FAIR ARGUMENT, $5.04, $3.42, $2.80; BOYISH BOB, $6.86, $4.42; JOHN T. D., $5.20.

FAIR ARGUMENT, close up under restraint, made his move entering the stretch on the outside and, overhauling the leaders, drew clear and kept BOYISH BOB safe at end. BOYISH BOB, always close up and finishing with a good rush, easily bested remainder. JOHN T. D., prominent from the start, boldly moved into the lead reaching the stretch run, but faltered in the final drive and was tiring fast at the end. OUR PAL could never get up. TOMMY LAD quit badly after showing early speed.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:22. Off at 5:24. Winner, H. P. Headley's b. g. QUIBBLER	110	6	6	5^{1}	5^{2}	3^{h}	2^{1}	2^{nk}	Richard	2.08
HERENDEEN	113	4	5	6	6	6	4^{6}	3^{8}	Deperini	2.35
PRETTY POSE	110	5	1	3½	2^{1}	2^{1}	3^{h}	4^{1}	J. Smith	3.42
PADDY	103	3	4	4^{10}	4^{3}	4^{3}	5^{6}	5^{4}	Hanford	8.53
WOOD AXTON	98	1	3	2^{2}	3½	5^{h}	6	6	Tinker	30.10

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SANDY SHORE, $24.14, $8.18, $5.30; QUIBBLER, $3.32, $2.96; HERENDEEN, $2.98.

SANDY SHORE, saving ground on the inside, set all own pace with a brief advantage throughout and, holding on well in the final drive, outstayed QUIBBLER. QUIBBLER closed a wide gap from a slow beginning, challenged strongly in the stretch, but was not good enough. HERENDEEN also came from far out of it and, finishing on the outside, was going fastest of all at end. PRETTY POSE had no mishaps and tired. PADDY was never dangerous. WOOD AXTON quit after showing early speed.

VA. AVENUE IN TRACK VICTORY

Congress Heights 2d in Playground Section Meet.

VIRGINIA AVENUE playground scored a hard earned victory in the Southeastern conference field and track meet yesterday when it nosed Congress Heights out in the last few events of the meet by 4 points. The points were divided as follows: Virginia Avenue 67½; Congress Heights 63 1-3; Buchanan, 28 1-3; Stanton, 12½; Orr, 9; Wallach, 4 1-3.

Only a fraction of a point separated the teams until the unlimited high jump was held and in this event Virginia Avenue stepped out to a safe lead when it took first and second for a total of 8 points. The valiant Congress Heights runners made a great effort in the final race, the half mile, taking first and third but fell a little short of overtaking the winners.

Postoffice, Agriculture In Crucial Fray Today

Today's game between the Postoffice and Agriculture will about decide the winner of the second series of the colored Departmental League. Should the Aggies win, they will earn the right to meet the winners of the first series for the championship. Should they lose, the same teams meet tomorrow in the final game.

Bailey is expected to start for the Aggies, with Greene on duty for the Postoffice. Both teams are evenly matched and a hard battle is in store. Game starts at 5:15 p. m.

WOMEN NET STARS PLAY IN QUARTER-FINALS TODAY

Miss Krucoff Victor in Two Sets

Corinne Frazier Is Beaten by Defending Champion.

Tabler Sisters Win in Doubles Upset at Columbia.

SEEDED players in the District of Columbia women's tennis tournament today will play their last matches before becoming involved with one another on the Columbia Counttry Club courts, as progress in the tourney yesterday carried it to its quarter-final stages.

Four singles matches, starting at 3 o'clock, will throw Frances Krucoff, Josephine Dunham, Ruth Martinez and Marywill Wakeford into action against unseeded players, but at least two of these lesser favorites are calculated to give a pair of the seeded quartet a real battle. Mary Ryan, who has been playing consistently of late, will tackle the defending champion, Miss Krucoff, while Louise Omwake will pit her strength against Mrs. Martinez, seeded No. 3.

While play continued without interruption in the singles yesterday, a slight upset occurred in the first round of the doubles competition when Corinne Frazier and Peggy Keyser, runners-up in the Public Parks women's doubles title, were beaten in straight sets by the Tabler sisters from Baltimore, 6—1, 6—1. The inability of the local pair to win more than two games caused some stir among the followers of the tournament.

Baltimore Pair Play Title Defenders.

The duo from the Monumental City will be forced ot step lively today if they would stay in the tournament, however, as they meet none other than the defending champs, Frances Krucoff and Josephine Dunham. This encounter is listed to start at 5 o'clock.

Corinne Frazier met with another setback yesterday in addition to her doubles defeat, when she was unable to stop the fast playing of the 1929 title holder. Miss Frazier extended Miss Krucoff to 6—4 before losing the first set, but was able to gain but one game in the finale.

Josephine Dunham had rather an easy time of it in disposing of Sarah Moore, 6—3, 6—1, while neither Miss Wakeford nor Miss Martinez saw action in singles competition. The Krucoff-Dunham doubles combination advanced by virtue of default in the first round, while Mrs. Martinez and Frances Walker, seeded No. 2, defeated Laudick and De Souza, 6—3, 6—4.

Yesterday's results and today's pairings follow:

Whitehill Saves Game As Tigers Beat Indians

Cleveland, Ohio, July 30 (A.P.).—Earl Whitehill saved a ball game for the Detroit Tigers today by some brilliant relief pitching, Cleveland losing the third game of the series, 6 to 5. The Indians had won the first two games.

Whitehill took Hoyt's place in the seventh after Cleveland had scored three runs and fanned Pinch Hitter Jablonowski for the third out. In the eighth, after Porter doubled, he struck out Morgan and Hodapp, the Indians' heavy artillery. Detroit was outhit, 14 to 9, but made most of its blows count for runs.

Falls Church Net Play To Start on Saturday

Entries for the second annual Falls Church Tennis Tournament will close at midnight tomorrow and will begin on Saturday, it was announced last night. As an effort is being made to secure the courts of the Washington Golf and Country Club for play on the first two days of the tournament, contestants are asked to get their entries in as soon as possible, in order that the adequate number of courts may be reserved. Entries are limited to Falls Church residents.

Trophies will be awarded the winners of both singles and doubles. The entry fee is 75 cents and are being received by Mr. Torreyson Reeves at Falls Church.

ARMOUR WINNER IN TITLE PLAY-OFF

nine holes of the afternoon rounds. There never was more than a stroke between the contestants until Diegel uncorked his fatal hook.

Diegel scored two birdies and went one over par on one hole going out in the morning and played every hole coming home in par for a score of 69. Armour had one birdie on the first nine and one hole over par, but he picked up a birdie coming home to leave matters all even at luncheon.

The first nine in the afternoon was played in 33 strokes, two under par, and the twenty-eighth, too, failed to give an advantage when a pair of fours were scored. And then came the turn in the tide, resulting in the eventual swamping of the long-hitting Diegel.

Long Putts Threaten Constantly.

Armour, who won the title in 1927 and has twice been runner-up, outplayed Diegel, on the whole. Long putts threatened to drop constantly throughout the morning round, approach putts from 20 to 25 feet stopping inches from the cup seven times in the first eighteen holes. Diegel, the champion in 1924, 1925, 1928 and 1929, on the other hand, was wild from the tee and through the green and had to make some great recoveries to keep pace with the black-haired Scot.

The play was in and out, good and bad. The fifth hole of the afternoon round was played brilliantly by both Armour and Diegel, a pair of birdie threes rewarding them.

Diegel won the championship last year with a great 274 and Armour was the runner-up, two strokes behind.

Yanks Beat Red Sox, 8-2, 10-1; Gehrig Star

Boston, July 30 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees slugged their way to a pair of victories over the Red Sox today, but it took them ten innings of the first game to get started. Lou Gehrig's home run drive over the left field fence in the tenth inning, his thirty-second circuit wallop of the year, broke up a pitching duel in the first game and led to an 8-to-2 victory for the Yanks. George Pipgras pitched a good game in the second contest and New York won by a 10 to 1 count.

Here Pennock and Milton Gaston staged a fine battle in the opener until Gehrig's homer ruined it. Two were on base when Lou made his clout and the Yanks followed with more hits, including a homer by Rice to score six runs. Pipgras held the Red Sox to eight scattered hits in the second game and fanned seven to score his first victory of the Yankees current road tour.

IN THE WAKE OF THE GAME

Nats' seventh and went down swinging on a third strike. Rice, who followed, also was a strike-out victim, taking a very questionable third strike.

Simmons sent Manush back almost to the stands in left for a hard-hit liner in the eighth.

Bishop was lucky to stop Hayes' short liner in the eighth, knocking down the ball, but not being able to recover it in time to make the out.

Dave Harris batted for West in the eighth and coaxed the second pass issued by Grove. Jones then ran for the injured fly-chaser. This pass, by the way, filled the bases. Myer then took Brown's place at the swinging block and ended the round by lofting to Miller.

Marberry faced the Mackmen in the ninth and got off to a flying start, fanning Miller and Williams, the first two to face him on six successive strikes. He made it three in a row by whiffing Dykes, throwing but four times to him, making nine strikes in ten deliveries.

This cut the alien margin to two runs, but the Mackmen rallied in the fifth and quickly enlarged their total sufficiently to give them the decision. Four big, juicy markers were made in this session. With one gone, Crowder walked two, and Dykes then cleared the bases with a triple. Liska came to the "General's" rescue and Grove happened to be swinging where the subway hurler was throwing and another triple resulted. Bishop singled Grove home before Liska could settle down. This was the last Quaker threat, but, as things turned out, it was more than enough.

Nats' Big Inning Is Sixth.

Round six was Washington's big inning. Judge pried the top off of it with his second single of the game and Cronin singled him to third after Manush had popped out. Bluege doubled his two mates home and tallied himself on Hayes' blow of the same proportions. Grove stopped this advance, but found himself in hot water again in the eighth, when one long native hit would have knotted the count.

Singles by Cronin and Hayes and a walk to Pinch-Hitter Harris filled the runways with two dead and Myer was sent to the tee in Brown's place. He no doubt had good intentions, but his best was a fly to Miller, which ended the final threat of the game, although Judge doubled in the ninth and was left.

SAYS PEGLER

great many citizens. Fainting Philip was becoming a menace. He was always coming back to flop on the floor with his gloves folded over his sensitive center, rolling his bottle-green eyes up into his head and moaning "Oh, I say, that's done it," while his manager hopped about the ring yelling "Foul!"

Phil Claims Foul in All American Bouts.

Philip appeared in three productions of great social importance in the U. S. A. and he complained of fouls in all of them, starting with his debut against Otto Von Porat, who hit him again before he could sink to the floor and knocked him out in a round.

Altogether, Philip collected more than $100,000 in America in return for which he expended a total effort of one left jab and one right cross to Jack Sharkey's mouth in Miami last winter. His manager, as ex-officio chairman of the New York prize-fight commission, was always jumping him over the heads of the other entrants in the heavyweight eliminations, reinstating him at the top of the eligible list, and if William Stribling had not knocked him out he would have been coming back again next spring to fight Schmeling for the heavyweight championship of the world. Some people have an irritant quality which makes their very existence a trial and Phil was a party who got in the customers' hair.

Stribling Also Has Trifled Fans' Patience.

The Stribling boy also had trifled with the customers' patience, and it would have been a perfect day for them if the two great apologists of pugilism had knocked each other out at the same instant, thus exterminating two pests. William fought half a dozen times in New York and presented half a dozen excuses. He was always suffering from private and confidential pneumonia, and when he fought Jack Sharkey in Florida he hadn't drawn on his pants before his loving parents and managers were tearing around the ringside, trampling down the inoffensive gunmen sitting there, to explain to press row that William had really entered the ring against the advice of his doctor, his lawyer and his pastor, as he was really in a dying condition and only went on because he did not wish to disappoint the fans who were ever first in his thoughts and affections.

But the process of advancement in the prize-fighting business is very erratic, and William, now that he has knocked out Fainting Philip, will be forgiven and advanced to the head of the class beyond Sharkey, who does not care to fight.

The customers are incurable optimists, and I am afraid I must be a customer at heart, because, considering William's recent record of knockouts, I am given to wonder if he has not, perhaps, conquered his early reticence and learned to punch. If so, being a much better boxer than Max Schmeling, he must be able to knock him out, too, although it will be a much harder problem to catch Schmeling in a ring than to knock him out of one.

K. K. K. Will Want to March In Welcome Parade.

The return of William Stribling should be a picturesque spectacle. Of course, his old adherents of the Ku Klux Klan will wish to march in the parade along with those New York customers of opposite conviction who will desire to honor him also for what he did in England. When a man has knocked out Fainting Philip Scott, it is no time to quibble over trivial differences. Still, it would be prudent to watch the parade, if any, from a discreet distance. There may be some people in this town with long memories who will recall his fights with Berlenbach, Loughran and McTigue and mingle a few anvils, Scotch bottles and paving blocks among the confetti tossed at him out of the high buildings.

Miniature Golf Will Stage "National Open" in October

Washington Included in Cities to Be Represented at French Lick Springs, Ind., in Play for $1,000 and Tiny Links Title.

THE Nation's golfers are preparing for the national open tournament.

What's this? Yes, the national open tournament was played at Minneapolis last month and Bobby Jones won it again, but, nevertheless, the great majority of the Nation's golf players are still anticipating it.

For it's the national open miniature golf tournament that is scheduled for October 25 at French Lick Springs, Ind. And the great bulk of the people who wield the mashies and putters are very much interested as the result of the wave of popularity that has greeted the introduction of miniature golf. Bobby Jones won his national open title from a field of 150 select golfers, but the man or woman who wins the national miniature open will have won it from a field composed of thousands of men, women and children who are playing the game.

Miniature golf, the intriguing little take-off of the links game, which has swept the country until there are now more than 3,500 tiny courses built by enterprising promoters, will provide a national tournament unique in its very purpose.

Worthy National Champion.

The national miniature open will be an open tournament in every sense of the word. It is open to men, women and children, amateurs and professionals, who will meet on the same basis, under the same conditions and the miniature golf champion of the country will indeed be the country's miniature golf champion.

Washington's miniature courses are lining up for their part in the tournament which will be held on an elimination basis. The miniature links in Washington will hold tournaments to determine their own champion, under the plans of the national tournament committee, and the local champions will meet in a playoff for the title of the District of Columbia and vicinity.

The national miniature open tournament sponsors will defray the expenses of the sectional champion to the national tournament at French Lick Springs. The entry fee per person will be $1.

Hagen Beat Barnes At French Lick Springs.

French Lick Springs, a notable resort, has been the scene of many major golf events, the most recent of which was the National Professional Golfers Association tournament in 1924 when Walter Hagen defeated Jim Barnes for the championship, 1 up.

French Lick Springs boasts what is called as the most magnificent and complete miniature course layout in the country, which will be the scene of the playoff among the sectional champions for the national title.

Tournament authorities are expected to announce in September the dates of the local playoffs.

Griffith Batters Heeney; Wins by Technical K. O.

NEW YORK, July 30 (A.P.).—Tuffy Griffiths, stout young heavyweight from Sioux City, Iowa, plastered a technical knockout over old Tom Heeney, the New Zealand veteran, in the ninth round of a ten-round bout tonight at the Queensboro Stadium. Heeney was helpless, his left eye badly cut, at the end of the ninth and the referee halted the battle without a blow being struck in the tenth.

Heeney, nearing the end of a career that reached its height two years ago in an unsuccessful duel with Gene Tunney for the heavyweight title, fought gallantly to stave off the rush of the husky youngster and did fairly well until the ninth. A right to the chin that almost drove Griffiths through the ropes in the first round gave Heeney an edge in that session and a fierce rally gave old Tom the eighth round.

In the ninth, however, Griffiths caught Heeney near the ropes in a bitter exchange and rapped a right to the left side of the veteran's face that cut his eyelid. Another right smash puffed the flesh about the eye, another cut it deeper, and in a few seconds Tom reeled helplessly around the ring. The bell rang before Griffiths could floor his man.

Heeney was steered to his corner and his seconds worked frantically to mend the damage. In their excitement they appeared to have splashed some of a blood-stopping solution in the eye and Tom couldn't see when he answered the bell for the tenth. The referee quickly stepped in and awarded the match to Griffiths on a technical knockout before Tuffy could strike a blow.

Capital City League Hears Two Protests

OLMSTEDS PLAY FIREMEN.

Olmsted Grill, winners of the Section B Title of the Capital City Senior Leage, will play the District Firemen at 5 o'clock today on Monument Lot No. 9. All Grill players are to report at 4:30 o'clock.

D. C. NETMEN WIN AT HOT SPRINGS

Special to The Washington Post.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 30.—Dooly Mitchell and Edgar Yeomans, of Washington, D. C., and Paul Kunkel, of Cincinnati, Ohio, advanced to join C. Alphonso Smith, jr., of Charlottesville, Va., in the semifinals of the Virginia State open tennis tournament here this morning by winning their third round matches in decisive fashion.

Yeomans defeated Robert Elliott, of Baltimore, Md., in the most spectacular match by scores of 6—4, 6—3. Playing his usual steady, consistent game Yeomans outmaneuvered his Baltimore opponent, who mingled brilliant shots with inexcusable errors.

Paul Kunkel defeated Fred S. Valentine, jr., of Richmond, in straight sets, 6—3 and 6—2, but the veteran Richmond player forced Kunkel to extend himself fully to win.

Mitchell Plays Strong, Steady Game.

Dooly Mitchell played a strong, steady game to eliminate Byron Huffman, of Cincinnati, by scores of 6—3 and 6—2. Huffman held Mitchell even for the first six games in the first set and then the Washington player put on a burst of speed and a powerful service, which he won without fail and played a crafty court game.

Herbert E. Bickel, of Richmond, and Robert Elliott, of Baltimore, defeated Lester Lee, of Roanoke, and Dr. R. F. Nicholson in the second round of the men's doubles by scores of 6—2 and 8—6. In the other doubles match of the morning Ewing Philbin, of New York, and Jackson Boyd, of North Carolina, defeated Judge William Clark, of Princeton, N. J., and R. F. Pyne, of New York, in straight sets, 6—4 and 6—4.

MEN'S SINGLES.

Quarter-final round — Dooley Mitchell, Washington, defeated Byron Huffman, Cincinnati, 6—2, 6—3; Paul Kunkel, Cincinnati, defeated Fred S. Valentine, jr., Richmond, 6—3, 6—2; C. Alphonso Smith, jr., University of Virginia, defeated Herbert E. Bickel, Richmond, 6—2, 6—3; Edward Yeomans, Washington, defeated Robert Elliott, Baltimore, 6—4, 6—3.

Hyattsville to Play Red Sox on Sunday

The Hyattsville Club, which draws a bye this Sunday in the Prince Georges County League race, will not be idle, meeting the Washington Red Sox Nine on its Riverdale Field at 3 o'clock. The Red Sox, among the District's best independent clubs, has a reputation for defeating the best clubs in Maryland. Hyattsville, which defeated Mount Rainier last Sunday, is now in top form.

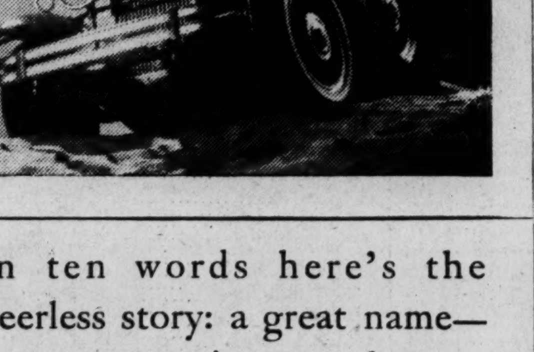

MAJESTICS SEEK FOES.

Games with unlimited teams for Saturday and Sunday are wanted by the Majestic Radio Nine. They are particularly anxious to get an out-of-town game for Sunday. Call Manager Wych at Atlantic 4046-J between 10 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

NORTHERNS TRAVEL.

The Northern A. C. Players will meet today at the Vic's Sport Shop at 11 o'clock. They play at Culpeper today at 4 o'clock. Games at Fredericksburg and Front Royal are booked for tomorrow and Saturday, with a Sunday game scheduled for Martinsburg.

STOCKS MOVE DOWN FROM 3 TO 17 POINTS

WHEAT AT 83⅜ CENTS

New York, July 30 (A.P.).—The bear flags were flying over the stock market today.

Accompanying a break in July wheat to the lowest levels since 1914 and in cotton to new lows for the season, share prices wilted under a withering renewal of liquidation and short selling. The closing index on 90 issues revealed a net loss of 4.6 points, but declines of 6 to 17 points ruled in the more volatile listings.

Selling was heaviest in the late trading when feeble attempts at a rally were quickly submerged under a fresh wave of the liquidation, and closing prices were the lowest.

The movement emphasized widespread disappointment over the market's resistance to efforts at breaking above the high of the recovery. Three times the bull crowd has endeavored to get stocks beyond that top, attained on July 18, and on each occasion it has received definite notice that the demonstrations were not being attended by sufficient public following to make possible a pronounced advance.

Southern Heads Decline.

It seemed this forenoon as though the moment for another gain might have arrived. The steel corporation's confident statement on the better prospects for that industry, coupled with an improvement in car loadings during the past week and reductions in crude oil output and gasoline stocks, were encouraging pieces of news. But the market, after opening irregularly higher, soon turned downward in sympathy with professional selling of a few stocks, such as Southern Railway and Warner Brothers Pictures.

The appearance of the weekly steel reviews seemed to stimulate bearish activities. Iron Age, reporting that ingot production was unchanged for the fourth successive week, said it was possible that the Ford Motor Co.'s shutdown might be extended for another week from August 4. There was no confirmation of this report in Detroit, but it served to call attention to the state of suspended animation in which the automobile industry finds itself, and was somewhat unsettling. Iron Age's pig iron composite price was reported at $16.96 a gross ton, the lowest since late in 1915, and a decline of 13 cents in the past week.

The performance of wheat in the Chicago pit was closely watched in Wall street. Prospects of a larger crop at a time when lower production is being advocated by many interests sent the July option down to 83⅜ cents and it closed only an eighth above the bottom for a net loss of 2⅝. Other positions were off nearly as much. Corn, which has been strong, reacted considerably more than a cent. Cotton lost a dollar a bale and closed near the bottom for net losses of 15 to 20 points.

Eastman Kodak Off 8 Points.

The larger declines in stocks were reminiscent of the June break. American Machine & Foundry (old) broke 17 points net. Allied Chemical lost 14, Advance Rumely preferred and Worthington Pump, 10, Peoples Gas and U. S. Industrial Alcohol 8, Columbian Carbon 7, A. M. Byers and Eastman Kodak 8, and du Pont, American Telephone and Westinghouse 5 or more.

There were declines of 4 to nearly 5 in American Water Works, Western Union, American Tobacco, Atlantic Coast Line, Air Reduction and R. H. Macy, and of 3 to nearly 4 in American Can, International Harvester, United Aircraft, North American, American & Foreign Power, Standard Gas & Electric, General Electric, Southern Railway and Warner Bros. Pictures, the last two making new lows. United States Steel, after touching 169 on the opening rally, broke to 164 and closed a shade above that figure for a loss of 3⅜. General Motors, in which the bulls had been active, lost more than 2.

Money rates remained steady, although there was a firmer undertone as the banks made ready for the month-end demand. Five millions in gold was taken for shipment to France and $1,000,000 was withdrawn for Canada, but there was a $3,100,000 importation from Venezuela.

General Gas & Electric Corporation

4½% and 5% Serial Gold Notes

Dated August 15, 1930. Interest payable February 15 and August 15. Redeemable in whole or in part at any time upon thirty days' published notice at varying prices. Coupon Notes in $1,000 denomination, registerable as to principal only.

Reference is made to a circular descriptive of these Serial Gold Notes, which is summarized in part as follows, for a more complete statement respecting the Corporation, these Notes and the redemption and other provisions in the Note Indenture:

Business: General Gas & Electric Corporation owns or controls public utility companies rendering electric, gas and other utility services to more than 47,000 consumers in important communities in South Carolina and Florida. Lexington Water Power Company, a subsidiary, is developing a hydro-electric site (expected to be in operation about October 1, 1930) on the Saluda River near Columbia, S. C., to have an initial installed capacity of 130,000 kw.

The Corporation has also made large investments in the securities of various public utility enterprises, including the Associated Gas and Electric Company and certain of its subsidiary and affiliated companies. The management regards many of these investments as temporary and plans to dispose of them as opportunities permit, with a view to investing the proceeds in securities representing interests in or control of additional operating utility enterprises.

Capitalization: The capitalization of the Corporation as of June 30, 1930, reflecting the issuance of these Serial Gold Notes, was as follows:

	Outstanding
4½% and 5% Serial Gold Notes, due 1931-1935 (this issue)	$50,000,000
Preferred Stock: $6, $7 and $8 (liquidation value)	65,858,800
Common Stock, Class A and Class B (no par)	7,215,670 shs.

There were also outstanding in the hands of the public at June 30, 1930, subsidiaries' funded debt and preferred stocks having a principal amount or par value aggregating $33,062,900 and 33,324 shares of minority Common Stocks.

Earnings: The following statement reflects the annual cash dividend and interest income on the securities owned by the Corporation at June 30, 1930, based on present cash dividend and interest rates, and expenses and taxes (excluding Federal Income Taxes) for the 12 months ended June 30, 1930.

Dividend and Interest Income	$8,186,142
Expenses and Taxes (excluding Federal Income Taxes)	104,845
Net Earnings	$8,081,297
Maximum Annual Interest Charges on these Serial Gold Notes	2,425,000

Net earnings over 3.3 times the above maximum interest charges

This statement does not reflect the income to be derived from the investment of the proceeds of this issue of Serial Gold Notes or any additional income that may result from the operation of the Saluda Hydro-Electric Development.

In the above income statement all dividend income is taken at present cash dividend rates. If such dividends on securities owned as are at present paid in the form of stock are included and the stock so received is valued on the basis of the current market value thereof, the foregoing net income would be increased by over $1,500,000 and would be equivalent to approximately 4 times the maximum annual interest requirements on these Serial Gold Notes.

Equity: The Corporation upon completion of this financing will have no debt except this issue of Serial Gold Notes, current indebtedness incurred in the ordinary course of business and a small amount payable to holders of called securities not yet presented for payment. These Notes will be followed by preferred and common stocks of the Corporation having an indicated present market value of over $135,000,000.

These Notes are offered for delivery when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of counsel. It is expected that temporary or definitive Notes will be available for delivery on or about August 15, 1930.

We Recommend These Notes for Investment

REACTIONARY TREND HITS BOND MARKET

FRENCH ISSUES ADVANCE

New York, July 30 (A.P.).—The unsettlement which depressed other security markets extended to bonds today. The result was an irregular movement downward affecting all sections of the list.

Despite the reactionary trend, the day was not without its constructive feaures. While stock privilege and speculative issues were depressed in sympathy with shares, seasoned domestic investment bonds held their ground. Trading was moderately active, total sales approximating $8,500,000.

Features were largely confined to the foreign list, where sharp contrasts developed. Gains and losses were about evenly divided, French governments and municipals were strong and the Republic 7s, Lyons 6s and Bordeaux 6s reached new 1930 highs, accompanied by British 5½s.

New Issues Fare Poorly.

New issues fared poorly, the new Austrian 7s breaking to 92⅛ after holding fairly steady since the recent offering at 95. The German 5½s sagged. Sales of the Austrian loan were the largest, approaching $1,000,000. Changes in South American bonds also were of a divergent nature. Colombia 6s, Colombia Bank 7s, Argentine 5s and Brazil Railway 7s made good gains, but Brazil 6½s and Bolivian 7s reacted 1 point each.

Against the downward trend, high-grade railroad and utility issues found progress slow, and the few gains which were registered were small. New York Central 4s rose ½ point to a new high. Missouri Pacific issues were in demand. Atchison 4s, Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific and Pennsylvania Mortgage issues held firm.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul bonds turned sharply downward, the 5s of 1975 reaching a new low on a 1⅜-point decline, and the adjustment 5s, a convertible issue, sagging ½ point. Other convertible rails worked lower, Atchison 4½s losing 1 point.

Chicago & Alton Rises.

Wide breaks occurred in International Railways of Central America 6s, which dropped 17½ points, and New Orleans, Texas & Mexico 4½s off 3. Chicago & Alton 3½s had another spectacular rise, gaing 4 points to reach a new high for the year.

Among utilities, American debenture 5s of 1965 was depressed 1 point and the convertible 4½s lost 4½ points. International Telephone 5s were firm. The convertible issue lost fractionally. Firmness was shown by Montana Power 5s, Laclede Gas Light 5½s and several other issues.

Treasury issues were dull and steady.

As the first public financing undertaken by the newly organized Ohio Edison Co., subsidiary of the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation, offering will be made tomorrow of $18,834,500 5 per cent first and consolidated holding mortgage bonds.

BUSINESS MACHINES COMPANY REPORTS

International Concern Has $5.73 Share Profit in First Six Months.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

International Business Machines Corporation, with plants in this city, Endicott, N. Y.; Dayton, Toronto, Sindelfingen, Germany and Paris, France, had earnings for the first half of 1930 which were 13.7 per cent ahead of the 1929 period and 48 per cent ahead of the 1928 period, according to the company's report made public yesterday, revealing net earnings for the six months ended June 30 of $3,654,310, after all charges and Federal tax.

Earnings were equivalent to $5.73 a share on 637,954 no par capital shares outstanding and compare with similar earnings of $3,213,601 for the corresponding 1929 period, equivalent to $5.04 on the same capitalization. Earnings in the corresponding 1928 period were $2,463,466, equivalent to $3.86 a share on the present capitalization.

Earnings for the second quarter of 1930 were also ahead of those for the first quarter. For the three months ended June 30 net earnings were $2,089,856 after all charges but before Federal tax, compared to earnings of $2,019,443 for the three months ended March 31.

Reduction in Power Rates.

Virginia Public Service Co., with headquarters at Alexandria, is announcing a voluntary reduction in its rates for all classes of domestic and commercial electric service, which is the sixth within the last two years. The new revised schedules, which will apply starting with September billing and which are applicable throughout practically the entire territory served by the company, will result in an annual saving to consumers of more than $400,000 and together with other reductions that have been effected since January 1, will bring the total saving to consumers to $500,000 annually.

An important feature of the new rates, officials of the company emphasized, is the fact that they will be practically uniform for the various classes of service throughout the company's entire territory. Previously it had some 30 different rates in effect, resulting from the fact that it is made up of a consolidation of about that many small companies. Another feature of the new rates is that they are comparable to any other existing rates in the State, lower than the majority and any municipal rate in Virginia.

Residential Lighting Rates.

For residential lighting the new schedule is $1 for ten kilowatt hours or fraction per month, minimum charge; 8 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 90 kilowatt hour per month thereafter; 6 cents per kilowatt hour for next 200 kilowatt hour per month; 4 cents per kilowatt hour for all excess over 300 kilowatt hours per month. For commercial lighting, $1 for ten kilowatt hours or fraction per month, minimum charge; 8 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 90 kilowatt hours per month thereafter; 6 cents per kilowatt hour for the next 200 kilowatt hours per month; 4 cents per kilowatt hour for the next 500 kilowatt hours per month; 3.5 cents per kilowatt hour for all excess over 800 kilowatt hours per month.

The new residential and commercial lighting rates will result in reduction from 2 to 69 per cent in the various towns on the company's lines, while new domestic rates, covering cooking, heating and refrigeration will result in average decreases of from 2 to 15 per cent.

An issue of $50,000,000 General Gas & Electric Corporation 4½ per cent and 5 per cent serial gold notes maturing August 15, 1931, to 1935, inclusive, is being offered today by a group headed by Harris, Forbes & Co., and including Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., Chase Securities Corporation and Chatham Phenix Corporation. These notes are priced to yield from 5.02 per cent to 6 per cent, according to maturity.

The first public financing to be undertaken by the newly organized Ohio Edison Co., which is the Ohio electric operating subsidiary of the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation, is placed on the market today through an offering of $18,834,500 Ohio Edison Co. first and consolidated mortgage gold bonds, 5 per cent series, due 1960. The bonds, which have been approved by the public utilities commission of Ohio, are priced at 98 and accrued interest to yield over 5.13 per cent and are offered by the investment banking house of Bonbright & Co., Inc.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, July 30 (A.P.).—A break of about $1.00 per bale in cotton prices here today under a renewal of liquidation combined with Southern and local selling, carried the market into new low ground for the season. The failure of bullish features in the weather and crop news to stimulate more aggressive buying may have accounted for some of the selling, while weakness in other commodity markets was considered a contributing factor. The new October contract sold off to 12.30, or 23 points net lower and closed at 12.34, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 15 to 20 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 2 to 5 points in response to the relatively easy showing of the later cables from Liverpool and hope of showers in the Southwest. Active months soon showed net losses of 11 to 16 points and while there was a little covering and trade buying on the decline, it was supplied on moderate bulges. Bullish features were noted in the weekly report of the Weather Bureau, but appeared to have been discounted, as they brought in very little additional buying and the market soon weakened again with prices reaching the lowest levels of the day in the late trading.

The new December contract sold off to 12.30 and March to 12.80, while May declined to 12.87, making net declines of about 17 to 23 points on the active months. Considerable trade buying was in evidence around 12.50 for December and 13.00 for May. This steadied the market, but the selling continued and closing quotations were within 2 to 4 points of the lowest.

Showers were reported at eight or nine stations in Texas, and the forecast was for showers in south Texas, which some traders here thought might possibly foreshadow changing weather conditions for this prospect, in the opinion of other traders, however, was not clearly enough defined to account for the weakness which was attributed partly to more aggressive selling on the current unfavorable trade reports and outlook for bearish end-season statistics. Trade buying was reported more active than recently during the afternoon, but otherwise, except for covering, very little support was reported.

Liverpool cables said that covering in that market had been supplied by realizing and reported fair sales of cotton cloths to China, with India business at a standstill. Exports today, 9,261, making 6,824,160 so far this season. Port receipts, 6,717. United States port stocks, 1,558,706.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 30 (A.P.).—As compared with July top prices a year ago, closing quotations today on wheat in Chicago were down 61⅜c a bushel. Rye shows even a greater drop, 63¾c, with corn 19⅜c off and oats down 18¼c. All the declines are figured on the basis of July delivery.

Cotton and sugar, as well as grain, touched new low record figures today.

Wheat fell below any point reached since July, 1914, when Europe's unprecedented huge military needs and relative scarcity elsewhere sent breadstuff values skyward. In violent contrast, today's transatlantic demand for wheat from North America was at various stages the slackest in a long while, and harvest reports from places northward toward Canada pointed to millions of bushels soon to be added to big stocks on hand.

Wheat closed heavy at virtually the bottom-most level reached, 2¼@3 cents a bushel under yesterday's finish. Corn closed ½@1⅞ cents off. Oats as well as wheat established a new low price record for the season, finishing 1¼@1¾ cents down. Provisions, however, scored gains, latest quotations being 2@20 cents net higher.

One of the severest jolts that staggered the wheat market today came from an estimate that the world's wheat crop this season will aggregate 4,080,000,000 bushels, a total 192,000,000 bushels more than was the case a year ago. This estimate was received from the foremost British authority, and caught the market when there was little news in sight to stimulate general buying.

With harvesting reported in progress right up to the Canadian boundary, and prediction of a large crop in prospect on the Canadian prairies than recently was looked for, wheat values here began to drop at a rapid rate, and at no subsequent period showed much power to rally.

Selling orders from Winnipeg were notably more frequent than usual in the wheat market here, and this circumstance attracted special attention, as Winnipeg wheat quotations were tumbling fast compared with Chicago. Otherwise, selling pressure here was no greater during most of the day than often is witnessed, and the demoralization that accompanied price breaks was attributed to comparative dearth of buying than to flurried letting go of holdings.

A striking feature of the day's operations in the Chicago wheat pit was heavy buying of September and December delivery of wheat for a house with foreign connections. Another subject of pointed comment was that the downward swing of prices here was in the face of reports that feeding of wheat to live stock in the United States is prevalent on a large scale not only in the Southwest, but throughout Central States as well, Ohio in particular.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat. Corn, though, showed brisk rallies at times, owing to official confirmation of severe widespread damage from drought and heat, with no improvement of the corn crop situation looked for unless general rains are quickly received.

Offerings of provisions were scarce, a circumstance related to upturns in the value of hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July (bids), 80¼; September, 82⅝@82¾, 86¼@86⅞; December, 87¼@87⅞, 92⅜@92½; March, 91¼, 96⅛. Corn—July (bids), 81; September, 82¾@82½, 86⅞; December, 76½@76⅝, 81½@81¼. March (bids), 79½.

Curb Review

New York, July 30 (A.P.).—Quoted values of curb market shares crumbled rapidly today, in sympathy with renewed liquidation in other speculative markets.

It was not until the last hour of trading that the market fully reflected the weakness on the stock exchange in the wheat market, but prices tended irregularly lower from the opening. The more active stocks generally closed 1 to 4 points lower. Sales aggregated 540,500 shares, the largest turnover in more than a week.

The utilities were most heavily sold. American Gas & Electric retained much of its recent advance, reaching 4 points. Electric Bond & Share was an active feature, closing at 82, off 3. Issues losing a point or two included American Superpower, American Light & Traction, Insull Utility Investment and United Light A.

A firm spot was International Superpower, an investment trust specializing in utility shares, which rose 4 points, to 37, and closed at 36, in response to the semiannual statement, calculating liquidating value as of July 26 at $46.10 a share. Goldman Sachs Trading, however, failed to respond to its semiannual statement, placing liquidating value above $30 a share. The stock was under pressure throughout the day and closed at 18¾, off 1¼. United Founders, another prominent member of the investment company group, closed off five-eighths.

The industrials were less heavily sold, although such recent strong spots as the Dresser shares lost more than 2 each, and Technicolor, Crocker Wheeler, Mapes Consolidated and Atlas Plywood were among shares recording similar losses. Aluminum Co. lost yesterday's 4-point rise.

Cities Service lost a point in active trading, and Humble and Gulf declined more than 2. These losses were in the face of favorable weekly statistics, showing substantial reductions in gasoline stocks and crude production.

Redeemable at any time, at the option of the Company, in whole or in part, on at least 30 days' published notice at 105 prior to August 1, 1937, and at ¼ of 1% less for each full twelve months period elapsed after July 31, 1936 up to and including July 31, 1955; thereafter at 100¼ up to and including July 31, 1958; and thereafter until maturity at 100; plus accrued interest in each case. Coupon bonds in interchangeable denominations of $1,000 and $500, registerable as to principal. Fully registered bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $5,000 and authorized multiples thereof. Fully registered bonds and coupon bonds of the denomination of $1,000 interchangeable.
The Company will agree to refund upon timely application the Pennsylvania Four Mills Tax to holders resident in that state
BANKERS TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK, TRUSTEE
Issuance authorized by The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

For further particulars concerning the Company and its First and Consolidated Mortgage Gold Bonds, 5% Series due 1960, we refer to the letter of Mr. B. C. Cobb, President of the Company, which we summarize as follows:

Business Ohio Edison Company is a consolidation of The Pennsylvania-Ohio Power & Light Company, Northern Ohio Power and Light Company, The Ohio Edison Company (Springfield), The Akron Steam Heating Company and The London Light & Power Company and will presently acquire the physical assets of Ohio River Edison Company and The Ohio River Transmission Company. These companies have conducted for a number of years an electric light and power business in Akron, Youngstown and Springfield and now furnish electric service to 132 additional communities in Ohio. The former transportation business of the company has been transferred to subsidiary companies.

Earnings For the 12 months ended June 30, 1929 and 1930, the earnings of the properties owned and to be owned by Ohio Edison Company were:

	1929	1930
Gross Earnings (including Other Income)	$18,848,312	$19,398,558
Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Taxes (exclusive of Federal Income Taxes)	7,976,988	8,135,140
Net Earnings	$10,871,324	$11,263,418
Annual Interest Charges on $68,074,000 bonded debt (including this issue)		3,607,198

Net earnings as shown above for the 12 months ended June 30, 1930, were over 3 times the annual interest charges on all bonds to be presently outstanding including this issue, and, after estimated provision for retirement reserve (depreciation) of $1,200,000 were over 2¾ times such charges.

Of the above gross earnings for the twelve months ended June 30, 1930, 96.7% were derived from the sale of electric current, 2.2% from steam heating and 1.1% from miscellaneous sources.

Security On the retirement of all outstanding Ohio River Edison Company First Mortgage Gold Bonds, which will be called for redemption and funds for the redemption of which will forthwith be deposited with the Trustee of the Mortgage securing said Bonds, the First and Consolidated Mortgage Gold Bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by direct first mortgage on a modern steam electric generating station on the Ohio River near Toronto, with a present installed generating capacity of 186,700 H. P. and on 39 miles of four-circuit high tension steel tower transmission lines, which have an aggregate value in excess of the principal amount of this issue. The First and Consolidated Mortgage Gold Bonds will be further secured, in the opinion of counsel, by direct first mortgage on other important fixed property and by direct mortgage on the entire balance of the fixed properties of the company, subject to the lien of certain underlying divisional bonds outstanding with the public to the amount of $49,239,500 (exclusive of $1,018,000 principal amount, the payment of which will be provided for in connection with this financing) and issued under indentures to be closed by provisions of the Mortgage as to issuance of additional bonds to the public.

Supervision The Company is controlled through ownership of all of its common stock by The Commonwealth & Southern Corporation.

Legal matters in connection with the issuance of these Bonds will be passed upon by Messrs. Winthrop, Stimson, Putnam & Roberts and by Messrs. Weadock & Willkie of New York.

These Bonds are offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of counsel at 98 and accrued interest, to yield over 5.13%

CLAIRVOYANTS

CLAIRVOYANT THE MAN WHO KNOWS

608 12th St. N.W.

Over Woolworth's 5c & 10c Store

This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been, just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry; whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travel, lost or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds; whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power.

Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

ARLINGTON OPENS SCHOOL WORK BIDS

FIRE ENGINE IS ORDERED

ARLINGTON COUNTY, BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Bids for enlargements to school buildings at Lyon Park, Bon Air, Aurora Hills and Aurora Heights were opened by the Arlington County School Board in the office of County Superintendent Fletcher Kemp at the courthouse yesterday. Concluding the opening of the bids the board went into executive session and considered the many bids received.

Superintendent Kemp announced that the board would award the contract at the meeting to be held tonight in his office at 8 o'clock.

Among the bids which are being considered by the board are those of the Northern Virginia Construction Co., $95,000; C. H. Buchanan, $86,000; T. T. Taylor, $102,000, and J. H. Bennett, $83,553. The figures given are for the entire contract, including all school buildings.

It is understood that the board, at its meeting tonight, will announce the appointment of the inspector for the Washington-Lee High School work which is now under way.

J. W. Coleman, of Lynchburg, Va., who has the contract for the additions at the high school, announced yesterday that he hopes to complete the work by Christmas Eve.

The county board of supervisors at its meeting yesterday at the courthouse, upon motion of Supervisor B. M. Hedrick from Arlington District, authorized the purchase of an American-La France fire engine to be delivered to the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department.

It appearing that notices of a petition to be filed with the board of supervisors by the owners and developers of the Abbey Mausoleum, Inc., had not been properly advertised, in accordance with the county ordinance covering such matters, Attorney Harry B. Caton, announced that he would have the matter properly advertised and bring it before the board at its meeting to be held September 30.

The board will be asked by the petition to permit the corporation to use the land adjoining the mausoleum, which is approximately two and one-half acres, as a burial ground.

The board fixed the compensation of the members of the board of equalization at $10 per day and announced the appointment of C. W. Harris as the clerk to the board. Salary of clerk was not fixed.

It was claimed the county had taken a portion of the land belonging to S. N. Samaha when widening the Wilson boulevard. The board, upon the recommendation of Commonwealth's Attorney Gloth, announced a board would be appointed to place a value upon the land.

Upon motion of Supervisor Hedrick the board authorized County Engineer C. L. Kinnier to collect a fee of $1 for all building permits for buildings costing $1,000 or less. For all over $1,000 the fee will be $5.

The board settled the question of whether churches should pay the front foot charges for water mains by authorizing the county engineer to collect from everybody, including church property.

The board took the view that it was not just that water users throughout the county should pay for the front foot charges in front of church property.

Pursuant to the request from the Public Utility Commission recently appointed by the board, the county engineer was instructed to obtain from the Public Utility Commission at Richmond the annual report filed with the commission by all public utilities in the county for the year 1929.

Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth announced yesterday that following instructions from the County Board of Supervisors that he proceed to collect all delinquent real estate taxes; that he will in the next day or two file with the county clerk's office suits numbering more than 600.

State Senator Frank L. Ball, of Arlington County, one of five candidates seeking the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Eighth Congressional District, announces he will speak at the Elks Hall at Alexandria tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

The Arlington County Monarch Club will hold its weekly luncheon meeting today at 12 o'clock at the Ashton Heights Woman's Clubhouse.

The annual carnival of the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department and Ladies' Auxiliary opens Saturday night and continues through August 9 on the grounds adjacent to its new fire house near the Columbia Pike Railway Station. Last year the carnival was only a three-day affair and cleared about $425, but it is hoped by the committee to clear between $700 and $1,000 by running the affair a full wek this year.

Many new features already are scheduled and others under consideration. Chief A. C. Scheffell is general chairman in charge of the arrangements and is being assisted by [illegible] A. Dawkins and Elmer J. Black- [illegible] Mrs. Margaret S. Tapp, president [illegible] Ladies' Auxiliary, is [illegible] ... [illegible] be a special meeting of [illegible]ive committee of the Par- [illegible]cher Association of the Pat- [illegible]enry School tonight at the [illegible] of the president, Mrs. F. N. [illegible]kley, 837 Virginia avenue.

Program, Mrs. J. B. Lowell; entertainment, Mrs. H. S. Coe, and membership, Mrs. L. F. Ward.

The Arlington Rotary Club meets today at the Washington Golf and Country Club at 12:30 o'clock. President A. F. Thelander will preside.

Mabel Davis, 9 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Davis, of Tappahannock, Va., struck yesterday by an automobile said by police to have been operated by Calder L. Hoke, of Towson, Md., is in the Alexandria Hospital suffering from a possible fractured skull and shoulder and is in a serious condition.

According to Justice of the Peace Harry Shepherd, Hoke was arrested and held at Fairfax on $1,000 pending the outcome of the child's condition.

Accompanied by parents and a sister, the two children went into a store to get drinks, and ran back across the road to the car, when Mabel was struck and injured.

Used Pay of One Wife To Keep Second, Claim

Clarksburg, W. Va., July 30.—Detected, it is alleged, when he collected the salary of wife, No. 1, and spent it on wife, No. 2, Edwin S. Stottlemire, 38, of Junior and Clarksburg, was today a prisoner in the Barbour County Jail at Phillippi charged with bigamy.

A woman, who says she is Mrs. Laura Norman Bennett Stottlemire, is employed in a Clarksburg Store. No. 2, who filed charges, gives the name of Mrs. Leta Day Stottlemire, of Junior.

HUMIDITY IS LOWER AS HEAT TOUCHES 89

CROPS ARE BADLY HIT

Although the mercury managed to struggle up as high as 89 degrees yesterday, the temperature was robbed of its discomfort by the humidity, which hung down around 16 per cent.

Opposite the offices of The Post, however, the thermograph in the kiosk on Pennsylvania avenue registered a peak of 100 about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, or 11 degrees hotter than the maximum reported as the city's official figure by the Weather Bureau.

While the low humidity content does not establish any record, it nevertheless marks the smallest amount of moisture in the atmosphere of any time since the hot spell started almost three weeks ago.

Temperatures will be about the same again today, the eather Bureau predicts, with no signs of rain anywhere within the range of the prediction.

(Associated Press.)

The searing drought which for weeks and months has baked large areas between the Rocky Mountains and the Appalachians was listed yesterday as the worst the country has experienced since State-wide weather records began.

J. B. Kincer, meteorologist of the Department of Agriculture, described it as unparalleled in the records which reach back 40 or 50 years.

Farmers who have watched their crops wither under almost unprecedented temperature records accompanying moisture deficiencies, particularly corn, pastures and fall truck crops, received no encouragement. The forecast division of the Weather Bureau said no relief is in sight for several days more at least.

"Every additional day without rain," Kincer said, "notwithstanding cooler weather, necessarily will further reduce crop prospects."

Winter Wheat in Good Shape.

Winter wheat harvest, however, is nearing completion without appreciable damage. Considerable deterioration to the late spring wheat was reported but harvesting of the early crop is well advanced.

Cotton has suffered in some sections. The drought has existed in some States since last December, in others since March and in still others the dry weather began in the growing months of June and July.

In addition to the scanty rainfall in July and increasing drought conditions already prevalent over large areas, three extremely hot waves followed to intensify them.

During July temperatures of 100 degrees or hgiher were reported on four to six days in the Middle Atlantic area and from six to as many as fifteen days from the northern portions of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and northeastern Texas northward over the Ohio and Missippi Valleys and Plains States to eastern South Dakota.

Generous Rain Necessary.

While cooler weather now prevailing throughout most of the dry area will check the rapid deterioration of unmatured crops, a generous and general rain is necessary for widespread improvement.

Corn has been particularly hard hit in some sections. The abnormally high temperatures and lack of moisture have prevented the pollenization essential to production.

The bureau said the "larger part" of the crop in Missouri was reported ruined to such an extent that it can not be used even for silage. "Serious and irreparable injury" was reported to the crop in most of Ohio; "decided deterioration" in Indiana; "losses already serious" in Illinois with further deterioration; Iowa, "hot and dry;" much upland corn in Oklahoma "burned beyond recovery;" much of the Nebraska crop is "still fair" but damage has been heavy.

West Virginia had the dryest winter since 1901 and the dryest spring of record. From December to June only 66 per cent of normal rainfall fell. Precipitation continued deficient throughout July.

In Maryland, the rainfall was below normal every month from December to June with only 70 per cent of normal precipitation. It was the dryest seven months period of record in that State. July continued extremely dry.

Rev. James Lapsley, 70, Succumbs in Craigsville

[illegible]unton, Va., July 30.—The Rev. Jam[illegible] Lapsley, 70, who was stricken with [illegible]aralysis Tuesday morning, died at Cra[illegible]gsville today. The funeral will be hel[illegible] Friday morning at 10 o'clock from [illegible] the Craigsville Presbyterian Church, of which his son, the Rev. Samuel B. Lapsley, is pastor. Burial will be at Williamsville, Bath County, where the deceased was pastor before retiring two years ago.

The Rev. Mr. Lapsley, who was educated at Davidson College, University of Alabama, and Columbia and Union Theological Seminaries, served churches in Alabama and North Carolina before coming to Virginia. He was a native of Alabama.

U. S. REVIEW BARES BUSINESS DECLINE

FIGURES FOR JUNE GIVEN

Richmond, Va., July 30 (A.P.).—Business in the Fifth Federal Reserve District, composed of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina and the District of Columbia, continued to fall off during June and the half year ended with trade at about the lowest point since the recession began last fall, says the monthly review issued by William W. Hoxton, chairman and Federal reserve agent.

The review found a few favorable signs in the activities of June and early July, but said that "on the whole there has been a progressive decline from month to month this year."

The discount rate on all classes of paper at the Federal Reserve Bank at Richmond was lowered from 4 to 3½ per cent, effective July 18, as low a rate as has ever been in effect at this bank. The circulation of Federal reserve notes continued a seasonal decline between the middle of June and the middle of July, and on July 15 the amount in actual circulation was $10,871,000 less than on July 15, 1929.

Deposits Remain Stable.

Reporting member banks decreased their loans on stocks and bonds by $17,196,000 between June 11 and July 9, while their agricultural, commercial and industrial loans rose $6,464,000, a net decline of $10,732,000, or 2.2 per cent, in total loans and discounts. Demand deposits dropped $3,973,000 during the month and time deposits fell off $1,980,000.

By comparison of figures a material shift of the bank's funds from loans to investments since last year was noted. This was attributed to the change from active business last year demanding credit to a slacker season with funds being accumulated from payment of loans and subsequently invested.

Deposits remained relatively stable despite a marked reduction in loans. Total loans by the 58 member banks declined $48,437,000 during the last year, but deposits showed a net decrease of only $2,425,000. Demand deposits dropped $11,025,000, but time deposits rose $8,600,000.

More Business Failures.

Debits to individual accounts in the 24 reporting cities for the four weeks ended July 9, 1930, totaled $1,260,212,000, an increase of $103,624,000, or 9 per cent, over debits totaling $1,156,588,000 during the preceding four weeks ended June 11, 1930. A general decline of 4.6 per cent from debits during a four-week period ended July 10, 1929, to debits in July this year was noted.

On July 9, 1930, time deposits in 58 regularly reporting member banks totaled $251,305,000, a lower figure than $253,285,000 reported on June 11, 1930, but 3.5 per cent higher than $242,705,000 reported on July 10, 1929.

Business failures during June showed an increase of 8.9 per cent over May, with 135 reported in June and 124 in the preceding month. The June figure, however, was 2.2 per cent lower than 138 in June, 1929. Liabilities totaling $2,286,226 involved in June, 1930, failures were lower than for any other month this year.

Jobless Situation Persists.

Little improvement was noted in employment conditions. South Carolina gave work to some unskilled laborers by beginning a road program. Virginia labor officials reported that out-of-State workmen had come to Virginia seeking employment, but in most cases had been disappointed. Reports indicated that while general employment conditions were better in the Fifth district than in most sections, they were not sufficiently good to take care of all home workers.

West Virginia was second in coal production figures for May with 10,078,000 tons. West Virginia, Virginia and Maryland mined a total of 11,108,000 tons of bituminous coal, approximately 31 per cent of the national production, during May.

Restrictions spread through Fifth district textile mills, and only 168,806 bales used in Carolina and Virginia, crease of 30.7 per cent from 243,682 bales used by Caroline and Virginia mills in June, 1929. Last month North Carolina mills consumed 92,417 bales, South Carolina 67,423 and Virginia 8,966.

Merchandise Sales Drop.

Virginia crop conditions were considerably below average, due principally to lack of rainfall. Agriculture in West Virginia also suffered from the drought. In North Carolina crop conditions were variable, with an excellent corn production in prospect. South Carolina crop conditions were better than anywhere else in the district.

Building permits for June in 32 Fifth district cities were fewer in number and lower in estimated value than in June, 1929, a total of 1,162 permits being issued last month compared with 2,299 in June, 1929. The valuation of the new work was $6,147,036, one of the smallest figures in recent years, and less than the low total of $8,620,540 in June last year.

Thirty-five department stores located in eighteen cities reported sales of 5.9 per cent less goods in June, 1930, than in June, 1929, a large majority of the stores reporting smaller figures.

Morgan Court Wins Suit Against Baltimore Firm

Special to The Washington Post.

Berkeley Springs, W. Va., July 30.—Officials of Morgan County today learned of a victory by the Morgan County Court in its suit against the Maryland Casualty Co., of Baltimore, a proceeding which involved $25,000 and which had been in the courts since 1924.

The case is the outgrowth of the bankruptcy of the Gephart Brothers, who failed while doing road construction work in this county. The Maryland Casualty Co. was on the bond of the Gepharts and when they went under took over the construction of the road. Later the company rendered the Morgan County Court a bill for $25,000, which the court refused to pay. The case then went to United States Court and yesterday Federal Judge G. W. McClintic decided against the Baltimore concern.

COMPLAINT CORRECTED

Following the filing of an answer by the Maryland Publishing Co., in which it is set forth that the facts complained of in a taxpayers' suit filed by Walter W. Mobley, of Derwood, have been corrected, Judge Robert B. Peter in circuit court at Rockville yesterday indicated that he would not issue an injunction sought in the suit.

The suit filed by Mr. Mobley alleged that three members of the board of commissioners of Montgomery County were also members of the board of directors of the Maryland Publishing Co. and that a fourth commissioner was a stockholder and that contracts for the printing of public notices had been let to the company in violation of the State statutes.

Capt. Joseph C. Cissell, counsel for the county commissioners, and P. H. Marshall, counsel for the publishing company, appeared for the defendants at the hearing yesterday. The attorneys for the plaintiff are Miss Vivian Simpson, John Oxley, Harold C. Smith and E. Barrett Prettyman.

The answer admits that such notices were printed in the Maryland News at the ordre of the county commissioners but cites that the four commissioners affected, Dr. Benjamin C. Perry, Lacy Shaw, Clagett C. Hilton and Robert L. Hickerson, had resigned their positions and had assigned their stock without remuneration or promise of future profit and denies that their acts were in violation of the statutes.

Upon promise of defense counsel to amend the answer so as to bar possibility of payment of any sums for past bills due the Maryland Publishing Co., the judge indicated that he would hand down his opinion Friday refusing the injunction. The defense answer points out that none of the county commissioners has received any wages or dividends or profits of any sort from the Maryland Publishing Co. since their connection with the company, which prints the Maryland News, regular Democratic organ of the county.

Rover to Lecture At Georgetown U.

U. S. Attorney to Be Professor of Criminal Law at Institution.

The appointment of United States Attorney Leo A. Rover as professor of criminal law in the Georgetown University Law School was announced yesterday. He will teach in the morning section of the school, which was established some years ago.

"Georgetown considers itself fortunate indeed to secure the services on its faculty of a prosecutor of such known and tried ability and experience in the District courts," it was said at the school. "He is a graduate of the Georgetown Law School in the class of 1910 and his appointment will be pleasing to Georgetown alumni generally."

Mr. Rover obtained his college education at St. John's College, of this city, receiving the degree of master of arts. He practiced his profession here after graduating from Georgetown and was appointed United States attorney about a year ago when Peyton Gordon was elevated to the Supreme Court bench. He had served as assistant United States attorney under Mr. Gordon. Mr. Rover has conducted some notable cases in the District Court and is generally regarded as a very efficient Government attorney. He will begin his duties at Georgetown with the opening of the term next fall.

65 Men Arrested In Handbook Raid

About 65 men were in an alleged handbook establishment at 218 Ninth street northwest when raided yesterday by Headquarters Detectives Hubert E. Brodie and T. C. Bragg. One man, Connie James Cimino, 33 years old, giving his address as a hotel on I street near Thirteenth street, was arrested.

Cimino was charged under the District of Columbia Code with bookmaking. The other men were released after their names had been taken.

"Number Game" Arrest Made at Walter Reed

With the arrest and arraignment of Fred D. Payne, Negro, police yesterday announced that they had broken up the "numbers game racket" so far as it affects Walter Reed Hospital.

Payne is alleged to have operated exclusively within the confines of the building and is said to have made at least $200 a day off the patients. Judge Robert E. Mattingly ordered the man held for grand jury action under $1,000 bond.

H. W. Greenough Is Dead in Italy

Virginian Suddenly Expires While on Tour Abroad With Wife.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., July 30.—A cablegram has been received here announcing the sudden death, in Italy, of H. W. Greenough, of Clifton House, this county.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenough left here in mid-June to spend the remainder of the summer abroad and had planned to return home in September.

Mr. Greenough was a native of Northampton, Mass., and was educated at Amherst, Princeton and the University of Virginia. For years he followed his profession, law, in his native State, and at one time was assisting prosecuting attorney at Providence, R. I. He had frequently visited abroad, but for the last 25 years had made his home in this section of Virginia.

Mr. Greenough is survived by his widow, who was Miss Florence Olney, of Providence, R. I., daughter of Secretary Olney, of the Cleveland Cabinet.

BYRD APPLE PICNIC TO STUDY OUTLOOK

Former Governor Invites More Than 2,000 Growers, as Well as Fruit Buyers.

ROSEMONT TO BE SCENE

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., July 30.—Many problems confronting commercial apple growers of Virginia will be discussed at former Gov. Harry F. Byrd's annual orchard picnic August 23, it was announced today when Mr. Byrd mailed invitations to approximately 2,000 apple growers in the State. Invitations were mailed also to American and British apple buyers and transportation system representatives, many of whom have been attending Gov. Byrd's annual picnic ever since the gatherings were inaugurated some years ago.

Hundreds of young chickens will be fried for the occasion, and there will also be baked country-cured ham, potato chips, pickles, desserts and lemonade.

This year's picnic is to be held on the grounds surrounding the bungalow adjoining the Rosemont home of the Byrds, east of Winchester, where Mr. Byrd has an orchard of about 30,000 trees. The gathering affords opportunity for growers and buyers to come in contact, and numerous apple deals are usually made.

The program will start at 10 a. m. with a packing demonstration, which will last until noon, when the luncheon will be served. In the afternoon there will be a speaking program, at which problems important to the industry will be discussed.

Fred A. Motz, of Virginia, the Federal fruit marketing specialist, with headquarters in London, will discuss marketing conditions abroad. W. V. Longfield, Newcastle, England, will speak on the British embargo of commercial grades from an English point of view.

R. R. Pailthorp, of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Washington, will discuss grading regulations. R. G. Phillips, of Rochester, N. Y., secretary of the International Apple Shippers Association, will deal with the British apple embargo from an American viewpoint.

A member of the Federal Farm Board is expected to speak on the apple industry generally. Speeches are to be made also by Walter S. Hough, entomologist in charge of the Winchester Research Laboratory of the Virginia Experiment Station, and Thomas B. Byrd, president of the Virginia State Horticultural Society.

ALEXANDRIA BEGINS HOUSE REMODELING

Work Starts on First Home in Eighteenth Century Architecture Scheme.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The first of the houses on the 100 block of Prince street which are to be remodeled to conform to the architecture of the eighteenth century will be No. 121, the work being done for Mrs. Lownes Jackson, of Washington. This work was started yesterday by D. E. Bayliss and will probably be finished by the end of the summer.

Seven houses on this block have already been purchased—three by Maj. and Mrs. Raymond Lee, of Washington; one by Ward Brown, prominent Washington architect, under whose direction the restoration of these ancient buildings will be done; one by Mrs. Frances Lebaron Smoot, and another by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilmer Bolling, the last named a brother of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. Owing to the fact that Mr. Brown will sail for Europe in August, the work on the other houses will not be started until after his return, some time in September, according to Mrs. Charles R. Hooff, formerly Miss Carlyle Fairfax Herbert, of Alexandria, who is the originator of the project.

This project is in no sense a real estate development, according to its originators, but the purchasers of the buildings are Washington people who plan to occupy the houses after they are restored, and the intention is to keep the small community entirely restricted. It is understood a number of the other old houses on the 100 block of Prince street, and possibly in other sections of the city, will be acquired and treated in a similar manner. The gardens which adorn most of these buildings are to be restored, and street paving, which is of cobblestones reputed to have been brought from England as ballast in sailing vessels, is to be retained, and many trees in addition to those already lining the street are to be planted. The improvement or restoration is patterned after a similar project carried to successful completion in Georgetown a number of years ago by Mr. Brown.

Daniel Miller, Negro, of Goochland County, arrested yesterday morning by Policeman Roland Mullen when seen acting suspiciously by the officer, was held for the grand jury following a hearing in police court on a charge of entering and robbing the plant of the Hoge Grain & Feed Co.

Miller was arrested shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday monring, and when searched at police headquarters he was found to have in his possession $118.33, which the police claim he later admitted having taken from two safes in the Hoge establishment which he had broken open. John B. Abram, who conducts the business, was notified and on investigation he found that the two safes had been broken open by the use of railroad iron and a jimmy and screwdriver. The papers from the safe were strewn about the floor, and everything was in confusion. Entrance had been effected by breaking the glass in a rear window. Miller told Police Capt. Campbell that his only reason for breaking into the place was that he was hungry.

Allen Lynn, 26 years old, of Woodbridge, Prince William County, and L. O. Kincheloe, 27, of Dumfries, in the same county, are in the Alexandria Hospital suffering from serious injuries received early yesterday morning on the Richmond highway near Gum Springs, when their automobile left the road and struck a telephone pole.

Lynn sustained cuts and bruises, while Kincheloe has a fractured pelvis and cuts. The machine was badly wrecked. The men were taken to the hospital by Sherman Tate, of Washington, and James McGee, of Fort Humphries. The case was investigated by Officer A. W. Mills, of Fairfax County, and by Sergt. Lawrence Padgett and Bayliss, of Alexandria.

Enoch H. Roland, 41 years old, following a hearing in police court yesterday on a charge of assault with intent to kill, was held for the grand jury, his alleged victim being his brother-in-law, E. H. Clayton. The shooting occurred June 25, at Foleys Ark, on the Potomac, at the extreme south end of South Royal street.

Clayton testified that the only warning of the shooting he had was when Roland exclaimed, "I have taken all off you I am going to take," and then fired. The men were about 20 feet apart at the time, according to Clayton, and the load from a shotgun took effect in Clayton's hip, inflicting a wound from which Clayton has been confined to the hospital for more than a month.

Alexandria Post No. 24, American Legion, will hold a meeting tomorrow night in Gadsby's Tavern, when delegates and alternates will be selected to represent the post at the annual department convention to be held in Harrisonburg, Va., September 7 to 10, inclusive. The local post has a membership of 364 and need 5 more to win 30 points.

The members of Fidelis class, Norman L. Williamson, teacher, and of Group No. 2 of the Baptist Young People's Union, Herbert Ramey, leader, were the guests of the Valiant Knights Bible Class of the First Baptist Church at an outing on Tuesday night on the lawn of the home of Charles Hudson, near Mount Vernon Robert H. Cox, teacher of the entertaining class, gave the addres of welcome.

Potomac Lodge, No. 38, Odd Fellows, and Liberty Rebekah Lodge, No. 16, Odd Fellows, will have a joint picnic on Sunday. They will leave Odd Fellows' Hall, north Columbus street, at 8 a. m., in automobiles, for Widewater, Va. Approximately 300 members of the two lodges and their friends are expected to attend and tables will be provided for luncheon also parking space.

The Kiwanis Club meeting at 12:30 p. m., today at the eorge Mason Hotel, will hear a report of the baby clinic sponsored by the club, from the members of the committee in charge, Robert S. Jones and C. C. Lamond. The local club has been especially commended for this work, and visiting Kiwanians have reported to their clubs about the clinic, with the re of conducting same, the latest result of inquiries as to the manner quest for information coming from Columbus, Ohio.

Jury Acquits Man Accused in Killing

Decides Boarder Did Not Slash Throat of His Landlord.

Covington, Va., July 30 (A.P.).—A jury in the Allegheny Circuit Court deliberated 1 hour and 45 minutes this afternoon in reaching a verdict of not guilty in the case of John J. Canivan, charged with murder in connection with the death of W. K. Thompson on May 29.

Canivan and his fiancee, Miss Amelia Scott, of Nicholasville, Ky., embraced in the courtroom when the verdict was read.

Today's verdict ended the second trial of Canivan. In his previous trial a jury from Craig County was unable to agree. A Bedford County jury was summoned for the second hearing.

Mrs. Mattie Thompson, widow of the man allegedly slain, was indicted with Canivan, and was found guilty of first degree murder. She was sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment. Canivan was a boarder in the Thompson home. Thompson was found dead in bed on the night of May 29. His throat was slashed and there were numerous wounds about the body.

$331 IN FINES GIVEN ON RUM, CAR COUNTS

32 ARRESTED IN FORAY

Fines totaling $331 were imposed upon Cornelius Carter, colored, of Elm street near Fourth street northwest, yesterday in Hyattsville branch of Prince Georges County Police Court by Judge J. Chew Sheriff. Carter was convicted of charges of possession of 19 cases of alleged liquor, failing to reduce speed at bridges, operating an automobile without a license, reckless driving, failing to have a registration card in possession and exceeding a speed of 60 miles an hour. Charges of assault on an officer were nolle prossed.

Carter was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Brown early Sunday morning after a chase over the roads in Chillum district near Hyattsville which culminated in a fist fight.

Thirty-two colored persons arrested in a raid on the Midway Country Club, near Contee, Md., Sunday night were each fined $5 and costs by Judge Sheriff on disorderly conduct charges. The alleged proprietor, James Shipley, colored, who is charged with possession of intoxicants and operating a disorderly house, obtained a continuance of his case until next Wednesday.

The court heard a total of 101 cases yesterday and collected fines totaling $900, according to James W. Lauderdale, acting clerk of the police court.

Woman Is Accused Of Killing Husband

Bickerings in Heat Wave Ascribed as Cause of Shooting.

Mrs. Myrtle Lenora Williams, 53 years old, was charged yesterday with the murder of her husband, Claude, who died at Emergency Hospital, eight days after she shot him. The shooting, which occurred at the height of the recent heat wave, was attributed to the temperature, after days of domestic bickering.

After being charged, Mrs. Williams was taken to the House of Detention, pending the inquest, which will be at 11:30 tomorrow. At first, it was thought that the 55-year-old man would recover, and the woman posted $500 bond on charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. She was arrested at the home of a relative in Clarendon, Va.

Williams was shot while in bed at his home on Tenth street near Park road northwest. He was said to have been out of work and drinking.

Probus Club Outing Committee Appointed

Plans for the annual outing of the Probus Club were begun yesterday when Irving Diemer, secretary, was made chairman of an outing committee at a meeting at the Ambassador Hotel. Joseph D. Dreyfuss and Dr. Bernard A. Baer complete the committee.

W. N. Freeman was the speaker of the day, his topic being "What Civic Clubs Are Worth to Their Communities." Mr. Diemer won the attendance prize offered by Dr. Baer.

Hoovers Will Get Bids to Air Meet

Aviatrix to Land in Capital Today With Floral Invitations.

A floral invitation to President and Mrs. Hoover to attend the national air races in Chicago from August 23 to September 1 will be brought by plane to Washington tomorrow from Chicago by Miss Blanche Wilcox Noyes.

The invitation will be made of roses named after the President at a recent flower show sponsored by the Department of Agriculture. President and Mrs. Hoover will receive the girl flier at the White House shortly after the latter's arrival.

Miss Noyes will land at Hoover Field about 11:30 o'clock. She will be met there by officers of the Eagles Wings Flying Club, the flying unit of the Women's City Club of Washington. The reception committee will be headed by Mrs. Lyle Burns Steever, president of the club. Other members of the reception committee are Lieut. Louis M. Rawlins, vice president and instructor; C. Newell Atkinson, secretary; Miss Helen M. Hawley, Miss Marie K. Saunders and Miss Beaufort Kelley.

Thief Takes Policeman's Gun.

Apparently Baltimore police are not accustomed to the Washington brand of criminal, for a local crook made away with a revolver belonging to Edward F. Howard, of the Baltimore force, he reported to police here yesterday. Howard said he was watching the animals at the Zoo when the thief took the pistol from his car.

COUNTY HEALTH UNIT REPORT IS RELEASED

LAWN FETE DUE TONIGHT

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The annual report of Dr. Robert E. Feagans, Fairfax County health officer, for the year ended June 30, 1930, shows that there were 375 cases of various diseases in the county during that time, consisting mainly of mumps, scarlet fever and diphtheria, all of which were investigated by him.

Diphtheria cases numbered 28, with but 2 deaths, and scarlet fever 32 cases, with no deaths. Toxin-antitoxin immunization treatments were given to 894 persons, and 474 were vaccinated against smallpox. Two tuberculosis clinics were held during the year at which 80 persons were examined, 13 of which were found diseased, while 15 cases were suspicious, 9 were sent to a sanitarium, and 11 received treatments at home.

Dr. Robert W. Moss, of the State Health Department, assisted the county unit in giving dental treatment to 1,024 school children during last school term. Tonsil-adenoid treatments were given to 46 school children, and 44 eye corrections were made. Dr. Feagans and Mrs. Fannie Lou Seamons, county health nurse, examined 4,227 school children, and where trouble was found that marred the children's efficiency, recommendations were made for corrections, which were made in 1,349 cases.

The important problem of regulating the hog-raising industry in the county was worked out by the health unit satisfactorily, and the industry is now conducted in a sanitary manner.

In educational health work members of the health unit gave 256 talks to audiences that numbered approximately 8,500 persons. While most of these talks were made to school children, Dr. Feagans visited many school and community league meetings and made special effort to launch the 4-point home sanitation idea.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Wesley Methodist Church at Vienna will conduct a lawn party this evening at the home of Mrs. Garth King on Maple avenue. Mrs. Walter Allensworth will act as general chairman. A number of entertainment features have been planned for the evening. The homemade ice cream booth will be in charge of Mrs. Garth King; the cake booth, Mrs. J. Cecil; the watermellon booth, Mrs. G. Winslow; fortune-telling booth, Mrs. Frances Coleman, and the fancy work booth will be under the supervision of Mrs. A. K. Money.

A minor accident on the Washington-Virginia Railway at East Falls Church during the rush hour yesterday evening tied up traffic for one-half hour. One of the street cars left the tracks when passing over a low connection. After some difficulty workmen succeeded in replacing the car on the track.

Three automobile accidents in the past two days have resulted in injury to four persons. The car of John F. Bork, of New Rochelle, N. Y., and another operated by Mrs. F. S. Gravely, of Virginia Highlands, collided on the Washington-Richmond highway at Petland. The Bork car then plunged head on into the car of Preston Washington, of Wilmington, N. C., injuring John Thompson, a passenger in the Washington car. Thompson was taken to the Alexandria Hospital. Fairfax County Traffic Policeman A. W. Mills took those involved before Justice of the Peace Harry Shephard at Accotink. Bork and Mrs. Gravely were each fined $10 and costs for reckless driving and colliding. Their cars were impounded by the justice for damages to the other car.

The automobile of Henry E. Wilkins, of N near Twelfth street northwest, Washington, sideswiped the car of "Speck" Shanholtz, of Langley, Va. The accident occurred near the top of Chain Bridge Hill. The Wilkins car then plunged on past the Shanholt car and hit the car of Everett Horseman, of Vienna, headon. A 12-year-old son of Horseman was slightly injured and was treated by a local physician. The case was settled out of court, according to Sheriff E. P. Kirby, when Wilkins agreed to pay all damages.

L. L. Kincheloe, of Dumphries, Va., and A. Lynn, of Woodbridge, Va., are in the Alexandria Hospital as the result of an automobile accident on the Washington-Richmond highway between Gum Springs and Engleside. Traffic Officer A. W. Mills, who investigated the accident, stated that the car operated by Kincheloe ran off of the highway and hit a telephone pole, badly damaging the car and injuring the two men. They were taken to the Alexandria Hospital by a passing motorist.

Sheriff E. P. Kirby arrested David Eppard, 23, of Baileys Cross Roads, on a warrant sworn out by his brother, Fred Eppard. The warrant charges that David assaulted Fred with a piece of iron pipe, severely injuring him. David is lodged in the Fairfax Jail awaiting a hearing before Justice of the Peace John B. Dowden at Baileys Cross Roads.

Fairfax County authorities are investigating a number of robberies which were alleged to have been committed by two small boys. Deputy Sheriff Henry Magarity, of Fairfax County, has located the stolen goods and now has them in his possession. The charge against the youths is under investigation by the County Juvenile Court.

Mixed Marriage Charge Preferred

Hagerstown, Md., July 30 (A.P.).—Charles A. Boe, 24, of Pine Grove, Pa., alleged to be part Negro and accused of marrying Mary A. Cleary, 17-year-old white girl of Tremont, Pa., here July 14 in violation of Maryland law, will be arraigned before Magistrate Richard Duffey tomorrow morning. Interracial marriages are a violation of Maryland statutes.

Boe, who officers say is the son of a white mother and a Negro father, was arrested at Harrisburg on a warrant sworn out by the girl's father. The young man is accused of claiming to be white in procuring a license to marry. Officers say the girl has appealed to have the marriage annulled.

If found guilty, Boe faces a sentence of from 18 months to 10 years imprisonment.
